FIRE FLARES AT CAPITOL

Old Documents Endangered

Blaze Starts in Artists' Studio and Breaks Through Roof Near Dome

Washington Firemen Put Out Stubborn Fire With Loss Placed at $3000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Flames shot skyward from the Capitol of the United States tonight in a blaze more spectacular than that which ruined the White House executive offices on Christmas eve.

After forty-five minutes of desperate work, firemen extinguished the fire in the artists' studio on the top floor of the House side and to the west of the huge white dome. For a while destruction of the document room where historic records of the nation are stored was threatened. These were damaged by water and smoke.

Carl Moberly, one of the artists, was carried unconscious from the studio. Investigation of the cause of the fire late tonight is awaiting his recovery.

FLAMES SHOOT HIGH

Flames shot from the roof upon the dome of the Capitol as firemen raced from every corner of the city. Within a few minutes throngs were basking the lawns of the Capitol to watch the fire fighters scaling the walls in the glare of hundreds of lights which illuminate the dome.

The firemen experienced great difficulty reaching the studio with water because of the small corridors and winding staircases to the fourth floor where it is situated. Many minutes had elapsed before water could be played from the long hose lines rapidly strung together.

LADDERS ON WALLS

Meanwhile ladders were reared to the white sides of the building, and over these more hose was ascended.

David S. Lynn, the Capitol architect, and police immediately began an investigation to determine the cause of the blaze. It is said that a lighted cigarette may have been responsible.

The alarm was turned in at 7 p.m. by members of the Capitol police force, whose attention had been attracted by smoke some time before the source was determined. A general alarm brought companies from all corners of the city.

DAMAGE ONLY $3000

Fire Chief Watson announced the flames had been extinguished forty-five minutes later. He estimated the damage as slight, and the figure was placed at $3000 by Lynn. Water rushed down the stairways of all three floors, some seeping into the private offices of members of the Supreme Court and various representatives. Among these were the rooms of Representatives McKeown of Alabama and McFadden

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 3. [To the Editor of The Times:] We have our fun out here day in and day out joking about East mired down in snow and galoshes, panics and poor coaching, while we bask in sunshine, roses and fine football. But let's be good sports and admit it, boys, we need rain. This is not just an admission, I will make it a motion, that it be called a prayer, take it from a taxpayer, and a man that still has vacant lots to sell. It hasn't rained here since Noah took two of every kind of moving-picture actor and actress into the ark with him. Moths have lived on raincoats for years. They revived the great stage play of "Rain" and had a footnote telling the audience what it was that was dripping outside. This is mighty dry humor, but friends, we would welcome the Johnstown flood right now.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

P.S.—California papers, go ahead and print this, and show 'em we can take it on the chin and still grin.

NEW YORK HOTEL FIRE KILLS TWO

Man Suffocated, Woman Dies of Heart Attack in Hostelry Blaze

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—A man and a woman died tonight in a fire which swept through the air and elevator shafts of the annex building of the fashionable apartment-hotel Marguery. Eight firemen were overcome fighting the blaze.

The fire was preceded by an explosion in the sub-basement. As firemen battled the flames a second explosion shattered windows in shops on the ground floor.

Mrs. Louis Leichtenheim, 60 years of age, died of a heart attack after she had walked to the street from her apartment.

The body of a man believed to be William Cass, an engineer in the building, was found in an elevator which had stopped at the fourth floor.

As smoke and flames swept through the building the lights went out and the elevators stopped. Firemen ordered all persons out. Police carried from the building several persons rendered unconscious by the smoke.

Fire Chief Kenlon said the fire probably started from a short circuit in the sub-basement.

SMUGGLERS FACE WAR

Tapia Tells Aims as Governor

Head of Northern District of Lower California Assumes Office

Contraband Traffic Across Border to be Fought With New Vigor

MEXICALI, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Both military and civil police will be used in a vigorous campaign to be launched immediately against smugglers operating across the Mexico-California boundary, according to the assertion made this morning by Gen. Jose Maria Tapia in an interview with American and Mexican newspaper men a few hours after he had assumed his new post as Governor of the Northern District of Lower California.

"Federal authorities have instructed me to stop all smuggling from Lower California to the United States and that applies to narcotics, liquor, Chinese and everything else that falls in the class of contraband commodities or human beings," Gen. Tapia said. "I am thoroughly in sympathy with this policy as a matter of personal conviction and I intend to carry out the orders with all the police strength at my command."

Gen. Tapia took over the duties of his office today without ceremony. He was accompanied to the Territorial Palace by Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez, former Governor, at 10 o'clock this morning. They were greeted at the executive offices by Acting Governor Lucas Rodriguez and a group of Federal and local officials. The day was spent in interviewing numerous visitors who arrived to extend well wishes to the new chief.

PLANS DISCLOSED

Gen. Tapia stated that it is his intention to continue the policies of his predecessor.

"There will be few changes in personnel at the territorial offices," he said, "and these will not be announced until later. I do not want to disturb the fine administrative organization which Gen. Rodriguez has assembled more than is necessary."

Summarizing the general program which he expects to carry out, Gen. Tapia stated that work on Rodriguez Dam which is to supply Tia Juana with domestic and irrigation water is to be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Negotiations are now going on for the paving of the Tia Juana-Ensenada highway and he expressed confidence that work soon will be started on this project.

He emphasized the importance of the colonization program which was started by Gov. Rodriguez.

"I believe that the future prosperity of this district, as well as the whole of Mexico, depends on the industry of Mexican farmers who will own their farms," he said, "and I intend to promote this policy in Lower California."

Referring to the international commission which now is seeking to form a treaty governing the distribution of Colorado River and Rio Grande water, Gen. Tapia stated that information given him recently in Mexico City indicates that effective progress is being made toward a satisfactory agreement.

COLORFUL CAREER

Gov. Tapia is a native of Nogales, and is 33 years of age. He speaks excellent English. He explained this morning that he learned the language of the Americans when he was a small boy on the border at Nogales.

"I soon found out that it was easier to get a job if a boy could speak both languages," he explained.

He had an opportunity to perfect his English in 1925 when he was stationed in New York City on a military commission for the Mexican government.

Gov. Tapia formerly served the Northern District as Congressman and has a large following of friends in Lower California. Both Mexicans and Americans along the border have expressed themselves as highly gratified at his appointment.

Gen. Rodrigues stated this morning that he will remain in Mexicali only a few days making final preparations for a trip to Europe with his family. He said that his trip abroad will be extended from three to six months, according to the wishes of his wife.

"I do not know what I will do when I return," he asserted in answer to a question regarding his future plans.

PRINCESS LEAVES FOR ROME

Scene at Brussels Station One of Royal Grandeur as Belgian Party Departs for Wedding

BRUSSELS, Jan. 3. (AP)—Princess Marie Jose tonight rode away from her native land in a sumptuously decorated royal train for Italy, where in the normal course of events, she will one day share the throne.

The official party journeying to Rome for her marriage to Crown Prince Humbert on next Wednesday occupied three trains. They left here in close succession after 9:40 p.m., with the exact route withheld from the public in order that there might be no chance of an anti-Fascist demonstration which might endanger the life of the 23-year-old Princess.

GUARDED BY POLICE

Extraordinary police precautions marked the departures. Before the royal party consisting of King Albert, Queen Elizabeth, Princess Marie Jose, the Crown Prince and Princess and Prince Charles reached the station the police had cleared it and the surrounding streets entirely of spectators.

Barriers had been erected in the square near the station and cordons of police pressed back the enormous crowd which sought to catch a glimpse of the Princess as she fared forth to her wedding.

The facade of the Gare Du Nord was decorated with the Belgian and Italian flags and hung with shields bearing the national arms. The great hall of the station had a ceremonial aspect with its lavish adornment of flags and palms. An enormous red carpet stretched from the entrance of the station to the main platform on each side of which were drawn up members of Belgian patriotic societies, Italians resident in Belgium and the chief railway authorities.

POPULACE ROARS CHEER

The officials and diplomats arrived half an hour before the time of departure to receive the royal family. They included members of the government headed by the Minister of Justice.

The roar of cheering from the crowds in the streets heralded the

TRAIN KILLS TEN IN OHIO SCHOOL BUS

Machine With Basketball Players and Rooters Hit as It Slides on Crossing

WOOSTER (O.) Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Ten Burbank (O.) boys and girls were killed and eleven injured late tonight when a Pennsylvania Railroad limited crashed into a school bus at the main crossing in Shreve, ten miles south of here. At least three of the dead are girls.

The bus was carrying members of the boys' and girls' basketball teams and rooters home from Big Prairie, O., where they had met their traditional rivals of the Wayne County High School League in two basketball games earlier in the evening.

When the bus approached the railroad crossing students were singing school songs, cheering and joking.

Witnesses said that the bus swerved, slid on to the crossing and seemed to stall just before the train crashed into it.

The bus was completely demolished. Bodies were sent hurtling through the air and fell on both sides of the railroad tracks. The driver of the bus, Joseph Baker, was injured only slightly. He said the bus slid into the path of the train when he applied the brakes.

Burbank is a town with a population of only 500 and the tragedy reached practically every family in the vicinity.

CLARE BRIGGS SUCCUMBS

Nationally Known Cartoonist Pneumonia Victim While Under Treatment in New York Hospital

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Clare Briggs, cartoonist and creator of a score of characters, which have become household words throughout the United States, died late this afternoon at the Neurological Institute. Mr. Briggs, who was 54 years of age, had been in ill-health for the past five months and had been a patient at the institute for several weeks.

In September Mr. Briggs was admitted at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore for observation and treatment of his eyes, which had been troubling him. He suffered from neuritis of the optic nerve, which made his work particularly difficult. The nervous disorder increased and some time after his return to New York he sought relief at the Neurological Institute. It was while a patient there he contracted pneumonia and was gravely ill three weeks ago. A chronic lung congestion had been troubling him for several years. He rallied following his first crisis, however, and was thought to be on the road to recovery when he took a sudden turn for the worse today. Death followed in a few hours.

MILLIONS DECLARED LOST IN GAS-TAX EVASIONS

General Petroleum Makes Charges Involving Employees of Several Companies in Huge Fraud

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Sensational charges that employees of several oil companies operating in California have bilked the State of a sum between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 by evasion of the State gasoline tax were made by Atty.-Gen. Webb today in a letter written by A. L. Weil, general counsel for the General Petroleum Corporation. Taxes have been evaded, the letter charges, by reports that gasoline on which no taxes were paid was shipped out of the State when, in reality, it was retained within the State and sold here.

Weil asked the Attorney-General to start an immediate investigation to identify the guilty parties, to punish them, and absolve companies who are able to show a clear record. He wrote that his views are shared by officials of Associated, General, Shell, Standard and Union Oil companies.

Coincidentally, it was learned that John Francis Neylan, attorney, has been approached "by a group of interested men" and asked to serve the State as special prosecutor in the effort to determine if fraud has been committed and to initiate court prosecutions if indictments or arrests can be attained. Neyland said, however, he had refused the proffered commission.

WEIL'S LETTER

"As you are probably aware, indictments have been returned in Los Angeles against defendants who are charged with having defrauded the State of money due under the gasoline tax law.

"I am informed that large frauds have been committed through the device of reporting gasoline as shipped outside the State which, in fact, was consumed within the State.

"The rumor reached me today that some one purporting to represent the major oil companies, or some of them, has stated the purpose of the companies to have further proceedings quashed.

"I immediately inquired of officials of the Associated, General, Shell, Standard and Union (the only companies whose executives I could find in San Francisco) and I am authorized by each of these companies to say to you that they not only repudiate any suggestion that they are desirous of having the investigation checked, but that they want that every available means be used to bring about a full disclosure to the end that such criminal and civil proceedings may be brought as the facts may warrant.

"Each of the companies I have mentioned has authorized me to offer you any assistance which it can render you in this connection. They believe that not only the interest of the State, but the welfare of the oil industry demands a full and searching investigation."

Indications were given that the preliminary steps of the suggested investigation have been going forward since the so-called "gasoline war" a year ago, when many of the producing companies dropped prices to, or virtually to, production levels. At that time, according to circulating, but unverified reports, huge quantities of gasoline suddenly appeared on the market at unusually low prices with no indication of its source.

STANDARD'S VIEWS

According to Neylan, who discussed the situation, discovery was made that quantities of gasoline had been billed from refineries for export to other States, chiefly Oregon and Arizona, and had left the refineries, ostensibly for districts where the California 3-cent tax is not applicable.

Atty.-Gen. Webb made Weil's letter public without comment. Reports from Sacramento were that Richard E. Collins of the State Board of Equalization has interested himself and it was said here the matter had been called to the attention of Gov. Young, who is in Los Angeles.

In commenting on Weil's letter, K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, said the matter should be vestigated thoroughly.

"I learned today of the s gasoline tax frauds upon the of California," Kingsbury said.

DRY SHOTS DEFENDED

Mellon Indorses Coast Guard

He Declares Black Duck Got Warning Before Patrol's Bullets Killed Trio

Secretary Would Turn Over Prohibition Enforcement to Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Secretary Mellon today asserted the Coast Guard did nothing that was not justified and authorized under the law in firing on the liquor-smuggling boat, Black Duck, which resulted in the death of three men.

Mr. Mellon's statement was in line with those previously made by Rear-Admiral Billard, Coast Guard commandant, and Assistant Secretary Lowman, both of whom had defended the Coast Guard.

WARNING CITED

The Secretary of the Treasury said that as much as the shooting was regretted, reports to him indicated that the Coast Guard was acting "entirely within their instructions and observing their duty in what they did.

"They gave warning, the boat was endeavoring to escape and they could not do less than they did," he added.

The Secretary, who returned to Washington today from a sea trip in Bahama waters, said that the Coast Guard had information that the smugglers were attempting to run liquor into the United States and concentrated Coast Guard boats in that vicinity. The Black Duck, he said, was near the coast off Newport.

"The Coast Guard," Mr. Mellon said, "is authorized under the law to use force to stop boats. If they could not shoot they could not carry out their instructions. They give warnings and pursue and if a boat does not stop it is necessary to use force. In these cases the men were violators of the law. They were smuggling liquor and it was the Coast Guard's duty to capture them."

Asserting that all reports of the Coast Guard indicated that "everything was regular and that they were justified in what they were doing," Mr. Mellon added, "Our men only use force where it is absolutely necessary."

TRANSFER FAVORED

Discussing enforcement in general, the Secretary said that he favored the transfer of the entire prohibition unit from the jurisdiction of the Treasury to the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice. He pointed out that at present the Department of Justice prosecutes the cases that are developed by the Prohibition Bureau and expressed the belief that better co-operation can be obtained if both divisions are under the same department.

The Secretary said the Treasury is having an independent investigation made into the shooting of the smugglers merely to bring out anything that had not as yet been learned. He said this is being conducted by T. F. Finnegan, Collector

WILBUR SPEEDS DAM WOR

Secretary Announces Power Contracts to be Ma Regardless of Tri-State Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Contracts for power to be generated Boulder Dam will be negotiated by the Interior Department as soon afte February 1 as possible.

Secretary Wilbur said today he expects to obtain the contracts regardless of the outcome of the conference of the governors of California, Nevada and Arizona, to be held in Phoenix beginning January 21. The Colorado River Commission is likely to attend the conferences and there is a possibility that Secretary Wilbur will be present.

Suggestions resulting from the conference will be sent to the Interior Department on or before February 1. Dr. Wilbur said he hoped the Phoenix conference will iron out differences among the States and that actual construction can be started without the whole question being taken to the courts. The State of Arizona has threatened to seek an injunction against the construction of the dam unless its demands for adjustment of water division are met.

The Reclamation Service is ready to begin work at the dam site as soon as funds are available. Congress, under the Boulder Dam Act, can appropriate money for the work only after the Secretary of the Interior has obtained contracts for power sufficient to amortize the cost of construction within fifty years.

Mr. Wilbur said funds will be requested as soon as the three States most interested have reached agreement. If they do not agree, he added, responsibility for any legal action taken by any of the States will rest on the States and not on the Interior Department.

"I must go ahead under the law," he said. "I want to see the dam built because it means so much to the entire Southwest."

ARIZONA BRISTLES AT WILBUR'S STATEMENT

PHOENIX, Jan. 3. (AP)—Gov. Phillips of Arizona today expressed regret at the action of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur in announcing that contracts for the sale of power

Hoover's Drive to Mop Up Begun

Bill Sent to Senate Asking More Judges and Special Law for Washington

Padlock Tightening and New Powers for Police Also Urged by Mitchell

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—President Hoover showed today that he meant it when he said he wants to see Washington the model dry city of the country.

His Attorney-General sent the Senate a bill to carry out the President's expressed hope and Senate dry leaders, including Borah, said it will be passed decisively and at an early date.

To accomplish the desired end Mr. Mitchell in a letter to Senator Capper of Kansas, head of the District of Columbia committee, urged two more judges, a special dry law for the District of Columbia, a tightening of padlocking and a widening of the prohibition powers of the local police.

OTHERS MAY COPY

The proposed legislation is seen as a basis for possible enactments much along the same lines for States to follow in other municipalities and is believed to be the initial effort in the new determination to see whether prohibition can be satisfactorily enforced. How far such a plan may be carried out, however, is purely a matter of conjecture as is the support it may obtain from the wets.

Nevertheless, it undoubtedly is the first of several sanctions Congress will be asked to give the government in a new drive for better enforcement. Indisputably, it will be subjected to as bitter a cross-fire of Congressional discussion as any of the other innumerable matters to come before the solons to make the tenth anniversary of dryness an outstanding milestone in the ever-present quarrel.

A second step taken today by the government designed also to clamp down the wobbly lid of prohibition likewise was taken by the Justice Department. It asked the United States Supreme Court to rule that A purchaser is guilty of conspiracy when he orders liquor from a bootlegger knowing that its delivery will involve illegal transportation.

CASE FROM NEW YORK

The case was that of Alfred E. Norris of New York, who won in the Circuit Court on appeals which held that the transportation of liquor to Norris was merely an incident in the consummation of a sale and was not a separate offense.

The government asked the highest court to review the whole controversy emphasizing its importance not only in the enforcement of prohibition but in the enforcement of other laws. In making its appeal the government dropped entirely its original contention that the purchaser of illicit liquor is guilty of violating the prohibition law.

MELLON FAVORS TRANSFER

While this was going on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon who had been plunged by Congressional criticism into the very center of the fast revolving dry whirlpool, said he favors the contemplated transfer of enforcement from his department to the Department of Justice.

But it was to the proposed prohibition act for the capital, designed to supplement and consequently tighten up loopholes in the nation-wide law, that the drys and wets turned their attention today. The Hoover-Mitchell proposal adds three offenses for the District of Columbia not found in the national act.

"Drinking and being intoxicated in public; driving a vehicle other than an automobile while drunk and permitting the use of one's property as a common nuisance."

For this illegal drinking and driving the penalty prescribed is $10 to $100 fine and five to thirty days in jail or both.

The new legislation had its foundation in a bill proposed some time ago by Senator Howell of Nebraska, a dry, who said drinking conditions in Washington were little short of scandalous, a suggestion which in reality was the nucleus around which the holiday flare-up here was formed.

TIME TO BE CUT

One phase, and an important one, of the proposal is designed to cut down the long delays in the courts, which in many instances have led to prosecution failures. Dry agents, Mitchell contends, have been discouraged by these delays, so he would have two more judges and an increase in the personnel of the District Attorney's office so that congestion in the courts might be lessened and convictions be enhanced thereby.

The padlock situation is much the same, he declared, adding that the delay in the trial of criminal cases means lax enforcement. The padlock injunctions, Mitchell contends, should be an effective weapon in enforcement.

"There are a large number of those cases pending in the district and it takes from one to one and a half years to obtain a trial in such a case after it is instituted. The prompt trial and disposition of such cases would tend to deter proprietors and tenants of real estate from allowing the use of their property for the violation of the national prohibition act."

By way of indicating that Washington may not only become a model dry city, but that its supplemental prohibition act may serve as a model for other communities in addition, Mr. Mitchell declared:

FOUR MAIN COGS

"I cannot lay too much emphasis on the effect of congestion in the courts on enforcement of the criminal laws, including prohibition. The District of Columbia is not the only place where such conditions exist. There are four main cogs in the machinery for the enforcement of criminal laws: First, the agencies authorized to discover offenses and obtain evidence; second, the prosecuting attorneys who use the evidence thus prepared for them and try cases in court; third, the courts and judicial machinery for the trial of the cases, and, finally, the prison system, including probations and controls.

"All of these agencies, especially the first three, must be adequate. If any one of them is overloaded and clogged it slows down the others. The United States attorneys charged with the duty of prosecuting the cases in court cannot be effective if the courts are not able to dispose of cases promptly. Likewise the police of the district and the agents of the prohibition unit of the Treasury whose duty it is to detect offenders, collect the evidence and lay it before the United States Attorney are not encouraged by a delay of a year or more in the trial of the cases after they are prepared.

QUARTERS PROVIDED

"It is for these reasons I suggest that every doubt be resolved in favor of any step which tends to expedite the business of the court. With respect to the matter of quarters for two additional judges I am informed that one courtroom already has been provided and there is space in the present Courthouse which could immediately be arranged to accommodate a second judge. In that connection I am inclosing a report from the chairman of a committee of the local bar association. I believe bills authorizing additional judges already have been drawn and introduced."

The proposed local dry law would give the judges of the Police Court as well as United States commissioners the authority to issue arrest warrants for violations either of this new bill, the national prohibition law, or any other Federal law affecting the liquor traffic. It also authorises any police officer of the district or any Federal prohibition agent to serve warrants of arrest and search issued under this proposed bill and provides that any officers may arrest offenders without a warrant "where such arrests are sanctioned by law." That is for an offense committed in the presence of the officer or where he has reasonable cause to believe that a felony has been committed.

ROAD CONTRACT LET

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 3. (AP)—The R. E. Hazard contracting company of San Diego today was awarded a $110,426.30 contract for paving five miles of highway between Dixieland and Seeley, Imperial county, by the State Department of Public Works.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—One of the current sensations of society is the visit of Lady Ribblesdale, the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor (Ava Willing,) to veteran society commentators she does not seem to have changed a whit since she was regarded as the most beautiful woman in American society. It so happened that she and her successor as Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the former Madeleine Force, now Mrs. William K. Dick, lunched at the same time at the Colony Club, but at different tables. There was no sign of recognition.

MELLON BACKS COAST GUARD

of Customs at Boston; Joseph P. McKenna, special customs agent from Washington, and George N. Murphy, customs agent from Providence.

Mr. Mellon declined to discuss any of the attacks upon him made by members of Congress or any of the statements regarding prohibition enforcement from the same source. He asserted the personnel of the prohibition-enforcement divisions is using every effort to enforce the prohibition law. One of the major problems now confronting enforcement, he said, is the smuggling of liquor into this country from Canada and from near-by foreign possessions, adding that progress has been made in preventing diversion of industrial alcohol for bootleg purposes.

LOWMAN COMMENTS

Assistant Secretary Lowman said that the cases of the crew of the Coast Guard boat who killed three rum-runners had been turned over to the United States Attorney at Providence and that his advice will govern whatever action the Coast Guard takes in response to a request that the men testify at an inquest at Newport.

Any Federal officer who faces charges in a State court has the right to ask that the charge be transferred to a Federal court, Treasury officials said.

The government, however, takes no action in this regard and such a request must come from the person charged with offenses under State law. It is assumed that if indictments should be returned against the Coast Guard crew that the men will ask that the cases be transferred to Federal courts.

BULLETS THAT KILLED FIRED FROM ASTERN

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Jan. 3. (AP) State and government officials here today examined the rum-runner Black Duck at the State pier. They said their examination indicated that all of the machine gun bullets which killed three men and wounded another last Sunday were fired from astern of the rum-runner by the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard has said that the Black Duck was trying to escape when fired upon.

A special session of the grand jury may be called within a week or ten days, officials said, either in Providence or Newport, to hear the facts of the case.

COAST GUARDSMEN QUIT POSTS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Coast Guardsmen engaged in recruiting service on Boston Common and at the South Station today left their posts and took their signs and other equipment with them.

Recruiting posters at the South Station were found torn down today when the guardsmen reported there for duty. Other posters were torn down and destroyed on the Common yesterday after a meeting in Faneuil Hall in protest of the killing by Coast Guardsmen of three rum-runners off Newport, R. I., Sunday.

INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL OUTPUT TO BE REDUCED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced today that an agreement has been entered into with industrial alcohol manufacturers which will reduct production in 1930 by 15 per cent as compared to 1929.

He estimated the output will be decreased between 10,000,000 and 14,000,000 gallons by the cut.

The commissioner said he has notified producers that the reduction was desired and that they agreed to it without objection. He added that he has agreed to review the situation on April 1, next, and issue new instructions at that time if a change is warranted.

Doran said that while last year was an unusually heavy one, for the use of industrial alcohol, the producers anticipate there will be less business in 1930 for their product. He added that present inventory stocks are reduced "to the vanishing point," and said a change in the limit might be necessary at the end of three months.

PARTIES REPORT STATE OF PURSE

Republicans Have Balance of $136,363

Democratic Deficit Stands at $449,686

Anti-Saloon League Declares Funds Not Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Congress learned that the Republican National Committee has a balance of $136,363 and the Democratic National Committee has outstanding obligations of $449,686, in reports made today to William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives.

In the documents filed in accordance with law, the Anti-Saloon League also reported in relation to political expenditures and said there is nothing in its treasury for that purpose. Edward B. Dunford, treasurer of the league, explained tonight that its committee which had functioned during the last Presidential campaign, has been disbanded when there is no reason for its continuance, and that hence no funds such as are required to be reported are on hand.

DEMOCRATS CUT DEFICIT

The statement of James W. Gerard, treasurer of the Democratic committee, showed the Democrats had reduced their obligations from $1,600,000 since December 31, 1928, after the Hoover-Smith Presidential campaign, to $449,686 on December 31, 1929. The cash on hand as the year ended totaled $15,604.

During the past year, receipts of the Democratic Committee amounted to $1,462,303 and the expenditures to $1,446,698. The year previous the Democrats received $5,444,-986, including loans amounting to $1,600,000, and expended $5,343,-345.

Of the present outstanding obligation, $375,000 is owed to the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, and $70,000 to John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee, for loans. The remainder is owed for furnishings of the Washington office and for interest.

G.O.P. HAS BALANCE

The report of J. R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, showed no outstanding obligations. The receipts for the year amounted to $49,411 and the expenditures totalled $198,685. During the campaign year 1928 contributions to the Republican committee, amounted to $6,541,748 and expenditures to $6,256,111.

The Antisaloon League report, filed by Edward B. Dunford, treasurer, showed campaign expenditures and receipts for 1929 each to amount to $11,927, the expenditures including $2541 in campaign contributions which were transferred to the general fund of the organization.

The largest contribution to the Democratic fund in the last quarter of 1929 came from the Texas State Democratic Executive Committee and amounted to $3419.

of Pennsylvania, who went to the Capitol, Representative Cranston of Michigan also was there.

PAINTINGS UNHARMED

The numerous figures in Statuary Hall and the oil paintings in the corridor, many of them depicting the history of America, were unharmed. Pools of water eddied over the granite floor of the rotunda, however, and here and there were puddles on the marble floor of Statuary Hall. Once this hall was the chamber of the House of Representatives, and thousands of tourists pass through it annually.

Moberly, who is 61 years of age, was removed to a hospital as soon as his condition warranted. Dr. George W. Calver, Navy physician, assigned to the House of Representatives, said the artist is "in such a condition that anything he might say as to the origin of the fire cannot be depended upon."

THIRD SINCE AUGUST

The fire tonight was the third since August in the structure where the legislative business of the nation is transacted. Then a carelessly thrown cigarette lighted a trash box on the south side of the building and only about a week ago another trash box was ignited in the House Office Building by a cigarette.

There was no damage at the other two fires but they caused some excitement.

BURNED OFFICES TO BE REPAIRED, SAYS HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—President Hoover today set at rest reports that a new executive office building will be constructed by announcing that it is the intention to repair the offices destroyed by fire on Christmas Eve and make them as fully fireproof as possible.

A number of members of Congress and others, he said, have suggested that new and more imposing executive offices should be erected on some other site. This is a matter, he added, that would require two or three years for the development of thought and design.

He expressed more interest in expediting erection of the departmental buildings, but the time will undoubtedly come, he said, when a larger and more dignified executive office should be erected.

Women Accuse Army Officer

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (AP)—A man giving his name as Lieut.-Col. Frederick J. Osterman was booked at the city prison here early today on two counts of disturbing the peace following complaint by two young women that he had annoyed them as they left a theater.

He gave a Berkeley address listed as the home of Maj. F. J. Osterman, detached officers list, United States Army, now with the Fortieth Division, California National Guard. Osterman was released on $20 bail.

strips, attained a unique popularity through the accurate illustration of the homely foibles of the ordinary individual which formed the basis of his work. It was told of him that time and again he received letters from persons who accused him of having capitalized on their own pet foibles. The little quirks and absurdities of character which he illustrated by his cartoons were those which are universal to people.

The serious titles which he used for his cartoons were in many instances adopted as expressions in general usage. "When a Feller Needs a Friend," "Ain't it a Grand and Glorious Feelin'," and "Mr. and Mrs." are samples in point.

BORN IN WISCONSIN

Mr. Briggs was born in Reedsburg, Wis., August 5, 1875, the family moving to Dixon, Ill., when he was 9 years of age. At that age he had already shown a liking for drawing and a year later he made his first entrance into newspaper work, delivering the weekly paper at a salary of 40 cents a week.

Among Mr. Briggs's other creations were: "The Days of Real Sport," "Somebody is Always Taking the Joy Out of Life," "How to Start the Day Wrong," "There's at Least One in Every Office," "A Handy Man Around the House," "That Guiltiest Feeling," and "Wonder What——is Thinking About."

Mr. Briggs leaves his widow, Mrs. Marie C. Briggs, three children, Mrs. Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., John Owen Briggs and Ruth Clare Briggs, and three brothers, Harry, Glen and Nathan.

approach of the royalty. Their Majesties and the Princess were received at the entrance of the station by the assembled dignitaries and Marie Jose was presented with a bouquet of orange blossoms by Baroness Lemonnier.

The Princess and her mother wore fur coats. The King and two Princess were in full-dress uniform. Thirty young girls chosen from pupils of the Brussels School of Music chanted a song as the party entered.

IN GRACIOUS BOWS

Inside the station the royalty was received with tremendous enthusiasm. Marie Jose seemed deeply moved by the warmth of the welcome and was flushed with excitement as she walked with her father at the head of the procession. She was untiring in acknowledging the cheers and applause. The Princess was the first to enter the train, followed by the Queen, the Crown Princess, the King and his two sons.

Inside the railway carriage they were received by Count de Santa Lya, master of ceremonies of the Italian court.

Princess Marie Jose stood in the window of the carriage bowing her acknowledgment and shaking hands of girl friends. From all sides came shouts of "Long live the Princess," "Long live Prince Humbert" and "Long live the King."

As the train disappeared into the night the Princess still could be seen waving her gloved hand.

IMPRESSIVE WELCOME AWAITS PRINCESS

ROME, Jan. 3. (AP)—An imposing welcome awaits Princess Marie Jose, bride-to-be of the Italian heir, Prince Humbert, when she arrives in Rome Monday at 10 a.m., for their wedding Wednesday.

The royal reception room at the Central Station has been decorated gayly for the occasion.

Her fiance, the entire royal family, Foreign Minister Grandi, and Deputy Giunta, undersecretary to Premier Mussolini, will be present at the station.

The sovereigns, princes and ministers will drive through troop-lined streets to the Piazza Del Esedra where Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi, Governor of Rome, formally will welcome the young Belgian woman to the Italian capital.

Premier Mussolini and his ministers will await her at the Quirinal Palace where they all formally will be presented to her.

matter should be thoroughly investigated. The Standard Oil Company exercises every effort faithfully to report and pay the tax on all taxable gasoline sold by it. I have no intimation and I do not believe that any of our employees are involved.

"When, early today, we first learned of the matter, we authorized our attorneys to join with attorneys for other oil companies to bring it to the attention of the Attorney-General of the State for immediate and thorough investigation. This company is ready to cooperate in any investigation and will make its books and records available to the fullest extent desired."

YOUNG STATEMENT

Gov. Young last night issued the following statement when informed of the charges of fraud in connection with the collection of the State gasoline tax:

"Within the last two hours I have been advised that there is a suspicion of widespread fraud in the collection of the State gasoline tax. I have been further advised of the possibility that one or more oil companies may be involved. Under the statute, the State Board of Equalization is charged with the responsibility of the administration of this law. I am therefore requesting that body to furnish me immediately all the facts at its command.

"I shall proceed with the consideration of the most effective method of recovering any money of which the State may have been defrauded, of exposing all the facts, and of punishing anybody who has been culpable.

"I am told that an attempt has been made or will be made to quash any investigation of this matter. It is needless to say that no influence and no consideration will be effective in preventing a thorough and complete investigation."

FOUR INDICTED HERE ON TAX-FRAUD CHARGE

Four men are under bond facing charges of State gasoline tax fraud, growing out of a State investigation into the source of the supply of so-called bootleg gasoline conducted here late last year.

The four against whom true bills were returned on December 21, last, by the grand jury are Glenn A. Smith, general manager of the Export Petroleum Company; J. A. Austin, South Pasadena gasoline broker; Jack Allen, president of the Racine Gasoline Corporation, and Warren G. Black.

Operations of the quartet came before the grand jury on December 4, last, when it was asserted that they conspired to evade the State tax of 3 cents a gallon on gas by billing railway tank cars for Texas destinations and then ordering the cars switched to local spurs and selling the gas here.

This was done, it was charged in the indictments, to make it appear that the gas had been exported, automatically exempting it from the State tax under the ruse of exporting it.

TAX LOSS SHOWN FROM SMALL COMPANIES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 3. (AP)—The books of nine small independent Los Angeles gasoline distributors showed a loss of approximately $100,000 in taxes due the State during 1929 through believed illegal diversion of motor fuel, Richard E. Collins, Redding, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, informed the Associated Press tonight.

When informed of the letter written by A. L. Weil, general counsel for the General Petroleum Corporation, to Atty.-Gen. Webb asking that an investigation be made of the charges that employees of several petroleum companies are involved in a purported gasoline-tax fraud against the State, Collins said he had known of such conditions for some time.

"We have been investigating in Los Angeles for forty or fifty days," he declared. "We had a list of twenty-one companies to investigate and thus far have covered about nine. These are all small, independent distributors.

"We cannot say whether the companies are to blame or their employees, who may have defrauded their employers.

"We found that in one instance a company recorded the shipment of fifty-one cars of gasoline, tax free, presumably to Cincinnati. We discovered that these cars did not go outside the State. Of course, in that case the State lost the tax due on the fuel."

While Collins declared he believes the estimates in Weil's letter of between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 too high, he said it is possible that the losses over a period of several years might run into millions.

San Diego Boys Seized in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 3. (AP)—Three youths, asserted to have driven a stolen car from San Diego, were arrested today at St. George, Utah, and will be brought here by Federal officers.

The boys, Douglas Reed, Hugh Cottrell, and Harold Smith, all 17 years of age, were arrested by a night watchman in the Southern Utah city when, he charged, they were attempting to steal gasoline.

BRIGHTLY LIT METEOR SEEN IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3. (AP)—Hundreds of Clevelanders were witnesses early today of the spectacular fall of an unusually large meteor flashing through the outer rim of the earth's atmosphere. Santa Clara Has Terrific Blast

SANTA CLARA, Jan. 3. (AP)—Seven persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in a terrific gas explosion today that shattered the fronts of seven stores on Santa Clara's main street and broke windows over a radius of several blocks.

The explosion occurred in the jewelry store of I. A. Mead when Floyd Rankin, sheet-metal worker and furnace salesman, lighted a match in an effort to find a leak in the gas line. Mead, proprietor of the store, had stepped across the street to the Town Hall to complain of the odor of gas he had observed in the place for several days.

When Rankin went into the store William Forsey, clerk, spoke of the gas leak and Rankin volunteered to find it.

"MIDDLETOWN" is a startling new book giving a picture of a sample American industrial city. HOOVER HOPES TO AID INDIANS

Increased Sums Allotted in Budget Estimates

President Wants Redskins to Cease Being Wards

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—President Hoover said today the Indian Bureau is preparing recommendations for changes in Indian laws which are expected to correct certain unfavorable conditions which have existed for many years in the Indian Service.

The President said he has emphasized the importance of the Indian situation by the appointment of Commissioner Rhoads and Assistant Commissioner Scattergood.

More than $3,000,000 in increased appropriations for the Indian Service, most of which will go to medical care and education of Indians, has been recommended in the years budget.

It is the President's view that on of the 293,000 Indians in the country, the Indian Service should pay particular attention to the younger Indians. The hope is, he said, that through them, the Indians can be absorbed into the present American civilization and cease to be wards of the government.

Hoover Reports on Results

Success of Antidepression Program Announced at Press Conference

Steel Industry Gives Word of Stimulus Exceeding All Expectations

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—President Hoover believes he has been successful in his effort to marshal the economic forces of the country to withstand the serious effects of the recent stock market crash and keep national prosperity on an even keel through maintenance of employment.

At today's press conference he commented most optimistically on reports that have come in as the result of the conferences of business leaders, held here some weeks ago under his guidance. These conferences were aimed primarily at bolstering the employment situation through preventing any letdown in construction programs, and the reports thus far received were declared by the President to show "most encouraging results."

REASSURING NEWS

Mr. Hoover spoke conservatively as usual, but the fact that he felt it safe to pronounce "success" for the first time over his antidepression program is regarded by observers as having a great deal of significance, and as constituting the most reassuring news that possibly could be carried to the country as to what the new year holds in prospect in the way of employment and general business prosperity.

The President was moved to speak, it was indicated, by word he received only today from the large steel companies informing him that because of the stimulus given to construction programs throughout the country their orders already are exceeding previous expectations.

As one of the basic industries in the country, the steel trade naturally would react among the first to the demand for materials needed to carry out the vast construction and betterments programs pledged to the President during the recent business conferences. Since it already has felt the upward pressure in increased orders, President Hoover apparently feels confident now that his prosperity campaign has succeeded and that other industries will show the same trend toward high levels in production and employment.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

The President's statement follows:

"Our drive for increase in construction and improvement work to take up unemployment is showing most encouraging results, and it looks as if the work undertaken will be larger for 1930 than for 1929.

"The Department of Commerce now has complete returns from the governors of sixteen States covering public works to be undertaken in 1930 by the State, municipal and county authorities. They have partial returns from thirteen more States. The total so far reported, and including the Federal government, is about $1,550,000,000 and in nearly all cases larger than for 1929. The surveys are coming in daily and should be completed by mid-January.

"The preliminary estimate of the railways for construction and betterments for 1930 was $1,050,000,000 and for the public utilities $2,100,000,000, including the telephones. The total of these items so far is $4,000,000,000. This does not include the balance of the State, municipal and country work, nor the building construction, nor the industrial and factory improvements, which latter now are under survey by the special business committee.

"The steel companies gave information this morning that the effect of the drive already is showing in their orders, which are beyond their expectations."

HOLDERS OF FOX SHARES REASSURED

Protective Committee Expresses Satisfaction With Finance Statement

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—The protective committee of Class A stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation, today issued an additional statement, expressing satisfaction with William Fox's disclosure as to assets and earnings, and making no further reference to contemplated receivership action.

Mr. Fox's statement, indicating assets above liabilities of $73,000,000, and earnings for 1929 of $19,000,000, was described as "reassuring," but it was added that the committee is seeking to obtain more detailed figures.

"The willingness of Mr. Fox for the first time since the company's difficulties, to make public these figures," the committee stated, "indicates that the committee's activities are having the desired effect. In so far as Class A stockholders are concerned, the present situation will be relieved at the next annual meeting of the company, when, in the opinion of counsel for this committee, the Class A stock will have direct representation by the election of five directors."

As only $3,600,000 is needed to continue Class A dividends, and indicated earnings for the next year will be at least equal those of 1929, the committee predicted that refinancing will not meet with any insurmountable difficulties.

PUBLIC DEBT CUT BILLION DURING 1929

Nation's Gross Obligation $16,300,921,501 as Year Ends, Treasury Reports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—A decrease of more than $1,000,000,000 in the public debt of the United States in the last twelve months was shown today in the Treasury statement for December.

The gross debt of the nation on December 31, 1928, was $17,309,749,135, while last Tuesday it amounted to $16,300,921,501.

The debt reached its highest peak August 31, 1919, in the post-war period, the figures being $26,596,701,648.

On the last day of the old year, which ended the first six months of the 1930 fiscal year, the Treasury had collected $2,077,539,561 from all sources and had expended $1,985,894,861 leaving a surplus of $91,644,655.

In the same period last year the income amounted to $1,867,639,075 while the expenditures were $2,036,111,722.

Income taxes again played an important part in increasing the government revenues, amounting to $1,185,317,860 in the six months as compared with $1,012,795,591 in the same months of the previous year.

For December the income taxes also showed an appreciable gain, a total of $516,500,700 having been collected.

DIVORCED WIFE OF WRIGHT DIES

Operation Fatal for Second Mate of Architect

Decree Won in 1927 After Long, Stormy Fight

Notoriety Gained by Efforts to Depose Dancer

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 3. (AP)—Miriam Noel Wright, divorced wife of Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, died at a hospital here today following an operation several weeks ago.

Mrs. Wright, 61 years of age, was known as a sculptress and writer. Her marital troubles with her architect husband attracted nation-wide attention.

Following the operation, Mrs. Wright appeared to be recovering and was removed to another hospital to convalesce. She suffered a sudden relapse and died shortly after noon today.

THEY MET IN PARIS

Mrs. Wright met her husband in Paris, where he had gone in 1914 after a crazed negro servant at Taillesen, Wright's estate at Spring Green, Wis., had murdered Mrs. Mammah Borthwick Wright and her two children. Little is known of her life before she met Wright, except that she was born in Memphis, Tenn., and that she had achieved considerable distinction as an artist.

They were married in 1922 and, according to their friends, the ceremony was performed at midnight on a bridge over the Wisconsin River near Spring Green.

In 1925 Mrs. Wright left Taillesen and the long fight with the architect began, which ended in a divorce in August, 1927.

GATES STORMED

During the fight Mrs. Wright stormed the gates of Taillesen, followed by a number of newspaper men and curious onlookers. She threw things at guards who had been posted to keep her off the property, fought with them and finally collapsed and was taken to Spring Green for medical attention.

During 1927 she made frequent trips to Madison, Dodgeville and Spring Green, attempting to get warrants for Wright and Olga Milanov, Montenegrin dancer, whom Wright has since married. She issued many statements charging Wright with brutality and criticising his morals.

After fruitless attempts to take Wright before a court, she went to Washington and sought the aid of Federal officials to have Mme. Milanov deported. This quest did not prove successful.

ARCHITECT'S BUSINESS NOW INCORPORATED

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (AP)—Miriam Noel Wright, who died today at Milwaukee, was the second wife of Frank Lloyd Wright and accompanied the architect to Japan when he was building the famous Imperial Hotel at Tokio.

Mrs. Wright went to live with him after the tragedy in which his hillside bungalow, Taillesen, at Spring Green, Wis., was destroyed and seven persons were slain by a crazed negro butler, who set fire to the house.

Wright later left his second wife to live with Olga Milanov, a Montenegrin dancer, by whom he had a child and who became his third wife after the divorce from Miriam Noel Wright.

The architect's business was incorporated recently by a group of Chicago men, who purposed to manage his affairs, relieving him of the care of financial worries.

Wright was not at his office today.

Prince of Wales Sails to Resume African Hunting

SOUTHAMPTON (Eng.) Jan. 3. (AP)—The Prince of Wales sailed today aboard the liner Kenilworth Castle for Capetown, South Africa, to resume the hunting trip that he abruptly broke off when King George became seriously ill, more than a year ago.

As the ship butted her way down Southampton water through a stiff breeze and a shower of rain, the Prince went below to his own private cabin. He was last seen by watchers on the shore as he waved his cap in response to cheers from the people on the decks.

The Prince is traveling without formality as one of several hundred first-class passengers.

BRIDAL COUPLE TAKE AIR

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (AP)—Berkeley Gaynor, 29 years of age, of Forest Hills, Long Island, and Miss Delight Palmer, 23, of Chehalis, Wash., were married at the City Hall here today. They left by airplane for Los Angeles.

THREE HANGED FOR SLAYINGS

Lazarus, Brown and Stokes Die on Gallows

First Named Pays for Life Taken in Hold-up

Others Charged With Killing in Riot at Folsom

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (AP)—The State of California collected three debts today which it asserted were due from Louis Lazarus, Anthony Brown and Roy E. Stokes. Each man paid his debt with his life.

Lazarus was hanged at San Quentin prison for the murder of William McFarlin, a teller, during a bank hold-up in Oakland in July, 1928. Brown and Stokes were hanged at Folsom as leaders of the Thanksgiving Day riot in 1927. They were specifically charged with the murder of Convict George Baker. Four other Folsom convicts are to be hanged next week as an outgrowth of the riot and murder.

All three of the men walked calmly and apparently without fear to the gallows.

BOOK ADMIRED

A short while before he left the death cell Lazarus discussed with Rabbi Rudolph Coffee of Oakland his philosophies of life—and death. He had been reading the late Georges Clemenceau's recent book, "In the Evening of My Thoughts," and professed great admiration for the book, which has been referred to as agnostic. Other than Lazarus's talk with the rabbi, the accused men took no religious counsel.

Lazarus denied intent in the Oakland shooting and exonerated William (Red) O'Brien, who also is to hang for the shooting. George Costello, third member of the Oakland hold-up trio, was hanged for the crime December 13, last.

RIOT AT FOLSOM

The riot at Folsom started during a motion-picture show and involved 1400 convicts. A bloody conflict between convicts on the one hand and guards, prison officials, police and National Guardsmen on the other, resulted.

Six men, the accused, started the riot because they wanted to get out. Guard Singleton and ten convicts were killed. Late the second day of the riot it was suppressed. The six ringleaders were indicted and convicted of the murder of Singleton. They were sentenced to life imprisonment. As most of them already were life-termers, the sentence meant little except loss of credits. Then they were retried for the murder of Baker, convicted and sentenced to die. Besides the men hanged today the riot leaders are Walter E. Burke, James H. Gregg, James Gleason and Albert M. Stewart.

Burke and Gregg are to be hanged next Friday and Gleason the 17th inst. Stewart turned State's evidence. Like the others, he appealed from his conviction and his case is before the State Supreme Court. He awaits sentencing.

HYDE WANTS NO CHANGES FOR SHOALS

He Reports Government Should Keep Control of Alabama Power Plant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Disapproving all pending measures for disposition of the Muscle Shoals (Ala.) power project, Secretary Hyde today recommended legislation which would continue the government in control of revenue from this gigantic war-time plant.

In a letter to Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture Committee, the Secretary of Agriculture recommended no definite plan for operation of the plant but he said that the theory had been abandoned that the nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals can be of any benefit in lowering the cost of fertiliser to the farmers.

"If the property is to be applied to the benefit of agriculture," he wrote, "some other means must be used. There is need for the improvement of fertilizers, fertilizer practice and soil management, and it is therefore recommended that the Muscle Shoals property be utilized as a source of revenue which will be applied to this end.

"The best method for accomplishing the desired purpose will change from year to year as conditions vary and I, therefore, believe that it will be advisable for Congress to retain authority over the expenditure of funds obtained from the property."

Woman's Death Witness Found

SANTA CRUZ, Jan. 3. (AP)—Andrew J. Meagher, private detective investigating the mysterious death of Mrs. Cora Mead in September, 1928, and who says she was murdered, said today he had found an eyewitness to the killing. He did not reveal the name of this witness.

Mrs. Mead was found shot to death at her ranch home near here, where she was known as the wife of L. A. Thornewill, former Canadian mounted policeman. Thornewill visited her a few minutes before the shooting. He was held for investigation but released when the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

BIRTHS BLAMED FOR CRIME

Woman Facing Chronic Forgery Sentence After Fourth Lying-in Has Odd Defense

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—The newer psychology holds out one last hope of explaining the chronic forgeries of Marion Hackett, 27 years of age, who faces a life term just after the birth of her fourth child in prison. The kleptomania that has placed her within prison walls after the birth of each of her children, her attorney is convinced, in every instance has been the result of a mind disordered by approaching motherhood.

A psychiatrist will examine her before she goes on trial soon in General Sessions Court as a fourth offender under the Baumes Habitual Criminal Law. Arrangements for the examination are being made by her counsel, Samuel J. Lowenstein.

"I handled her last case and I know she is not essentially a criminal," Loewenstein said.

"She works steadily when she can. That is the way she prefers to make her living. Forgery never enters her mind until she is about to become a mother. Strange as that seems, her record shows it conclusively."

STIMSON RENTS BRITISH ESTATE

Country Mansion to be Used During Naval Parley

Place Has Many Facilities for Entertainment

Informal Discussions Will Aid in Negotiations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—Putting both his personal inclinations and time-honored British custom, Secretary Stimson has chosen to surround the American delegation to the London naval parley with as much home-like atmosphere and informality as is compatible with the hard work which it will face at the conference.

Not only will all the delegates and most of their principal advisers be accompanied by their wives or members of their families, but Mr. Stimson has leased a spacious country home in Middlesex, where he expects to hold informal conversations with representatives of the other powers.

LONG-TIME CUSTOM

He will maintain an apartment at the Ritz-Carlton, official headquarters of the delegation, but on week-ends and whenever the pressure of business relaxes he will retire to the country.

Throughout his public life and especially since coming to Washington as Secretary of State, Mr. Stimson has made it a practice to discuss and dispose of as many important matters as possible in the seclusion of his home.

The house selected by Mr. Stimson, which is the property of Sir Maurice Fitzgerald, has extensive facilities for entertainment, numbering eighteen principal bedrooms. It has a private golf course and is near famous shooting and hunting country.

INFORMAL BASE

None of the other American delegates is planning to establish himself in the country and Warren House, the Stimson residence, will become an informal base for the delegation.

Reservations aboard the George Washington, on which the delegation will sail next week, have been made for Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, Mrs. David Reed, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the Ambassador to Mexico, and for the wives of Admirals Pratt, Jones, Pringle, Yarnell and Hepburn.

An escort of ten marines will be taken along, but their chief function will be to serve as messengers rather than sentinels.

STIMSON SEEKS PARLEY WITH ITALIAN

ROME, Jan. 3. (AP)—Dino Grandi, Minister of Foreign Relations, today received John W. Garrett, United States Ambassador, who presented an invitation of Secretary of State Stimson for a conference preliminary to the London naval parley this month. The meeting will take place in London the 19th inst., two days before opening of the naval conference.

Four Hurt When Ferry Rams Tug in New York Bay

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Running blindly in a dense fog which threw her two miles off her course, the ferryboat William R. Hearst crashed into the tugboat Mutual today at Beard's Dry Dock, Brooklyn, throwing eighteen men into the water and injuring four seriously.

The tugboat, which was tied up at the breakwater, sank shortly after the collision. Capt. Harry Bass and the seven members of the crew of the Mutual were thrown overboard by the force of the impact and ten dry dock employees, standing on the breakwater, were tossed into the water.

Several other tugs which had tied up at the breakwater in the fog rescued all of the men.

The damage to the ferry, which had 150 passengers aboard, was slight, and it proceeded to a Brooklyn dock.

STUDENTS RAP SPORT REWARDS

National Congress Opposes Subsidizing Athletes

Several Speakers Criticise Honor System

In Address, George Creel Scores Senator Johnson

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Resolutions opposing all subsidies for athletes and all discrimination in their favor in the handing out of jobs were adopted this afternoon at a round-table discussion of university athletic problems held by the National Student Federation of America at its fifth annual congress, which will close here tomorrow.

Simultaneously another discussion group considered the honor system, branded by Robert Keith of the University of California at Los Angeles as "the most complete failure" he has ever seen. He declared that most of the cheating at University of California at Los Angeles is done at unfair examinations given by professors who have antagonized their students. He suggested as a remedy that the faculty be taught to co-operate with the students.

GEORGIANS GIVE VIEWS

Delegates from Georgia Institute of Technology said that the greatest difficulty lies in getting students to report violations of the honor system, an opinion in which all concurred.

In passing resolutions opposing subsidizing of athletes, the group considering sports problems defined a subsidy as any indirect or direct pecuniary remuneration for which the recipient is expected to make no return aside from his athletic ability. Scalping was agreed to be a local difficulty, but the group voted to go on record as opposing transferring of tickets.

EXPANSION IDEA TABLED

At the morning plenary session of the Congress a $30,000 national expansion program was tabled following objections from the University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles and many other schools to the 5-cents-a-student dues provided for. The program provides for employment of an executive secretary, appointment of a citizens' advisory committee, and selection of local federation committees to carry out the purpose of student interrelation on member campuses.

In the afternoon, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and president of the university, on leave of absence, greeted the delegates by radio broadcast, declaring that "student bodies offer fertile fields for the study of foreign conflicts," and praising the value of such conferences. He is to be heard tomorrow evening in a Movietone.

NO ADVANCE MADE

Judge Jackson H. Ralston, international jurist, said that "international law has made no advance since the beginning of organized states" and that it is now no more than a set of rules for war under which "the state has become an immoral creature." He urged the delegates to "study the government of nations so that you may become a factor in the foundation of a true system of international law."

George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information during the World War, told the students that the chance of the United States entering the League of Nations and World Court, although good ten years ago, have been "buried under a burden of lies."

"BAD TO HEARST"

He characterized the United States Senate as "the lowest form of political life" and said that Senator Johnson is "an intellectual giant who has gone from bad to rude on American isolation, he said. Mexican President-elect Will be Unable to Make Los Angeles Visit

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (AP)—President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, his wife, Josefina, and their three children arrived here today for a two-day visit as part of the good will tour Senor Ortiz Rubio is making before taking over the reins of the Mexican government February 5.

Secret-service men and a heavy police guard surrounded the Mexican President-elect. His itinerary, other than his next stop at Kansas City, was not made public.

In a telegram dated at Detroit, the 2nd inst., Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, advised Antonio Castellanos, formerly a judge in Mexico City and now practicing law in Los Angeles, that a visit to Los Angeles at this time is an impossibility.

Clews Lacking in Shooting of Police Official

DETROIT, Jan. 3. (AP)—After more than twenty-four hours' investigation and questioning of suspects, police today are without definite information that might lead to the capture of the gang which yesterday seriously wounded Inspector Henry J. Garvin, head of the crime and bomb squad, and an 11-year-old schoolgirl in an attempt to put the police official "on the spot."

More than twenty suspects were jailed, but none provided the investigators with substantial clews.

Garvin, although seriously wounded by several of the bullets which his assailants poured into his automobile, will recover. At Receiving Hospital it was reported that the girl, Lois Bartlett, has a chance for recovery. She was shot five times.

SHIPOWNER OBJECTS TO RIVAL'S BID

Steamer Line Head Files Protest on Mail Award to Kermit Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—J. E. Sheedy, president of the United States Steamship Lines, today protested the awarding of mail contracts to the Kermit Roosevelt Steamship Line at a hearing before Assistant Postmaster-General Glover, asserting that "putting Americans in competition with Americans where foreign competition is rife can spell nothing but failure."

In asking that advertising for mail-carrying bids on the line which Kermit Roosevelt proposes to establish between Baltimore and Hamburg be deferred, Sheedy said that the establishment of such a line would cut in heavily on traffic and cargo business of the United States Steamship Lines, operating out of New York.

This, he said, was contrary to the protection agreement under which his company had purchased its vessels from the United States Shipping Board. His company, he added, had invested heavily in terminals abroad and this investment would be imperiled by the Roosevelt proposal.

LESS RAIN FORECAST FOR YEAR

Reduced Crops and Better Radio Reception Sighted by Canadian Astronomer

OTTAWA, Jan. 3. (AP)—Lighter rainfall, reduced crops, better radio reception, greater danger from forest fires, fewer electrical storms, increased fur production—these are some of possibilities suggested by an astronomer for this year.

Dr. Ralph E. Delury of the Dominion Observatory looks for a lessening of the sun's ultra-violet rays.

While hesitating to make definite predictions on account of the vagaries of the sun's activities, investigation leads him to believe 1930 will see a reduction in rainfall with the many results which that entails.

All forms of electrical transmission improve when ultra-violet rays are weak. Static is lessened and radio reception is affected favorably. The Aurora Borealis, which obstructs long-distance telegraphic communication, becomes infrequent.

Dr. Delury's expectation of a bumper wheat crop in 1928 at the sun spot peak was followed by the greatest production of any year in Candian history.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Jan. 3. YOUNG BOB NEAR COVETED BERTH

Senator La Follette Wants Finance Committee Post

Appointment of Sackett to Berlin Opens Way

Regular Republicans Will Have Slim Margin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Regular Republicans in the Senate virtually have abandoned hope of keeping Senator La Follette of Wisconsin off the Finance Committee. It now is likely that the Republican Committee on Committees will name the Wisconsin Senator some time next week for membership on this committee where his father was a thorn in the flesh of the regulars for many years on all tariff and revenue legislation.

The Finance Committee, since the death of the elder La Follette, has been one of the few Senate committees which has been in complete control of the regulars. No radicals have been permitted to obtain a membership on this committee. Senator La Follette has had his eye out for a place on it for two or three years but until now his ambitions have been thwarted.

WAY NOW OPEN

The prospective appointment of Senator Sackett of Kentucky, as Ambassador to Germany, creates a second vacancy on the Finance Committee and seems to assure Senator La Follette a place. The Wisconsin Senator has been aspirant for the vacancy created when former Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, was named as Ambassador to France.

The regulars advanced Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia, who outranked Senator La Follette in seniority, for the place and thought they would be able to force the selection of Goff. With another vacancy in prospect it looks as though both La Follette and Goff will be given places.

MARGIN REDUCED

Under the seniority system prevailing, the regulars will not easily be able to keep La Follette off the committee. If they did try to do so the radicals would be sure to carry the fight to the floor of the Senate.

Counting the Edge and Sackett vacancies, there are eleven Republican places and eight Democrats on the committee.

If Senator La Follette goes on the committee the regulars will control by the narrow margin of one vote when he lines with the Democrats. If Senator Cousens, who frequently opposes Treasury policies, also votes with the Democrats, the regular Republicans will be in the minority.

CHEVROLET

Today

- Chevrolet announces

THE GREATEST CHEVROLET IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for it embodies every worth while advancement that a year of engineering research has developed. There are scores of vital improvements which contribute to every phase of comfort, performance, endurance and safety!

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements which make this car the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History.

But most impressive of all from the standpoint of the motor car buyer, is the sensational dollar for dollar value which this new car provides. For, in spite of its finer quality—this smoother, faster, better Six has been made available—

- at Greatly Reduced Prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume production has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Akut explained to Korak that these rites proclaimed the choosing of a new king. At last the brutes rested, their stomachs full. "Come slowly, Korak," Akut whispered. "Do as I do." Making their way through the trees, they stood on a bough overhanging one side of the amphitheater. Then Akut uttered a peculiar growl. Instantly a score of apes leaped to their feet. The new king-ape was the first to spy the two figures upon the branch.

He growled ominously. His hair bristled and his legs stiffened, as with a jerking motion he lumbered toward the intruders, followed by a number of bulls. Akut did not wish to fight. He had come with the boy to cast his lot with the tribe. "I am Akut," he called down. "This is Korak. He is the son of Tarzan, who was king of the apes. I, too, was king of the apes beside the great waters. We are mighty fighters. Let us come in peace."

The king's little eyes grew crafty. He feared these two strange apes. The sleek, brown, hairless body of the lad spelled "man," and man he hated. "Go away," he growled, "or I will kill you!" The eager lad standing behind the great Akut had been pulsing with happiness and anticipation. He wanted to leap down and show these hairy monsters he was one of them—their friend. Now the words of the king-ape filled him with indignation and sorrow.

The great apes had remained his final hope. To them he looked for the companionship man had denied him. Suddenly rage overwhelmed him. the apes beneath him had formed in a half-circle around the king, watching events interestedly. Before Akut could guess his intention or prevent it, the boy leaped to the ground directly in the path of the king, who had now worked himself up into a perfect frenzy of jealous fury.

WILBUR PLANS CALIFORNIA TRIP

Study Conservation in Kettleman Field

Test System of Operation to Be Encouraged

Proposed Visit Based on Smith Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—With purpose of making further [illegible] in his program for oil conservation, Secretary Wilbur expects to visit the Kettleman oil field of California within the next few weeks.

The Interior Secretary said today that he now is interested in encouraging the unit system of operation in the Kettleman field. This system would provide for pooled interests, operating in such a manner that no one driller would be induced to drain the oil from adjacent holdings.

He pointed out that if promiscuous drilling were permitted in this great field, one operator might produce enough gas to supply all Southern California.

"We want to work out some plan to reduce engineering costs, and increase production; to increase recovery of oil and gas and oil, to decrease waste," said Wilbur.

Members of the Secretary to visit California with a view to closer co-operation with the oil operators following the report of George Otis Smith, director of the Geological Survey and chairman of the advisory committee of the Federal Oil Conservation Board, who has just returned from a conference with the committee of operators in California.

EXTENSION OF HOSPITAL WORK ASKED

Director Recommends That Kern Supervisors Appoint Physicians to Duty

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 3.—The County Supervisors today have under consideration a proposal for extension of hospitalization to other cities of the county, for persons who are unable to ill or too badly injured to be moved to the County General Hospital here.

H. S. O. Collins, County Hospital director, recommended that physicians be appointed in each community to serve without pay, who would handle such cases, and arrange for hospital care.

The plan was created following a request from a Coalinga committee that such arrangements be made at hospital facilities in their community. Collins's plan contemplates the use of private hospitals in communities where patients could be moved here, the hospital to be paid by the county.

While the Supervisors took no action on the proposal today, it was indicated that they favor such a plan and that it may be adopted at an early date after complete details have been worked out.

INSURANCE BARS SUICIDE LOSS

New Yorker Steps Out With Brand-New Kind of Surety Policy

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—"Suicide insurance" is the latest safeguard for American business men. What is believed to be the first surety bond of that kind was issued today by the National Surety Company, according to an announcement from the company's Greater New York department.

The policy, which consists of a $30,000 surety bond, insures a New York chemical manufacturer whose name is withheld against suicide within the next two years.

UNION CALL FOR MORE PAY DENIED

Demands Made by Painters and Carpenters of Fresno Refused by Employers

FRESNO, Jan. 3.—Requests from the carpenters' and painters' unions of this city for an increase of $1 per day in their pay, making the daily wage $9.50 per day, have been refused by the employers, it was announced today.

The unions seek to re-establish the wage scale in effect here in 1923, while the employers hold that economic conditions at this time do not justify the higher wage, according to officials of the Fresno Builders Exchange.

The rejection of the employers was also based upon the ground that they will not negotiate with individual unions, but will require that the men comply with the agreement which is that such matters be submitted to the Building Trades Council.

The carpenters have demanded that the increase become effective on Monday, although they have not made known what action they will take if their demands are not met.

Death Stretch Patrol Ceases

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 3.—Discontinuance of the fog patrol on Golden State Highway, south of here, was announced today by Capt. Roy Galyen, Kern county head of the State highway patrol. Lifting of the fog from the straightaway, scene of so many disastrous traffic crashes in the past few weeks, caused suspension of Capt. Galyen's "stop-'em-and-check-'em" order.

Yesterday morning there were only two hours of fog on the treacherous highway and this morning there was none, the traffic officials said. As a result, the men who have been patrolling the thirty-two-mile stretch will return to their usual patrol routes, north and south, from which they were taken when the traffic situation south of Brundage Lane became so acute as to attract State-wide comment. Capt. Galyen's method proved successful, not one fatality being recorded and only a few persons being injured.

Earlier in the day he inspected the ports at Wichita and Waynoka.

CHINA'S COURT MANDATE TAME

Extraterritoriality "Ukase" Just Negotiations

Foreign Powers to Be Asked to Give Up Practice

Replies of Washington and London Please Wang

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3. (AP)—Foreign Minister Wang asserted today that during the coming few months the Nationalist government will make a determined effort through negotiations to re-establish its jurisdictional sovereignty over all foreigners within its territory. His declaration was made at a luncheon for Chinese and foreign newspaper men.

Wang's statement followed the Nationalist government's recent extraterritoriality declaration in which it was stated that the Nanking regime expected to issue a statement today concerning the question.

EXPECTED DETAILS

The statement of the Foreign Minister was received with keen anticipation as many observers of Chinese politics believed the government would use the occasion to make public details of the plan whereby it hopes to make effective the extraterritoriality decree of December 28.

Although Wang's declaration proved disappointing in this respect, as it failed to contain any specific proposals, the government is understood to be planning to place before the powers a proposal for the abolition of extraterritoriality.

However, the speech was considered an unmistakable indication that the government plans an attempt to bring its extraterritoriality program to a successful termination within a few months.

Referring to the unofficial replies of London and Washington to the Nationalist exterritoriality decree, in which the American and British governments indicated a willingness to negotiate over the question, Wang said:

TEP TOWARD GOAL

"What will perhaps make the year 1929 the most memorable is the graceful gesture of the powers concerned in agreeing to collaborate with China in the re-establishment of her jurisdictional sovereignty over foreign nationals within her territory. Such a far-reaching agreement is a step toward removing a cause of constant conflict and at the same time promoting cordial relations between Chinese and foreigners in their midst.

"It is hoped that the detailed procedure connoted by such a gesture may be consummated in the next few months, so that China's jurisdictional sovereignty may be completely restored."

Young Resigns Chairmanship of Corporation

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—The directors of the Radio Corporation of America, at their first meeting of the year, today accepted the resignation of Owen D. Young as chairman of the board and elected Gen. James G. Harbord to succeed him.

At the same meeting David Sarnoff, executive vice-president of the corporation, was elected president to succeed Gen. Harbord and an executive committee was created with Mr. Young as its chairman.

Sarnoff, not yet 39 years of age, has reached his present position after meteoric progress. He came to America as a child, with the immigration of his family from Southern Russia.

Police Tests Please Chief, Also Bandits

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Chief of Police Quinn and two subordinates put San Francisco's new cruising detail to a test during the early hours this morning. A pseudo bank hold-up brought the entire district personnel to the bank in four minutes. In the ensuing hour the pseudo fleeing car was stopped four times in various parts of the city and the tests were pronounced a 100 per cent success.

But—while all this was going on two robbers in a tan coupe made three hold-ups and escaped.

Murder-Attack Crime Admitted

BALTIMORE, Jan. 3. (AP)—Alonzo Price, 35-year-old negro, tonight confessed to police the slaying of Rueben Heyman and the attack on Mrs. Dorothy Burgess, Heyman's companion. The negro was captured by a policeman during a running gun fight at the Pennsylvania railroad station at Lutherville, during which he was wounded probably fatally. The policeman, Talbot Kelley, was wounded seriously.

Price's confession, which was taken by court officials and police, corroborated the story told by Mrs. Burgess.

FROZEN PIPES AID BLAZE

Volunteer Fire Brigade's Efforts Fail to Prevent Destruction of Frazier Mountain Park Store

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 3.—While a voluntee: fire brigade struggled vainly to get water from frozen pipes, a disastrous blaze during the night razed the Arnold store at Frazier Mountain Park, threatened blocks of mountain lodges with destruction and almost cost the lives of Mrs. Arnold and her children, who were sleeping in the store.

The establishment, one of the largest in the mountain resort, is owned by Lee Arnold, member of the local police department, and managed by Mrs. Arnold, who, with their children, makes her home in the mountain district. The fire loss is estimated at approximately $8000.

Everything in the building, which served both as store and dwelling, was a total loss, including stocks of merchandise, furnishings, clothing and other valuables.

According to Mrs. Arnold, she awakened about 11:30 o'clock to find the building blazing. Smoke was so dense that she and the children were nearly suffocated before they could escape. There was no time to save anything except their lives as the occupants of the building fled, scantily clad, into the chill night air. Neighbors provided clothing and shelter.

LASSCO SKIPPER TELLS OF BLOW

Reports Unusual Storm on Sail from Hawaii

Says Wind at Times Showed Sixty-Mile Clip

Brings City of Honolulu to Port on Schedule

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

It took one of those rare storms that makes one realize why the Los Angeles-Hawaiian lane really is called the "sunshine route" to prove the excellent riding qualities of the Lassco liner City of Honolulu.

That liner arrived from the Paradise of the Pacific yesterday noon after four days of heavy weather, the wind rising at times to sixty miles an hour and driving heavy rains ahead of it.

Despite this, however, the ship never heaved to, Capt. Zeh declared, and although he took precautions to slow up, arrived almost on time.

"We got a bit of spray at times," declared the skipper, "but you know she's a mighty dry ship. Many passengers were surprised that they weren't sick. They would have been on some ships."

One hundred and ninety passengers returned on the liner, including Judge Charles Crail, Herbert Hagerman, former Governor of New Mexico; George Aikman, ranch operator of Australia; Clyde Burr, vice-president and general counsel of the Lasco Line; Basil Woon, writer of "Frantic Atlantic," returning with Hawaiian material for another story, and Col. William Easterwood, promoter of two flights, one from Rome to Dallas, Tex., and the other from Hongkong to Dallas.

Cargo items include 43,000 cases of canned pineapples, coffee and general merchandise.

MASTERS PROMOTED BY PANAMA MAIL LINE

Advances for three masters in the service of the Panama Mail Steamship Company were disclosed yesterday on arrival of the motor liner City of San Francisco with passengers and freight from Balboa.

She was in command of Capt. Clinton Haverstock, who has been advanced from chief officer of the liner Venezuela, and had taken over the motor liner at the Panama Canal. Capt. Walter Pringle, former master of the City of San Francisco, remained behind to take the bridge of the Venezuela, relieving Capt. Chester Gilbert, who has been advanced to an important shoreside berth by the line at San Francisco.

The City of San Francisco embarked several travelers and discharged coffee and sailed at noon for San Francisco, where several Central American Chinese, becoming rich as merchants, will transfer to an Orient-bound liner for a visit to their homeland.

Osaka Shosen Kaisha's globe-girdling steamer Hawaii arrived from South America via New Orleans yesterday, to disembark a dozen travelers and discharge freight. She will embark eight, will load 2000 tons of cotton, canned fish and general merchandise and sail today for the Orient. The new motor liner Buenos Aires Maru of the same line, now on the same round-the-world service, is due here February 25, next, on her maiden voyage.

Of the sixty-five new motor tankships ordered or building for Norwegian commercial interests, the majority of them will be frequent visitors here, according to officials of Sconhoft-Gallis Corporation, ship chandlers at San Pedro. Diesel propulsion also is favored for thirty-seven other ships building in Norway, whereas only twenty-six are to be steamers of the total of 128 ships projected.

Harry S. Scott, president of the General Steamship Corporation, and Capt. B. Aillet, Coast manager for the French Line, visited the port again yesterday on their three-day visit here from San Francisco. They were conferring with Capt. H. H. Birkholm, General's local manager, on plans for the arrival of French Line's newest motor liner, the Oregon, which Capt. Duchesne will bring out here late this month. It is the first of a program calling for four new passenger carriers and six new freighters to be put in the Pacific-European run by the French Line during 1930.

ERSKINE

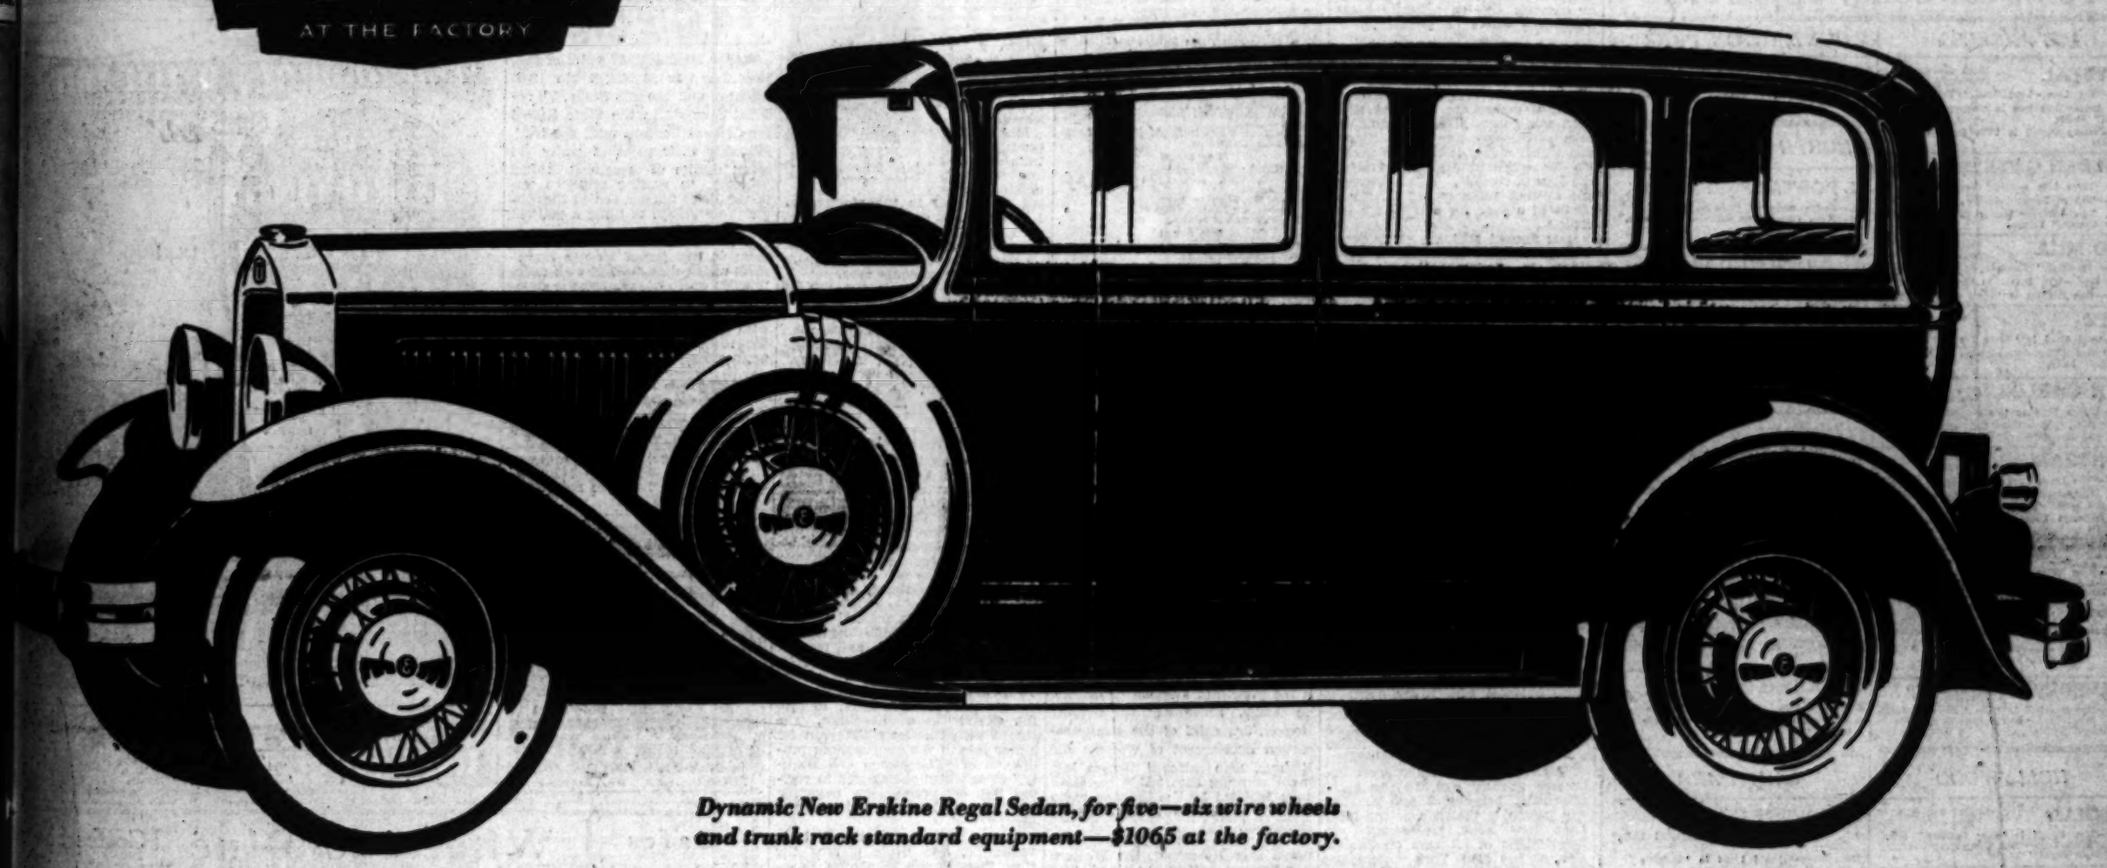
AT THE FACTORY



Dynamic New Erskine Regal Sedan, for five—six wire wheels and trunk rack standard equipment—$1065 at the factory.

114-INCH WHEELBASE

More power per pound than any other car under $1000

IT'S a big car—full 114-inch wheelbase. It's a powerful car—its 70 horsepower delivers more power per pound of weight than any other car under $1000. It's a fast car—your daring dictates the speed you travel. It's a comfortable car—with hydraulic shock absorbers, long springs, deep cushions and generous head and leg room. It's a safe car—with never-failing four-wheel brakes, rugged double-drop frame, cam and lever steering and a steering wheel with an unbreakable steel core.

A significant car, first of its type and price—built by Studebaker to its 78-year standards of quality. Those who can command the best will drive no smarter-looking cars than this. Its design is as modern as the dynamic new skyscraper architecture of the day.

Only by actually seeing and driving the new Erskine can you know how impressively it interprets the spirit of these tremendous times. Take a Dynamic New Erskine for the revelation of a trial drive.

70-Horsepower, Studebaker-Built Motor, delivering more power per pound of car weight than in any other car under $1000. A 68-pound crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced. High turbulence manifold. Oil filter. Gasoline filter and fuel pump. Motor cushion-mounted on blocks of live rubber. Thermostatically controlled cooling system.

Bodies of Dynamic Beauty. Ample head room and leg space; fine mohair, broadcloth or genuine leather upholstery; silken curtains; dome light; broad, sweeping fenders; tri-lateral belt moulding, originated by Studebaker artists.

114-Inch Wheelbase—Double-Drop Frame.

Clutch Torsional Damper, effecting gentle clutch engagement.

New Type Erskine-Bendix Duo-Servo Four-Wheel Brakes.

Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers.

Timken Tapered Roller Bearings, used at twelve vital points.

Self-Adjusting Spring Shackles, automatically take up wear.

Adjustable Front Seat, Steering Column.

Thin-Grip Steel-Core Safety Steering Wheel, unbreakable.

New Burgess Acoustic Muffler, which offers no resistance to passage of exhaust gases. Effective horsepower is thereby increased. As with many other improvements pioneered in the past; Studebaker is first to adopt this revolutionary feature.

Lanchester Vibration Damper, Subdues motor vibrations, resulting in pronounced smoothness of power flow.

Chromium Plating on Exterior Brightwork.

Complete Appointments, automatic windshield cleaner; electric ignition lock; tilt-ray headlights. Engine thermometer, gasoline gauge, speedometer, oil gauge and ammeter grouped under glass, indirectly illuminated.

40 Miles Per Hour Even When New—due to advanced engineering, precision workmanship and careful inspection, the Dynamic New Erskine may be driven 40 miles per hour even when new. Oil need be drained only at 2500 mile intervals.

RADIO TO BRING POWER CHANGE

Standardization of Current Forecast for Nation

Utilities Groups See Profits in Light-Socket Sets

Lamont Will be Heard Over KHJ This Morning

The Times Forum, KHJ, 10:30 a.m., will present Peggy Hamilton, fashion authority.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Standardization of electric current for domestic purposes to sixty cycles throughout the country is forecast in reports from Washington. The change is said to be entirely the result of development of the light-socket connection radio receiving set.

Sensing the rapidly growing market for current through the use of this type of receiver, electric power companies furnishing other than the standard current upon which the sets can be operated are planning complete substitution for direct current or alternating current of other than the sixty-cycle type.

One of the first of the companies to consider this change, located in Northern New York, is understood not only to contemplate the generation of sixty-cycle power to replace the twenty-five cycle current now used, but also the sharing of expense of converting home equipment where necessary.

LARGE RETURNS SEEN

The average electric radio set, it is estimated, uses only a small amount of current monthly, but where thousands of homes are equipped with such sets the total return amounts to a surprisingly impressive figure, one which makes it not only possible but quite profitable to change the type of current. It is estimated the average radio owner will spend about $4 a year for current for his radio.

It is figured that the electric sets last year were worth about $10,000,000 in revenue to the power companies of the country. Only 10 per cent of the homes wired for electricity are equipped with current-operated sets, so that the power industry can look forward eventually to an annual return of about $100,000,000 from this source alone.

RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

KHJ will have as one of its features today Secretary of Commerce Lamont, who will speak at 11:30 a.m. to the business men of the nation. He will be introduced by Gov. Allen of Massachusetts. Charlie Wellman will start "Chasin' the Blues" at 3 o'clock this afternoon over KHJ, assisted by his Six Peppers. At 5 o'clock Dr. Arthur Torrance will relate his experiences while penetrating the darkest parts of Africa. "Piccolo Pete" will be played for the last time by the KHJ Merry Makers in a program of humor and music starting at 9 o'clock.

KFI will offer its listeners a program of compositions by Wagner, Haydn, Von Blon and Saint-Saens over the NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. At 8 the Prokhanoff Russian String Quartet will play for those dialing KFI. Operatic and concert music will be played under the direction of Robert Hurd by his concert orchestra at 8:30 p.m. In the early afternoon, between 2 and 3, KFI will present a sketch over the NBC from New York, presenting vivid descriptions of all cars on exhibition at the New York Automobile Show in Grand Central Palace.

HOLIDAY REVEL

KNX will indulge in a holiday revel at 7 tonight. David Mendoza and his symphony orchestra are to be followed by Paul Ash and his stage show. Harry Green, leading man in "The Kibitzer," and Richard Arlen, screen actor, will be heard in a special dialogue. At 9 tonight an hour will be devoted to a program of Russian music and dancing by the Russian American Art Club, in which Michael Vavitch will be featured in his own arrangements.

KMTR will radiate the talents of film and stage players tonight from 7 to 8 in another "Radio Film Review." Following this, the Junior Chamber of Commerce will bring before the microphone a number of distinguished athletes. Golf stars will tell about a coming tournament. From 10 to 12 p.m. Harry Geise and Sentimental Sammy will entertain with vocal and instrumental numbers.

As an aftermath of the season now closed, a football continuity, "Fair and Warmer," is to be featured at KFWB tonight at 7 o'clock, with Ray Martinez and his concert ensemble furnishing the incidental music.

DR. CITRON RENAMED BY GRAND JURY

Federal Inquisitors Base Thirty Counts on Drug Orders for Alma Rubens

Dr. I. Jesse Citron, Beverly Hills physician, was reindicted yesterday by the Federal grand jury on charges of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act by giving to Alma Rubens, former motion-picture actress, asserted illegal prescriptions for morphine and cocaine.

The new indictment, which probably will replace a previous one, contains thirty-one counts. It charges that the physician gave Miss Rubens, who has undergone treatment to cure the drug habit, prescriptions in the names of former patients. Trial of the previous charges for for February may be dismissed in view of the new indictment.

Eight other indictments were returned by the grand jury. One of these was secret. Four true bills charged violations of the National Prohibition Act, two of the Tariff Act and one the Dyer Act.

Young Hoover Cites Radio's Aid to Aviation

As the growth of the railroads was indirectly possible through development of the telegraph system so is the growth of aviation dependent on radio, according to Herbert Hoover, Jr., chief of the communications department of Western Air Express, who released figures last night showing that 33,125 messages were handled by the thirteen radio stations under his charge during December.

An increase of 4297 messages was noted over November, the Western Air Express official explained. The Los Angeles station handled the largest number, with 5960 and Albuquerque was second with 4120.

"A fraction more than forty-four messages an hour throughout the thirty-one days of the month were sent back and forth through the air," said Hoover. "It is the highest record of our department and compares favorably with any of the various railroad systems that use wires to control transportation units."

STAR CAST IN ENGLISH FILM

Miriam Seegar, Carlyle Moore Play Denny Leads; Grace Hayes Signs With Universal for Film; Herbert Brenon Has New Contract

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Among our film expatriates is shortly to be numbered no less clever an actress than Jacqueline Logan.

JACQUELINE LOGAN

Miss Logan has just been signed by Sono-Art to star in a talking picture to be made in London by World Wide Pictures, which is an organization affiliated with Sono-Art.

The star left last night, accompanied by her husband, Lawrence Winston, for New York, whence she will sail Wednesday morning on the Mauretania for Europe.

The name of the picture in which Miss Logan will appear is "Symphony and Two Flats." Author and director are not named.

Miss Logan is famous for many roles, notably for her part of the Magdalin in Cecil B. De Mille's "King of Kings."

MIRIAM SEEGAR TO PLAY DENNY LEAD

Miriam Seegar, after all, and not Florence Eldridge, will have the lead opposite Reginald Denny in his first Tiffany - Goldstore production, "The Dark Chapter."

CARLYLE MOORE JR.

This word was received yesterday. Miss Eldridge, it appears, is playing in another production, and could not be released.

Miss Seegar recently came from the stage, and has been making a record for herself in the pictures in which she has appeared.

Carlyle Moore, Jr., is another member of the cast of "The Dark Chapter" signed yesterday. Moore will have the juvenile lead.

The young actor is the son of Carlyle Moore, Sr., well known playwright, stage and screen director. The youth has made headway on the stage, his most notable role being that of the juvenile in "Jonesy," which was produced at the Vine-street Theater. He has also appeared in New York stock companies.

Grace Hayes With Universal

No less charming an actress than Grace Hayes has been signed by Universal for a feature specialty and role in Paul Whiteman's starring vehicle, "The King of Jazz," we learned yesterday. She has just arrived in Hollywood.

Moreover, there is a likelihood that Miss Hayes may be signed on a long-term contract, we understand.

Grace Hayes is a musical-comedy star and a vaudeville headliner. Born in San Francisco and playing there in stock, she went to New York with Dale Winter, and in New York signed for the Keith circuit in a personality sketch. After touring the circuit as a headliner, she signed with Charles Dillingham for a star role in the metropolitan production of "The Bunch and Beauty," after which she starred in various Shubert productions, including "Artists and Models" and "Passing Show."

It was after she returned to vaudeville, and while playing the New York Palace that Miss Hayes was noted by Universal officials and brought west.

Herbert Brenon with R.-K.-O.

That well-known director, Herbert Brenon, is not to leave R.-K.-O. Word from New York is to the effect that he has just signed a new long-term contract with that organization.

He is to direct special productions, and left New York last night for Hollywood. As soon as he arrives, he will start a search for a story to serve as his first production.

A very special contract has been given Brenon in that he is not only to produce and direct for R.-K.-O., but is also to be given full supervision of all his pictures, together with a right to select or reject any story offered him.

Radio Sweetheart Signs

While "Radioland's Sweetheart," which is the title of Jean Lang, may continue occasionally to warble over the air for the delectation of the fans, it seems likely that her work will be confined pretty much from now on to talking pictures.

Miss Lang, who was signed for a specialty or two in Paul Whiteman's Universal starring vehicle, has fulfilled our prophecy of the other day by signing on a long-term contract with Universal.

It is not known what her first vehicle for the organization will be, but it is said that very fine things are being planned for her.

David Newell Leaves Lasky

That engaging young actor, David Newell, who has been giving such a fine account of himself in Paramount pictures, especially in "The Kibitzer," is finishing his contract with that organization.

Newell is to free lance, we learn. He has had much stage experience and has appeared in a number of films. His looks and personality, added to his undeniable talents, should assure him future success.

Man and Wife Sentenced for Theft Racket

Walter Michalski, 27 years of age, yesterday was sentenced to San Quentin, and his wife Stella, 19, ordered confined in the State School for Girls at Ventura until she is 21, following their pleas of guilty to seven counts of receiving stolen property. In passing sentence Superior Judge Shields denied the couple the privilege of filing a petition for probation.

Michalski and his wife operated a store at 7930 Santa Monica Boulevard, which they stocked with nearly $5000 worth of merchandise shoplifted from downtown department stores. Originally they were charged with burglary, which was reduced at the request of the District Attorney's office.

APPAREL MEN TO MEET

Dr. Florence May Norse of the school of merchandising of the University of Southern California will address the meeting of the Los Angeles Apparel Manufacturers on "Spring Style Fashion Merchandising," at the Biltmore next Monday at 10 a.m.

"AVIATOR" TAKES AIR IN COMEDY

Edward Everett Horton's Latest is All About Man Afraid of High Places

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

The intermittent Edward Everett Horton pops up again at the Hollywood film palace of the Warner Brothers, this time in a talking version of James Montgomery's "The Aviator." So modernized is it that its own father, looking upon it now across a span of twenty years, would see only the faintest resemblance to his brainchild. Like "The Hottentot," the present vehicle places Mr. Horton in the inescapable and awkward position of a fellow who, deemed an expert in his line, really knows nothing whatever about it. And so, in the evolution of things, he occupies a cockpit instead of a saddle.

The film bears all evidence of having been made in a hurry. But that it abounds in technical errors is of less importance to the man in the street than that it also abounds in laughs. Not, it is true, laughs with thought behind them—just the laughs inspired by the spectacle of a novice in aeronautics petrified in the seat of a plane which, like the perverse and unmanageable steed in "The Hottentot," is doing everything in its power to send him as speedily as may be to Kingdom Come.

Mr. Horton is cast in the role of Robert Street, a writer of best sellers who is not above lending his name to a book whose writing he had nothing to do with. As a consequence, he finds himself hailed as a public hero, while the sales total of the book, "The Aviator," continues to climb into the thousands. A challenge from a French "ace" to a test for supremacy in stunt flying provides the nucleus for a peck of trouble, with Mr. Horton, his honor and "the one girl" at stake, quite the center of it.

This is the story; and if you know your Horton, you will be able to visualize the combination of the two. Armand Kaliz, Lee Moran, Johnny Arthur and Pasty Ruth Miller support the star. Miss Miller has one scene with him, a close-up, which takes the 1930 prize for unbroken footage.

Robert Lord and Arthur Caesar are the typewriter experts who brought "The Aviator" up to date, and Roy Del Ruth directed.

The short subjects currently on display include "Always Faithful," a dramatic sketch with Blanche Sweet, one of the loveliest figures that ever graced a silver sheet, in a brief portrayal; and a Potter-family episode which misses fire.

'Eternal Song' Costars Two Noted Players

BY JACOB COOPER

It would be extremely hard to label the production which was given last night at the Belasco Theater, headed by Jacob Berlin and Mollie Cohn. At best, "The Eternal Song" can be called a dramatic operetta, employing a recurrent leitmotif, (known in modern times as a theme song) which emphasizes the message of the play.

Basing its plot on the recent unpleasant happenings in Palestine, it opens with a simple, allegorical prologue depicting the Eternal Exile which the Jew meets wherever he goes.

From then on, two kaleidoscopic acts bring alternate snatches of comedy, pathos, chorus and solo dancing, ditto singing with the addition of duets and quartets. It was really surprising how creditably this potpourri was held together so that one could not lose sight of the idea Jacob Berlin, as writer, producer, director and principal, wished to put over.

If the worth of a production is judged according to its reception, then "The Eternal Song" was a signal success; for the vociferous applause of the audience followed each portion of this presentation.

This production will be given another performance tonight, and will be followed by "Manke From Odessa" Sunday matinee and evening.

Principals in 'Rio Rita' Win Added Laurels

Three of the principal male factors in the success of "Rio Rita," current attraction at the Carthay Circle Theater, are scoring new honors.

Luther Reed, who adapted and directed "Rio Rita," is receiving congratulations on "Dear Me," his New York stage success now being shown locally. Robert Woolsey, comedian in "Rio Rita," has revised and completed the book on "Who Cares," which goes into the George M. Cohan Theater in New York soon.

Harry Tierney, author of the music of "Rio Rita," has about finished the songs for "Dixiana." He also has received an offer from London which would require his services there to write the music for a talking picture to be produced with an English cast.

Bert Wheeler and Dorothy Lee, the singing, dancing comedians in "Rio Rita," are being paired again in "Radio Rambles" by Radio Pictures. Reports from all parts of the country state that the Wheeler-Lee number, "Sweetheart We Need Each Other," was the outstanding song hit of all the "Rio Rita" numbers during December.

LYRICIST SIGNED

French theatergoers will not only see and hear a complete French version of Maurice Chevalier's forthcoming starring production, "The Big Pond," but they will hear Chevalier sing typically French lyrics in the songs which are to be featured in the picture. To insure the authentic French quality in the song lyrics, Paramount has summoned Jacques Bataille-Henri, noted Parisian lyricist, to join the staff of the Long Island studio during the filming of the production.

Producer-Actor Returns to Stage

Henry Duffy and Dale Winter

Will co-star in "The Cat and the Canary," a mystery drama at the President Theater starting tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Duffy are well known in eastern as well as western play centers.

GALA PREMIERE PLANNED

Screen patrons will have the opportunity Monday of seeing seventy-seven noted screen players in a single picture, when Warner Brothers' all-color revue, "Show of Shows," opens at the Downtown Theater. A gala premiere, with lights and stars, will usher in the spectacular revue, said to be the most elaborate ever filmed.

Among the players in the film are John Barrymore, Frank Fay, Richard Barthelmess, Beatrice Lillie, Ted Lewis, Alice White, Winnie Lightner, Irene Bordoni, Dolores Costello, Sally O'Neil, Alexander Gray, Loretta Young, Ben Turpin, Lloyd Hamilton, Betty Compson, Patsy Ruth Miller, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Myrna Loy, Marian Nixon and Rin-Tin-Tin.

Twenty-five stage numbers make up the show, which is photographed entirely in natural colors, and which boasts many song hits and colorful dancing numbers.

PARAMOUNT BOOKS NEW PICTURES

'Love Parade' Outstanding Attraction in Schedule of Films for New Year

What is said to be the supreme achievement of talking pictures, "The Love Parade," Paramount's screen musical romance with the French star, Maurice Chevalier, has been booked for the Paramount Theater. This picture, which is considered as the masterpiece of Ernst Lubitch, the director, will definitely open during the latter part of January.

MAURICE CHEVALIER

The Paramount Theater is starting the 1930 season with some outstanding attractions, it is said. Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorifying the American Girl," is now playing. Mary Eaton is seen in the leading role. Following this, Ruth Chatterton will be seen in "The Laughing Lady," supported by Clive Brook. Another outstanding attraction which will be presented during the early part of this month is "Seven Days' Leave." This is Gary Cooper's latest picture.

"The Love Parade" is declared to be the finest production yet shown on the screen. It is not unlike a light operetta and is full of humor, song and romance. Jeanette MacDonald has the leading feminine role. In the supporting cast are Lupino Lane and Lillian Roth.

Martha Hedman Sees Own Role at El Capitan

One of the interested spectators at a recent performance of "The Boomerang" was Martha Hedman, noted actress, who went to El Capitan to watch Kay Hammond's performance of Virginia Xelva, the role Miss Hedman created and acted during the 522 performances of the play under David Belasco's management on Broadway.

Miss Hedman and her husband, Henry Arthur House, are spending several months on the Coast. After the performance the actress went backstage to congratulate Miss Hammond on her performance.

At the time "The Boomerang" was produced in New York, Tom Moore, who has the role of the physician, was offered the part, but was under a contract for motion pictures and was unable to accept. Ben Lyon, who is Bud Woodbridge, the lovesick youth, acted the role in the East before coming to the Coast for pictures.

Profuse Talent Will Appear at Midnight Show

For the first 1930 Hollywood midnight frolic at Grauman's Chinese Theater tonight, an all-star show has been planned in keeping with the theater's New Year's resolution to present larger and better late shows.

Betty Lou Webb, direct from the East, will head this show and will act as mistress of ceremonies, introducing from the stage Carita, Spanish toe dancer; the Six Candreva Brothers, dancing cornetists; Goepez and Duffy, comedy duo; the Diehl Sisters, crooning harmony singers, and Alfred Brower, Russian dancer.

Twenty-four dancing Sun-Kist beauties will present several routines of dance steps. The all-star stage show will precede the regular showing of Samuel Goldwyn's production, "Condemned," starring Ronald Colman with Ann Harding, now in its fifth week at the Chinese.

SIBERIAN PRISON TERRORS DEPICTED

Filmarte Screens Russian Film; Photographic Technique Outstanding

BY ELENA BOLAND

The latest offering from Amkino of Russia is "In Old Siberia," now at the Filmarte. It is a picture without a story, yet it is an interesting one. For the first time, Russia has turned from a war theme and in its place uses the equally cheery subject of Siberian prison terrors. However, there is more humor in this than in almost any other Russian film that has been shown out here, at least. It occurs in the latter portions of the picture, and is of the style expected from the Chauve Souris, broad caricature, invariably coarsening as it attains somewhat of a climax.

With every importation, Russia's progress in picture-making becomes more evident. Her technique is growing even and sure. Particularly in photography is the advance most distinguishable. The subtle changing of the camera at the very beginning is unusually effective. As customary, it is employed more as a medium of suggestion than as a portrayer of actual happening.

In place of a story, a series of conditions is exposed. Of course, those conditions are supposed to have existed only during the imperial reigns. The two forces in a Siberian prison are the official staff as opposed to two classes of prisoners, the criminals and the politicals. With these latter occurs all the conflict. Deftly, through little touches, is shown the officials' fear of these politicals, even though they be prisoners, then the inhuman glee obtained through tormenting them.

The new warden, a dandified hypocrite, tries to smother his inferiority complex by posing as a holy terror. There is a mutiny and a night of death as he enforces his authority. It is well done. Finally, the noble prisoners go on a hunger strike and their sufferings are contrasted to the bourgeoisie celebration of the warden's birthday.

Herein, begins the comedy and, when that is over, ends nearly all the picture's worth. Except for a moment or two depicting the prisoners' reactions, nothing happens but a stagey saving of the whole bastile by government command.

Performances are of high quality. Principally, are those of V. Taskin, the warden who is overflowing with the essence of the theater. Then there is A. Zhilinsky, the spokesman for the politicals, an actor of fine restraint, and V. Popoff, who gives much as an obsequious petty officer.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Vagabond" is the comedy relief on this week's bill. This is one of his earliest films, featuring; also, Edna Purviance, and it is still funny.

"Lost Zeppelin" Proves Popular

Breaking all previous records at the Million Dollar Theater, "The Lost Zeppelin," Tiffany's story of the South Pole dirigible flight, is establishing itself as a fine screen attraction, according to an announcement.

Conway Tearle, Virginia Valli and Ricardo Cortez are seen in three principal roles of "The Lost Zeppelin," directed by Edward Sloman. Aviation enthusiasts are prominent among the patrons of the theater, with many notable flyers among those attending.

SAM WREN RETURNS FROM LONG JOURNEY

Sam Wren, young American actor who has arrived in Los Angeles after eighteen months in Australia and New Zealand, found time to make several trips to the interior of the islands, and has copious notes of what he saw there. He will use this material in a humorous booklet upon which he is now at work. In Australia, Wren was featured by the Williamsons in "Laff That Off," in a revival of "It Pays to Advertise," and in "The Patsy."

ROLE COMPLETED

Alec. B. Francis has just completed his feature role in "The Case of Sargeant Grischa" for R.-K.-O., which rounds out a busy year for the actor.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

"Journey's End," the English war play by R. C. Sherriff, arrives at the Belasco Theater two weeks from tomorrow, or on the 19th inst. It follows, then, at that theater, the Stratford-upon-Avon English Shakespeare players, who are limiting their stay to two weeks.

Interestingly enough, the company which brings "Journey's End" here was recruited in England. It was cast and rehearsed in London and launched in Cardiff, Wales, on August 6, where it played three weeks before embarking for America. Montreal, the major cities of Canada, Seattle and San Francisco, where it is now stopping, have thus far been on its itinerary.

A report from San Francisco from one who also saw the play in New York is that in some respects this is a much more interesting troupe.

"Bambina" to Erlanger House

The new musical production, "Bambina," which Samuel C. Blum is fathering and which is scheduled to start on its way in San Francisco at the Curran Theater on the 13th inst., will be seen here at either Erlanger's Mason or Biltmore theaters, Blum said yesterday. Presently plans are to bring the show to town about the end of February.

"Bambina," as may be remembered, is the new Nancy Welford starring vehicle. So far, Al St. John, Marie Wells, Ernest Wood, Wilbur Evans and Laurel Nemeth have the principal roles and the business of rehearsal is going forward at a merry gait right here in Los Angeles.

One More Week for Horton

The last week of Edward Everett Horton's sophisticated comedy, "Among the Married," at the Majestic starts today. A week from tonight, Mr. Horton and his cast will take their final bows.

Contrary to various rumors, "Among the Married" is not going to San Francisco. With the close of the show here, Edward Everett concludes for the time being his theatrical activities, and, it must be remarked, he does so in "a blaze of glory." For "Among the Married" has been a box-office smash and has done better business than any of his plays since the popular "The Swan."

Doris Lloyd, who mastered her lines between the hour of 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the first curtain, 8:30 o'clock that night, will finish the play run for Mary Astor.

An Amazing Garbo Double

There is one judges from a glimpse of some photographs arriving in advance of "Chauve Souris," due at the Mason on the 13th inst., a young lady in Nikita Balieff's extraordinary dramatic entourage, who bears an amazing resemblance to Greta Garbo. Her name is Elena Komisarjevski, and she, a Russian by birth, is one of Balieff's most gifted performers. She dances, sings, and is rather good at pantomime. The particular specialty in which she has the most to do is entitled "The Knife Grinder."

About Donald Ogden Stewart

From New York comes word that Arthur Hopkins's next production will be a comedy by Donald Ogden Stewart, who is pretty well known in these parts. In connection with the report also comes an anecdote about Hopkins which runs as follows: "Mr. Hopkins, a play producer who takes his reverses less seriously than most men, believes that the remedy for one is immediate concentration on another play. That being the case, he probably found amusement in the telegram that Mr. Woods dispatched to him on the opening night of 'Half Gods.' Mr. Woods, it may be remembered, has enjoyed a quartet of failures this season, nor has Mr. Hopkins been much more fortunate. 'Hope you don't beat my record, sweetheart,' ran Mr. Woods's amiable wire."

Gregory Ratoff in New Play

Also from the East comes a tale that Gregory Ratoff, who produced and enacted "Kibitzer" not so long ago at the Mason Theater, will be in a new play by George Kaiser soon to come forth on the boards. Kaiser was the author of the Guild's "From Morn to Midnight." Thomas Van Dycke, one time newspaper man and later publicity man for Gilbert Miller, is the producer.

Takes Shakespeare "Straight"

Joseph Cawthorn, actor of the pictures, who has had a versatile career, says he had a new experience when he played Gremio, in "The Taming of the Shrew" now at the United Artists Theater. He played Shakespeare straight for the first time in his life, although many's the time he has burlesqued it. One of his skits, when he was a musical comedy king pin, was termed "Abbreviating Shakespeare" and in it he played Hamlet, a famous grave digger who talked too much. Sometimes, too, he did Shylock, Caesar and Macbeth. This all started, he says, in the town of Toledo, O.

'Chicago' Next Lincoln Drama

"Chicago," the noted play by Maurine Watkins, will be the next offering of the colored Lafayette Players at the Lincoln Theater, opening Monday. Evelyn Preer will essay the role of the jazz murderess, Roxie Hart.

"Harlem Scandals," the all-colored revue featuring Nina Mae McKinney, will close Sunday night.

Belasco Offers "Eternal Song"

Tonight at the Belasco Theater the popular Jewish stars, Mollie Cohan and Jack Berlin, will be seen for the last time in the comedy, "Eternal Song."

Sunday afternoon and evening the pair will present "Manke From Odessa," which is considered one of their best starring vehicles.

BROADWAY, INC., TELLS PROFITS

Local Department Store in Annual Report

Statement Shows $623,565 Net for Period

Sales Total Slightly Under Previous Year

Broadway Department Store, Inc., in its report for the fiscal year ended October 31, last, which was released yesterday by Malcolm McNaghten, president, showed operating profits of $623,565.99 after providing for debenture interest, depreciation and Federal income taxes as compared with $615,870.95 for the previous year. Against the year's profits, however, there was charged $142,008.92, representing extraordinary expenses incurred in connection with the refixturing and altering of the store, leaving a balance of $481,557.07 available for dividends, a decrease of $134,113.88 from the previous year.

Sales for the year amounted to $18,993,872.85 as compared with $19,491,467.54 for the previous year. The carrying out of the program of improvements, which began in June and was completed in October, constituted a handicap in the maintenance of normal sales operations, the report pointed out.

With the completion of the changes, the report continued, the directors are confident that favorable business during the current year will accrue as a result of the improvement, November and December sales already having shown an increase over the previous year.

IMPROVEMENT COSTS

The cost of the improvements was $625,222.94 and of this sum $769,222.21 was capitalized and $142,008.92 was charged to the year's profits.

Interest on the $2,631,500 debentures then outstanding was earned approximately 4½ times for the year. During the year debentures of a par value of $131,500 were purchased and canceled, making a total of $378,500, which have been canceled since the incorporation of the company three years ago, and leaving outstanding as of October 31, last, a balance of $2,631,900. At the same time $97,300 par value first preferred stock was purchased and canceled, leaving outstanding as of October 31, last, $2,718,000 7 per cent cumulative first preferred stock. Common stock of value outstanding numbered 116,841 shares including 2787 shares reserved to meet warrants exercised.

POSITION STRONG

The corporation is financially in a strong position with net tangible assets of $6,815,100.79 and net current assets of $4,493,837.03, the report stated. Surplus as shown by the balance sheet at the close of the fiscal year was $1,164,353.08, an increase of $194,860.57 over the $969,492.49 shown at the close of the 1928 fiscal year.

In practically all departments throughout the store, repairs and alterations were made to bring about a better co-ordination of departments, the report stated. New store fronts and windows were installed on Broadway and Fourth street, a mezzanine was constructed on the main floor, new offices were built on the eighth floor and structural alterations were made on the ninth and tenth floors to provide for a new employees' cafeteria and rest room, and for new work shops and receiving and marking rooms. The street floor was completely refixtured and the fourth floor partially refixtured.

Capital Boost Proposed for Espee System

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Directors of the Southern Pacific Railway today recommended a 2,000,000-share increase in the authorized common stock to provide additional capital stock for issuance when needed to provide funds for expansion and improvement.

The directors adopted a resolution requesting the stockholders to approve the increase at their regular annual meeting April 9.

It was explained the company does not plan to make any present use of the additional stock, or to offer stockholders subscription rights at this time. The increase is proposed merely to give the company additional authorized capital to fortify it against future needs.

There are outstanding approximately 3,700,000 shares of $100 par capital stock. The additional shares proposed would also be of $100 par value.

CASH SIGNIFICANT ITEM

Number of Dividend Omissions Stresses Importance of Watching Supply of Funds on Hand

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Cash position is the item in financial statements that stockholders and prospective investors should watch at this time. Book value, surplus, investment return on selling price, operating ratio and the numerous other popular yardsticks are all subordinated during this period of readjustment by the simple fundamental of cash on hand.

Nearly every day brings a scattering number of announcements of dividends passed or reduced. About the only warning the stockholder can watch for is the statement of cash position, or the amount of funds the corporation has available for the next dividend or the next two dividends. If cash is off substantially from the previous quarter or from other quarters in the last year, it is time to think of what will follow.

SUPPLY CONSERVED

When cash gets dangerously low most corporations, instead of depending on current earnings or relying on bank loans to tide over the rough spot, will take action to conserve the supply on hand. Current bills must be met first, after which stockholders are entitled to consideration.

Companies in poor cash positions at this time are not necessarily reflecting unsatisfactory business conditions or marking themselves as candidates for receivership. The cause is generally found in the unwise allocation of too large a proportion of earnings to finance expansion, the payment of larger cash dividends than warranted by normal earnings, unsatisfactory collections on merchandise, inventory troubles, etc.

The first and second reasons are probably more applicable than any of the others. Scores of corporations found it so easy to finance expansion out of earnings in the last few years that little thought was given to the necessity for building up a cash reserve against the time when earnings might decline. Like a good many people in the stock market who accepted the "new economic era" theory, the belief was entertained by many corporate managements that earnings of corporations had entered on a permanently rising trend.

SHARES MULTIPLIED

Besides drawing heavily on earnings for expansion purposes, many corporations called too heavily upon stockholders for capital by the simple expedient of offering subscription rights. The result has been, in the instances where the possibility of lower earnings was not taken into calculation, that dividend payments on the increased number of shares outstanding are proving too heavy a burden.

To fortify cash position and strengthen the ratio of current assets to current liabilities, corporations that were able to proceed in 1929 without bank loans will probably be borrowers this year. It will not be so easy to raise money through the stock market, which means that the banks again will be doing a profitable business for a time, at least, in commercial loans to corporate borrowers.

On the other side of the picture are hundreds of corporate managements that prudently built up cash over normal requirements, established reserves for contingencies or dividend payments, and insisted upon the maintenance of a strong liquid position at all costs. These are the corporations that show up the best now and which merit the attention of the new crop of investment buyers.

Cotton Ginned to December 1 Off in Quality

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—This year's cotton crop ginned prior to December 1 was reported today by the Department of Agriculture to be "rather low in grade and short in staple."

Of the 12,840,962 bales ginned to December 1, a total of 10,040,000 bales or 78.2 per cent is tenderable in settlement of contracts made under the Cotton Futures Act. Of tenderable cotton 8,664,200 bales or 67.3 per cent of the total upland cotton ranged in staple from 7-8 inch to 1 1-32 inches inclusive and 1,395,800 bales were over 1 1-32 inches in staple. Upland cotton considered untenderable totaled 2,801,000 bales or 21.8 per cent of the ginnings.

Of the total ginnings of upland 8,939,900 bales or 69.6 per cent were white in color and middling or better in grade. The proportions of other grades were:

Strict low and low middling 16.4 per cent; below low middling 112,500 bales were reported; spotted and yellow tinged 10.1 per cent; light yellow, stained yellow, gray and blue stained 7700 bales.

California Bank Lengthens Chain

NEW RADIO REPORTED

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—C. B. Smith, president of Stewart-Warner Corporation, today said there may be some foundation to the report that the company has developed a tubeless radio, but he denied there was any basis to a rumor that the company's radio division is to be merged with other concerns.

STATUS OF WOOL MART UNCHANGED

Weekly Survey Reports Trade Dull With Prices at Old Levels

BOSTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

Most wool houses have found the market slow this week. Demand has continued to focus chiefly on fine and half-blood wools at prices showing little or no change.

Foreign markets are mostly closed down. The colonial markets resumed the post-holiday sales on Monday. Interest will be keen to discern the trend of values at that time.

Stocks in Boston and in the country are not excessive and generally regarded as less than last year. Manufacturers report a healthy market for goods, with no surplus stocks of manufactured goods sufficiently large to be bothersome.

Mohair is dull and nominally quotable at 50 cents for original bag Texas hair of good quality.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to January 2, 1930, inclusive, were 913,000 pounds against 927,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to January 2, 1930, inclusive, were 29,500 pounds against 122,600 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin tomorrow will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Texas, fine 12 months (selected), 97@98; fine, staple 12 months, 95@97; fine 8 months, 92@94; fine, California, Northern, 72@73; middle county, 70@71; southern, 70@71; Oregon, fine and staple, 73@75; fine and fine medium, 72@73; Valley No. 1, 72@73; fine, 64@66; fine, 8-blood, combing, 70@72.

Pulled: Delaine, AA, 85@90; A, 78@80; B, 80@82; C, 71@73; fine, 8-blood, 70@72.

Mohair: Domestic, good original bag Texas spring, 52; good original Texas kid, 70@75; Arizona and New Mexico, 48@50; Oregon, domestic grading, first combing, 60@62; good carding, 55@57.

Foreign, carpet, firm; nominal; summer grade, 23@25; cape summer kids, 60@62; Turkey, fair average, 38@40.

Weekly Survey Sees Signs of Trade Revival

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

Revival of business from the setback of recent months has been more in prospect than in actual achievement, yet this was to be expected. Time will be required for recovery from the recession, and the first few days of a year seldom bring any change of deep significance. It is evident, however, that there is a more confident feeling in most quarters, and sentiment regarding the more distant future is plainly marked by optimism. What has lately happened is of less importance now than what is likely to occur, and 1930 begins with most of the fundamentals favorable to ultimate renewed expansion. The specific developments this week, if lacking particular feature, were not without encouragement in some instances, and among the hopeful signs was the steadier price undertone in various leading commodities.

Weekly bank clearings $10,869,681,000, a decrease of 22.9 per cent from last year.

INITIAL DECLARED

FINANCE CHIEFS MAKE SACRIFICE

Reynolds Brothers Donate Huge Stock Block to Investment Trust

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—R. S. and C. K. Reynolds, who control Reynolds Brothers, Inc., an investment trust, have donated to the company 1,000,000 shares of their personal holdings of the stock for retirement, it was announced today.

This will increase the asset value behind each share of stock, reducing the total number of shares from 2,583,334 to 1,583,334. Reynolds Brothers own all of the stock except 250,000 shares sold to the public recently. The announcement stated that an investigation of the company's holdings has satisfied the management they are sound.

This action is similar to that taken in the case of certain other investment trusts, stock of which declined drastically in the recent market collapse. Reynolds Brothers declined from a high of $18 a share to $4 and closed today at $6.25.

REVIEW OF PAST YEAR NOTES GAIN

Security-First National's Survey Describes 1929 as Generally Prosperous

With many of the factors contributing to the economic structure of this region showing increases for the past year over 1928, the year was a moderately prosperous one in Los Angeles and Southern California generally, despite the financial readjustment that took place during the latter part of the period, according to the monthly summary of business conditions issued yesterday by the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles.

Check transactions, which, according to the summary, is one of the best single measures of business activity increased 13.4 per cent in Los Angeles during the year, compared with the preceding year. Figures available from seven other Southern California cities up to December 24, last, showed that six out of the seven reported increases in check transactions. The summary continues in part:

Activity in the industrial and manufacturing field, as measured by sales of electrical energy for industrial use, was approximately 20 per cent greater during 1929 than during 1928. Petroleum production established a new high figure during the year, exceeding the former high record output in 1923 by about 11 per cent. The petroleum industry, however, has suffered from overproduction, although recent attempts to bring about a better balance between supply and demand have proved partly successful. The building industry operated at a slightly lower level during 1929 compared with 1928.

Agriculture experienced a good year in Southern California during 1929 despite the fact that the yields of many crops were smaller than in 1928. Prices of agricultural products in general were higher during 1929 than in the previous year, which more than made up for the smaller yields.

Time Extended for Conversion of Neon Stock

Preferred stock of Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., of Delaware, which was convertible into common on the basis of two shares of preferred for one of common until the 1st inst., will be convertible until July 1, next, into common at the rate of two and one-half preferred shares for one common share under the conversion terms as previously announced.

Otto L. Little, vice-president of the company, yesterday said that as of December 20, last, there were outstanding 1285 preferred shares of the old Arizona corporation and 17,880 preferred shares of the Delaware corporation. At the time the Arizona corporation was taken over by the Delaware company, there were 60,000 shares of $20 par value preferred stock outstanding.

The consolidation of the Electrical Products Corporation of Oregon was effective as of the 2nd inst. Negotiations for the merger of the Electrical Products Corporation of Washington are now awaiting the Washington company's 1929 report, which is expected to be ready within the next two weeks. It is anticipated that this consolidation will be effected by April 1, next.

Doubling of Air Travel Business Registered Here

Reflecting the rapid growth in air travel in Southern California and the Southwest in the past year, Aero Corporation of California yesterday reported that the total number of passengers carried in 1929 numbered 25,177 as compared with 11,663 in the previous year. The figures include both passengers carried locally and by the Standard Airlines, Inc., subsidiary of Aero Corporation.

Standard Airlines, Inc., during 1928 carried a total of 980 passengers in operating a triweekly service to Tucson, Ariz.; while in 1929 with its service expanded to provide daily schedules to El Paso, Tex., the company's passengers numbered 3508.

The number of student flights during 1928 and 1929 aggregated 16,936. The total mileage flown during 1929 was 422,170 miles bringing the grand total to date to 550,550 miles.

New Financing Gains in Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (Exclusive) New financing for the week closed today aggregated $12,011,000, of which $7,000,000 was in stocks and $5,011,000 in bonds, against $6,950,000 entirely bonds for the preceding week, it was announced here today.

This compares with new financing for the week ended January 4, 1929, which totaled $48,693,500. This was divided into bonds, $35,693,500 and stocks, $10,730,000.

RESOURCES MOUNT FOR LOAN SOCIETY

Resources of the Pacific Coast Building-Loan Association increased $1,537,777 during 1929 to $6,822,773, A. A. Anderson, secretary and manager, announced yesterday. The company was organized four and one-half years ago and has reached its present position unaided by merger or consolidation, Mr. Anderson pointed out. Interest and dividends paid last year amounted to $407,429.

ECONOMIC CHANGE NOTABLE

Industrial Management Shifting Into Fewer Hands and Stock Ownership by Public Broadening

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—While the management of industry seems to be concentrating more and more into fewer and fewer hands, the ownership of industry is spreading into more and more hands.

The stockholders' record of General Motors illustrates this impressively. Twelve years ago this company had 1927 stockholders. Before the year was over 1000 had been added. Ten years ago the number had increased in the first quarter of the year to 8012. This number again was increased during the year by more than 10,000, the year closing with 18,314 stockholders.

It is not necessary to give the figures for growth for each year since then, but every year shows a large increase, with the exception of 1925 and 1926. The year 1928 had a slight decrease, beginning with 72,916 and closing with 71,185.

But 1929, spectacular in so many ways, probably will break the record when the figures are all in by showing that more stockholders are registered on the books of American corporations today than ever before.

General Motors started the year with 105,963 stockholders. It closed with an increase of almost 100 per cent. The latest figures available, those of November 23, show a total of 196,600.

Common stocks are more widely held now than before the smash of November.

Investors who have cash in the bank and are anxious to go slow at this particular time might consider railroad preferred stock as worth real consideration.

There are many who wish a little higher rate than can be had from high-grade bonds and who can at this time, by careful search, pick out unusually attractive railroad preferred stock.

Railroads are the circulating medium of business activity. They are a necessary part of the economic and social life of the country. Any interruption in their activities would completely demoralize the business of every other activity. That is why railroad car loadings are watched very carefully as one of the important yardsticks in measuring business activity.

Undoubtedly the new year will show some decrease in railroad earnings. Business is not likely to be maintained, on an average, at the high levels of 1929. But enough business is in sight now to warrant the assumption, in many cases, that preferred stocks of high-grade railroad corporations present some of the most desirable investment offerings at the beginning of this year.

How much will railroad revenues drop during the year? Well, during the 1920-1921 depression in business, railroad gross revenues were reduced on the whole 10.7 per cent. It is not likely that they will show much over 6 or 7 per cent as a maximum in 1930. If this figure is anywhere near correct the preferred stock of certain railroad corporations is and will continue to be an excellent purchase.

Submarine Boat Concern Put in Receiver Hands

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—The Irving Trust Company and Henry R. Sutphin today were appointed receivers in equity for the Submarine Boat Company, which has been petitioned into receivership both in Newark, N. J., and San Francisco. The company maintains offices in both those cities and New York.

The petitioning corporation was the Hazelmont Corporation of Delaware, which also filed the petitions in New Jersey and California. It alleged that the defendant corporation owed it $3568.01 for hire of vessels.

Liabilities of the Submarine Boat Company as of December 17, last, are set forth as approximately $3,240,000, and assets as $4,772,550. The defendant company in its answer admitted the allegations in the complaint and joined in the petition for the appointment of receivers in equity.

The Submarine Boat Company's answer said that although the assets of the defendant largely exceed its liabilities and the defendant "has not on hand sufficient money to meet current obligations and it is unable to obtain sufficient money to meet immediately maturing obligations; also that "forced and immediate liquidation would work incalculable and irreparable injury."

Net of Reserve Bank Group Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Gross earnings of the twelve Federal Reserve banks for 1929 amounted to $70,955,000, or about $6,900,000 more than for the previous year, the Federal Reserve Board announced today.

Current expenses amounted to $28,690,000, or about $3,785,000 more than for 1928. After providing the necessary reserve for depreciation, losses, etc., the reserve banks had net earnings of $36,403,000.

Wheat Futures Turn Up After Early Setback

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (AP)—Despite late advices today that Russian wheat exports were become a reality, the wheat market strengthened up in the final dealings, recovering earlier losses. Buying to cover on previous speculative selling was largely responsible for the rally, notwithstanding evidence that Russia had cleared of at least one export cargo of wheat today, the purchase going to Genoa, Italy. North American wheat export business today was moderate, but St. Louis shipping said No. 2 red wheat for immediate delivery is commanding the highest premium yet this season.

Unless closing quotations on wheat futures were irregular, ranging from 1/8c decline to an equal advance, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed 4@4¼c down, oats unchanged to ¼c off and provisions varied from 2@5c decline to a rise of 5c.

Unless the late recovery in wheat prices came, the market here sagged to 5¼c a bushel under yesterday's top level. The principal immediate cause of the drop was a sharp break in wheat quotations at Liverpool, where the bearish action of North American markets yesterday in response to talk of probable competition from Russia appeared to be a leading influence. However, something of an offset to the news that Australian and Argentine wheat shipments for the week are unusually meager, and that Australian crop harvest returns, now virtually complete, point to an exportable surplus in excess of not to exceed 50,000,000 bushels.

Advices further to bring about an upward swing today toward the last in Chicago wheat prices were prospects that total world shipments of wheat this week will be small.

Corn and oats averaged lower with wheat. Shortage of terminal market storage room for corn was also given attention as a bearish factor.

Provisions derived firmness from upturn in the value of hogs.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Mixed Fluctuations Rule on Dull Stock Session as Traders Withhold Operations

The irregularities of a confusing New York market were reflected in an unsettled trading session yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The small volume of the day's business indicated a disposition on the part of traders to mark time and await developments. No definite trend of prices was established and when the bell closed the session a mixed array of fractional changes appeared on the board.

Byron Jackson Pump was one of the strong spots, advancing 1 5-8 points on a brisk demand to end at 19 3-8. Signs of accumulation in this issue have been in evidence for the past few days.

Richfield led the activity, but closed unchanged for the day at 24 3-4. Rio Grande was the second most active and firmed up 3-8 to 18 3-4. No official confirmation was given to rumors of a merger. Pacific Western advanced 3-4 to 13 3-4 and Union Associates, 3-8 to 44 5-8.

Transamerica continued a brisk trader but eased off 3-8 to 42 5-8. Security-First National, however, rallied a point to 112, and Citizens' National added 1-4 to end at 112 1-4. Pacific Finance dropped 1⅛ to 38½ on light sales and Pacific American Fire Insurance fell off a point to 53.

Western Air Express was traded at 22, off 3 points from its last sale here. Aviation Corporation of California rallied 1-4 to 6 and Aero Corporation held steady to 1.75. Douglas Aircraft spurted 3-4 to 13 3-4.

Sales totaled 16,233 shares valued at $411,876; previous day, 23,008 shares valued at $517,876.

CATTLE—On a rather limited supply the steers were active and firm at this week's advance, while others did not receive the prompt action of the preceding days, although a clearance was made at practically steady values. Quality as a rule was not up to the standard of the first days of the period, and but 6 cars carrying weights over 1,400 pounds were on hand. Three cars steerer and feeder steers were taken for country account. Choice 1,000 pound to 1,100 pound Utah steers ranged at 11.25@11.40; load 1,110-pound top medium grade, 11.50; and two loads California, 10.85. Two loads 1,060-pound Arizona steers were taken out at 11.25, and a load plain Arizona Mexicans, 7.50.

Fleshy cows and heifers were in small supply, although odd head lots were numerous, the bulk making 5.50@6.50; weighty fair type heifers, 6.75@7.50. Common grades ranged downward to 4.75 and low cutters and cutters mostly 4.00@5.00. Bulls, 6.00@6.50; vealers, 9.50, both the bulk sealed at 7.00@8.50.

CALVES—The market continued firm, a 1,270 small number milk feeders making 10.00 and a load medium 234-pound Arizonas, 11.75; odd lots culls and common at a range of 7.50@11.00.

HOGS—The short supply changed hands promptly at mostly 10@15c higher, with 180 to 250 pound Colorado and Utah butchers making 11.75 and a few mixed grades 25c higher. Sows and stags were steady to 25c lower, the former mostly 10.50 and packing sows, 9.50.

SHEEP—None. Quotably unchanged.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Of the fifteen new completions brought in at Santa Fe Springs between December 16 and 31, inclusive, five were 8000 feet or better in depth, eight were below 7900 feet in depth, two were brought in from the O'Connell sand at about 6800 feet, while the others were finished in the Clarke sands.

According to the report of Umpleby Paul Grimm, the Superior Oil Company's Wardman No. 4 led the December list in potential output. It put out 8060 barrels of oil a day, but has since been beaned down. The Union Oil Company's Alexander No. 49, with an initial flow of 7000 barrels, and the company's Bell No. 46 with 6600 barrels daily were next, while the Texas Company's Weaver No. 6 was next with 6000 barrels a day.

The smallest producer from the lower Clarke sand, listed in the latest report, is the Ambassador Petroleum Company's Baker No. 15, which came in for about 425 barrels of oil a day. The Shell Oil Company's S. E. K. No. 14 was good for about 3000 barrels a day from the O'Connell sand and the Standard Oil Company's Walker No. 12 put out approximately 100 barrels a day from the O'Connell sand.

Pauline Grimm's report shows that the December production at Santa Fe Springs was 5,119,850 barrels, with a daily average of 165,156 barrels for the month. Total possible output for the month was 181,980 barrels.

Testing Near Newport

Boring obtained a small showing of oil, the Mesa Petroleum Corporation yesterday was preparing to make a production test in No. 1, near the intersection of Nineteenth and Dunlap streets at Newport Beach. The project drilled to 4910 feet, and, unable to get a successful water shut-off, was plugged back to 3400 feet, where it ran liner.

In the same general vicinity the Oil Well Engineering Company's Irvindale No. 2 has been pumping water with a showing of oil from a depth of 4600 feet. The company is preparing foundation for the derrick of its Francisco No. 1 in the Newport Beach district.

Spud In

The Richfield Oil Company recently spudded in Dieter-Golay No. 1 in the southeasterly portion of the Huntington Beach field and is drilling below 400 feet. The company has a ten-acre lease from which the Golay No. 1 is putting up about 100 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 3650 feet.

New Offices

The Lincoln Drilling Company has moved from the Quinby Building to a new suite at 1224-27 Security Title Insurance Building, 530 West Sixth street, according to announcement by company officials. The organization started into business more than a year ago and now has about 3000 acres under lease, part of it in Santa Barbara county, where the company discovered some new production at Summerland, and has considerable acreage in Kern county, principally in the Buttonwillow, Lost Hills, Belridge and Semi-Tropic districts.

Other officers of the company include Robert Bering, president; C. McLaughlin, secretary; Frank L. West, vice-president and treasurer; R. J. Allen, assistant secretary and auditor.

Output Increase

The Standard Oil Company's No. 1 on Sec. 1 on the north dome of the Dominguez Hills has shown a decided increase in daily output since its completion early this week and now is producing 4065 barrels of 33-deg. gravity oil a day from a depth of 7108 feet.

It is believed that this well is flowing from the same formation discovered by the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1, which is several hundred feet distant and is offset by the new completion. The new well's gas output is estimated to be 10,000,000 cubic feet a day and is good for one and one-half gallons of gasoline per 1000 cubic feet. The entire flow is being put through the company's absorption plant.

To Recomplete

The California Well Drilling Company has pulled two and one-half inch tubing from Del Amo No. 1 without searching for an extension between the Signal Hill and Dominguez fields and will recement. Bottom of the hole is at 8500 feet and is the deepest wildcat in the world at present. It recently swabbed in wet.

Make Shallow Production

John W. Sherman has just made location to drill a wildcat on Sec. 9, T. 5 S., R. 14, in San Bernardino county. The area to be tested is about eight miles east of Olinda in Orange county and is not far from the westerly line of San Bernardino county.

For a number of years operators have tried for steady production in the same section Mr. Sherman is about to test. About a dozen projects were drilled there, from 900 to 3000 feet, and several obtained a few barrels of oil a day.

FLAXSEED MARKET

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—A revival of interest in industrial bonds led to a general upward movement in this section of the list today. Rails and utilities were slightly more mixed than yesterday, but maintained a firm position. Many of the senior loans in the carrier group worked higher.

Prospects of cheaper money brightened when call loans dropped from 6 per cent, the renewal rate, to 5 and this reduction, although without direct effect on bonds, nevertheless strengthened sentiment. Inquiry for high-grade industrials increased. At the close fair sized gains had been recorded by American Smelting 5s, Republic Iron and Steel 5½s, United States Rubber 5s and Western Electric 5s.

Secondary rails showed moderate improvement and the largest turnovers appeared in these issues. Miscellaneous railroad obligations, which finished with fractional advances included Santa Fe general 4s, Rock Island general 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s, Northern Pacific general 3s, and Union Pacific 4½s. New Haven refunding 4½s rose about a point.

Dealings in the utilities proved small and only narrow changes appeared which included American Telephone debenture 5s, New York Telephone general 4½s and New York Edison 6½s. Western Union 5s advanced 1¼ to 103, or half a point below the 1929 high.

Inquiry for foreign obligations tapered off and prices were irregular. Australian listings, British 5½s and Uruguay 6s showed an average gain of a point while a few Latin-Americans rose 1 to 3 points.

The United States government department was unusually quiet and prices declined by minute fractions.

Convertibles had an irregular day. American Telephone 4½s closed 1¼ higher. International Telephone 4½s gained a point. American International 5½s eased.

Members of the syndicate which is bringing out the $50,000,000 issue of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., 6 per cent convertible debentures reported that virtually the entire amount has been taken.

Although the loan is not to be publicly offered until next week, subscriptions from the Middle West, it was said, were double those from the East. The issue is the new year's first piece of major financing.

The accompanying represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the last, and both low and close when same as high.

LID CLAMPS ON BAY CITY JUNKET BILL

Payment of Rose Show Jaunt Costs Refused by Treasurer Matheson

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3. (Exclusive)—Challenging the legality of the $3150 Pasadena junket expenditures of eight San Francisco Supervisors, three city chauffeurs and three municipally owned automobiles, Treasurer Matheson today announced he has clamped down the lid on the payment of the Supervisors' claim until the courts have passed on the issues raised in connection with the trip.

Into the midst of the rumpus Supervisor Kent, chairman of the delegation and also head of the publicity and advertising committee, tossed his expense account for $169.90, and at the same time handed back $230.10 of the $400 he took to Pasadena.

Kent's expense account shows a $50 item for the entertainment at the Biltmore, Los Angeles, of himself and four guests at a New Year's Eve party, and a $1 taxi charge for the following morning for a trip to church for 7 o'clock services and a return to his hotel.

Auditor Boyle announced he will not pay the $50 New Year's Eve charge because the "guests entertained had nothing to do with the Pasadena Rose Tournament."

No advertising for San Francisco was involved in the New Year's Eve affair, Boyle ruled. One of the principal items of expense for Kent was that of automobile and taxi hire, in spite of the three city chauffeurs and the three great, shiny city motor cars.

INQUIRY OPENS IN NAVY BLAST

Official Board Investigating Plane Ship Tragedy

Port Waters Fail to Yield Trace of Two Bodies

One of Four Injured Seamen Believed Near Death

A naval board of inquiry yesterday began an investigation in an effort to fix responsibility for the explosion on board the U.S.S. Saratoga and the subsequent explosion in the motor launch which on Thursday afternoon killed two seamen and injured four other members of the crew of the giant airplane carrier. The board, appointed by Admiral [illegible], commanding the battle fleet, consists of Capt. E. T. Conn, U.S.S. West Virginia; Capt. A. [illegible], U.S.S. New Mexico, and Capt. C. E. Courtney, U.S.S. Tennessee, with Lieut. Talbot Smith, U.S.S. West Virginia, selected as recorder.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

The investigation is expected to continue for several days and is being conducted behind closed doors. A report on the accident which destroyed the gig valued at $25,000 and crushed the steel side of the Saratoga, will be forwarded to Washington as soon as it has been prepared, officers stated.

Search of the waters of the harbor yesterday failed to reveal any trace of the bodies of Matthew La Velle, 22 years of age, second class seaman, and Vincent V. Lalor, 29, engineer second class, who lost their lives in the blast. It is believed they went to the bottom.

THIRD MAN MAY DIE

The injured men are George Wilson Pevey, 19, seaman second class; Henry Kenfield, 24, seaman first class; Albert Lee Houston, 20, seaman second class, and B. J. [illegible], seaman second class. Ship's surgeon reported yesterday that Albert Kenfield will recover from his burns. The condition of Kenfield, they stated, is serious, his recovery being in doubt.

The crew of the Saratoga yesterday began the work of repairing the damaged side of the vessel, which was scarred for two-thirds of its length.

STORY OF MISHAP

According to Commander A. C. [illegible], chief officer of the airplane squadron, the explosion and fire which followed was caused by a blazing turpentine pot in a punt alongside the Saratoga. How the pot ignited is unknown. La Vielle, it is believed, was in the punt, being engaged in painting the hull. He used the burning turpentine pot to dry paint, which was covered with a coating from the gasoline compressor pump. Instantly there was a deafening roar as 200 gallons of gasoline in the storage tank of the squadron's gig exploded.

TEXAN GOES AHEAD WITH FLIGHT PLAN

Easterwood's Cash Up for First Hop to Dallas from Rome or Tokio

Hazards of flying on special jobs cannot prejudice straight flying or practical aviation, according to Col. William Easterwood, Dallas air enthusiast, and he will go ahead with his two $25,000 projects calling for long flights.

COL. WILLIAM EASTERWOOD

Col. Easterwood returned on the liner City of Honolulu yesterday from Hawaii, and announced the two offers stand, and that flyers can start on them any time. One is from Rome to New York to Dallas; the other from Hongkong to Tokio, Honolulu, California and Dallas.

Any one can enter, can fly any time and in any kind of plane. Twenty-five thousand dollars awaits the first to make either flight, the colonel says.

He and Mrs. Easterwood will remain at the Biltmore six weeks before proceeding to their Texas home.

COUNCIL TO LOOK OVER BELL TRACT

Location for Quarrying Project Will be Studied; Hearing to be Thursday

The City Council yesterday accepted the invitation of the Pacific Palisades Protective Committee to take a trip Wednesday afternoon to look over the terrain in the Santa Monica Mountains where Alphonzo Bell desires to establish his cement quarrying project.

Next Thursday the Council will take up, in a public hearing, Bell's request for an ordinance permitting him to establish his plant.

The invitation was extended to the Council by Thorwald Siegfried, chairman of the committee.

Some weeks ago the City Planning Commission, by a vote of three to two, approved the Bell plan.

Mrs. Margaret Collins Weston, owner of property in the Miramar Estates, yesterday registered with the Council her emphatic protest against the introduction of heavy industry in the mountains. She declared that if the territory is ruined by the invasion of the rock-crushing plant, she will consider her investment in the Miramar Estates an ill-advised one, and will make no further investments in Los Angeles, where restrictions on property are likely to be removed.

Four Federal Liens Directed at Miss Berger

While Miss J. Marjorie Berger, income-tax adviser, recently convicted on two counts of having aided and abetted in the making of false and fraudulent income-tax returns, is awaiting the outcome of her appeal to a sentence of two years and six months in prison, the government yesterday filed four liens for additional income taxes.

Miss Berger was convicted of aiding in the making of false income-tax returns for Dorothy Mackaill, screen actress. The tax liens filed yesterday against Miss Berger were: For 1927, $553.12; for 1926, $118.15; for 1925, $55.31; for 1924, $667.79.

HOME MODERNIZATION CAMPAIGN STARTED

In line with a national movement toward the modernization of homes, a campaign has been started in Los Angeles with the same object in view, sponsored by the Builders' Exchange. Plans for the campaign were made known here yesterday when it was announced that the plan has received the indorsement of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

QUEST FOR WINE MAN REOPENED

Police Question Four in Disappearance Mystery of Frank Baumgarteker

Renewing their efforts to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Frank Baumgarteker, wealthy vineyardist missing thirty-nine days, detectives of the homicide and missing persons squads yesterday questioned one man for the first time and requestioned three others. The inquiry was brought up again yesterday by Detective Captain Cato, head of the homicide squad, Detective Lieutenant Allen of the missing persons detail and Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Corsini.

The officers went over the case with Robert Demateis, partner of Baumgarteker; M. J. Molera, a salesman for Demateis; Gigi Raffael, secretary to Demateis, and Pete Rossibortoll, formerly an employee at Baumgarteker's winery at Avenue 19 and Humboldt street. Rossibortoll worked for the vineyardist for six years, quitting the job on New Year's Day. Raffael was questioned by officers for the first time.

At the conclusion of an inquiry lasting several hours Cato announced that the police had learned nothing new. Detective Chief Taylor had ordered that Mrs. Baumgarteker, the missing man's wife, be ingluded in the questioning, but Cato learned yesterday that she was too ill to submit to interrogation, which was postponed.

Baumgarteker, who was 43 years of age, and who lived at 2320 Seventh avenue, disappeared on November 25, following a luncheon with Demateis at a safe at Eighth and Spring streets. He announced that he was going to drive his car to Wilmington. He never made the trip, and the car was found later in a San Diego garage, where it had been left by a man who was not Baumgarteker. In the car was found his dispatch bag, two bunches of keys and the leather tips of a wallet he had carried.

Mrs. Workman, Pioneer, Dies at Home Here

Mrs. Henrietta Workman, 77 years of age, wife of A. L. Workman, died yesterday at the family residence, 1013 South Alvarado street, from ills incident to advanced age. She was reported to be one of the oldest native-born residents of Los Angeles, having been born on the old Los Feliz ranch northwest of what then constituted Los Angeles.

Funeral services will take place at the Bresee Brothers chapel, 855 Figueroa street, Monday afternoon. Interment will take place in Inglewood Memorial Park.

Council Acts on Number of Street Plans

The City Council yesterday denied all protests against the establishment of setback lines in Ambrose avenue at Edgemont avenue and in Ardmore avenue between Eighth and San Marino streets.

Because a majority protest has been filed against the lighting of Angeles Mesa Drive between Slauson avenue and Sixtieth street and between Sixty-seventh street and Florence avenue, the hearing of protests was continued until the 14th inst. and the file referred to the Street Lighting Engineer.

Assessments were confirmed for the improvement of Vermont avenue from Hollywood Boulevard to San Marino street, the improvement of Rome Drive from Division to Cazador streets, and the improvement of Barryknoll Drive from Avenue 42 to Haverhill Drive. Consideration of the appeals against the assessments for the improvement of Huntington Drive south from Thelma avenue to Mission Road was continued until Monday.

Drilling Permit Action Delayed

Consideration of the ordinance granting permission to the Economic Investment Corporation to drill for oil on Camino Real, Either and Andalusia streets was continued by the City Council yesterday until the 21st inst.

Meanwhile the City Engineer is to check the petitions of protestants.

HUNTINGTON LIBRARY HAS GREAT YEAR

More Than 133,000 Go to See Exhibitions in 1929, Including Many Groups

More than 133,000 persons visited the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery during 1929, it was announced yesterday by the exhibitions office. This is an average in excess of 500 visitors on each of the 259 exhibition afternoons.

While most visitors went as individuals, a large number attended in groups. Virtually every college and university in Southern California was represented. In addition, a number of groups of exceptional students from junior colleges and high schools attended.

Many conventions officially arranged admission for their delegates. A few of the conventions represented were Pacific Coast Surgical Association, Kindergarten Teachers of Southern California, Social Science Association, district convention of Federation of Women's Clubs, Adult Education Association of Southern California, teachers' institute of Los Angeles city schools, superintendents of schools of California and the Pacific convention of the American Philosophical Association.

During the winter season while the exhibitions are taxed to capacity applicants for cards of admission are urged to apply as soon as it is possible to name the period during which they can go.

NEIGHBOR SAVES FAMILY FROM DEATH IN FLAMES

With the aid of a ladder Ted Pearson of 1821 Benedict Canyon Road became a hero yesterday. He saved the lives of R. W. Bell, his wife, Florence, and 4-year-old daughter, Beverly, when their $25,000 home at 1829 Benedict Canyon Road burned.

Bell and his wife and daughter were asleep in bedrooms on the second floor of the hillside residence, police stated, when the fire broke out in a small closet on the ground floor. It is believed to have started in a quantity of paint rags. The entire lower floor became a mass of flames before Bell awakened to the danger to himself and family.

After arousing his wife and child Bell ran to the stairway only to find that exit cut off by flames and dense clouds of smoke. He then picked up the daughter and assisted his wife to a small Spanish balcony on the second floor. From there he raised his voice in cries for aid. Pearson, living a short distance away, heard them, and rushed out. He found a ladder and placing this against the balcony aided Bell and his family to the ground and safety.

The damage to the home is estimated at about $15,000. Quick response to an alarm by fire department members prevented any spread of the blaze to near-by homes.

PARTS OF DEATH PLANES DRAGGED OUT OF DEPTHS

Navy Sweepers Locate Wreckage; Recovery of Ill-Fated Ships and Bodies Expected Today

Wreckage of the two airplanes which collided in the air Thursday afternoon and carried eight motion-picture employees and two pilots to their death in the sea was located yesterday afternoon by navy mine sweepers two miles off Point Vicente.

Location of the twisted mass and identification was made when the sweeper pulled a landing wheel and two sections of one side of the landing gear of one of the planes to the surface. The tire still was inflated and the strut showed no signs of fire.

Work of raising the planes from their resting place on the sandy bottom in fifty-three fathoms, or 318 feet, of water was halted when the definite position was ascertained, and darkness began to settle over the ocean.

At daylight today the sweepers, equipped with special grappling and lifting apparatus, will renew their salvage operations and expect to raise the wrecks to the surface about noon.

BODIES SOUGHT

Seven bodies are believed by the searchers to be imprisoned in the cabins of the broken and burned planes.

Three of the bodies were recovered shortly after the accident, and were found to be badly burned and broken from the explosion and fire which followed the terrific impact as the planes crashed together 3000 feet above the sea.

Those thought to be held in the wreckage are Kenneth Hawks, director; George Eastman, cameraman; Otto Jordan, assistant cameraman; Tom Harris, property man; Henry Johannes, property man, all of the Fox Film organization, and Hallock Rouse and Ross Cooke, pilots.

The bodies of Max Gold, assistant director, and Conrad Wells, and Ben Frankel, assistant cameraman, were brought to the County Morgue here last night under orders of Coroner Nance.

LONG SEARCH

Finding of the wreckage came yesterday after the navy mine sweepers U.S.S. Brant and U.S.S. Tern, aided by eighteen planes from the Navy, five commercial planes, two speed boats and three Coast Guard cutters, had spent almost all of daylight in a systematic combing of the area in which the burning planes hurtled to the sea and disappeared.

Supervision of the search was in the hands of Lieut. R. P. Pernul, U.S.N., captain of the Brant, with Keith Weeks, executive manager of the Fox Film Company, directing the civilian hunt.

The Brant had worked over the section with searchlights during the night and with the arrival of the Tern at daylight, ordered to the scene by Rear-Admiral Magruder, commanding the United States base force, operations soon were under way.

Two long sweeps were made by the two vessels before the drag cable made contact. The first swing was in a northwesterly direction with no results. Then the sweepers swung south, dragging their 6000-foot line along the bottom of the sea.

DISCOVERY MADE

Suddenly the drag cable became taut, the rudder of the Brant refused to answer the helm and the officers, familiar with such operations, knew they had found the wreckage.

Both vessels started to reel in the steel lines and about half way to the surface the tension snapped.

Some members of the crew of the sweepers and Fox film officials reported that they saw the two wrecked planes as they moved slowly upward. As the lines were eased the weight dropped back to its resting place and oil bubbled to the surface.

When the entire line was reeled in the hooks held the wheel, inflated tire, brake assembly, shock absorber and one strut from the landing-gear assembly that had been on the left side of one of the ill-fated Stinsons.

Whether the assembly had been torn from the fuselage by the grappling hooks, broken off when the monoplane crashed on the ocean's surface, or had been blasted loose by the explosion which followed the midair collision could not be determined by examining the retrieved parts.

None of the wreckage, however, had been burned, indicating that the flames which scorched the

FINANCE PLANS OF CITY VOTED

Council Adopts Reports of Allocations Committee

Mines Field Purchase to be Submitted to Voters

Sale of Old City Hall and Jail Sites Recommended

The City Council yesterday adopted a series of reports of its Special Allocations Committee after Councilman Williams had voiced a complaint against the manner of forming the committee. He said the committee, which includes the membership of the Finance, Public Works and Street Opening and Widening Committees, constitutes eight members, or majority of the Council, which left the other seven out in the cold.

The report recommends that a bond issue of $2,080,000 be submitted to the electorate at the next election for the purchase of Mines Field, the Los Angeles Municipal Airport, now under lease. It also recommends a detailed study of the need for additional branch city halls, branch hospitals, fire and police stations, with the purpose of submitting a bond issue on that subject.

SALE RECOMMENDED

The sale of four pieces of city property, two lots on South Broadway, the site of the old City Hall and the present City Jail is recommended, the money to be applied to the construction of a new jail and police headquarters.

The report allocates $500,000 toward the paving and improving of Third street from Figueroa street to Vermont avenue, $500,000 toward the construction of tunnels in Elysian Park for the North Figueroa extension and $75,000 additional for the opening of Washington street from Alameda street to the river.

PROJECTS REAFFIRMED

Allocations of $351,282 to the Hollywood five-finger plan and $1,500,000 to Tenth street, previously made, are reaffirmed. The previous allocation of $1,900,000 to the Maple-avenue project, now somewhat uncertain, is referred to the City Engineer for report. The matter of moving the International Building from its present site north of the City Hall at Temple street is referred to the City Engineer and Finance Committee.

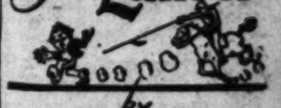
The Council also allocated, under a separate report, $267,500 for the improvement of Olive street from Pico to Twenty-third streets and of Flower street from Venice Boulevard to Washington street.

Court Praises State Attorney

Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Connor, who for the last six months has represented the office of the District Attorney in the court of Superior Judge Aggeler, in charge of the master calendar of the criminal division, yesterday was highly praised by Judge Aggeler.

In a communication directed to Dist.-Atty. Fitts the judge declared the State is to be congratulated on having such a man as O'Connor in public service. He has served the court efficiently, courteously and with marked ability, having a rare sense of justice and taking into consideration the rights of the defendant as well as those of the people, Judge Aggeler stated.

The Lancer



by Harry Carr

THIS sentimental rubbish about "expectant mothers" trying to get out of jail is a played-out gag.

Especially in the case of the woman thief who obviously acquired her expectations after she knew she would have to go to prison.

Criminal statistics show that the ruthless laws of heredity do not offer much hope for the progeny of criminal parents—whether they are born in jail or out.

ANYHOW, IT'S OVER

Owing to the manifest and numerous mercies of Providence, all things come to an end—even the holidays.

There is nothing so disastrous to human contentment as an interruption of the even routine of living. Routine isn't an absence of freedom; it is exactly the reverse. You are only free to do things that matter when you know when and where you are going to eat and sleep, and when and how your mail is going forward—so that you do not think of these things at all.

THEY'RE ALL ASHAMED

It is not until the first of February that I regain a moiety of the respect that I should have for the human race. The spectacle of an otherwise sane business man wearing a paper cap and tooting a tin horn on New Year's night lingers with me for about a month.

This is really because I am tender-hearted. For the period of a month my heart bleeds for them. They try so hard to look frisky and light-hearted, but they look so miserable and so ashamed.

THE AVILA HOUSE

The lady who is bringing an injunction suit to head off the Avila-house plan is not what you would call bursting with idealism.

In the last analysis it is a question as to whether the traditions and history and color of Los Angeles are more important than the garbage cans of the houses and small business houses across the street.

What she disdainfully refers to as "Spanish atmosphere" is growing to be of greater commercial importance to California every year. Although you might think so from the California advertising matter, tourists do not rush out here to see if the thermometer is really standing at 60 deg. They come out to see something that doesn't look like Fort Dodge, Davenport or Zanesville.

CONTRASTS!

Housemaids in Paris stand like a rock in their demand for fifteen minutes to themselves every day—without deductions from their $10 per month pay.

I have a letter from a Danish gent who signifies his willingness to "accept a position" as a spelt on a California yacht—provided the pay is not less than $175 per month—and found.

WHIPPING PUPILS UPHELD

Court Decides Corporal Punishment Justified in Certain Cases, Dismissing $10,000 Suit

The right of a school-teacher to administer corporal punishment to unruly pupils is upheld, under certain circumstances, by Superior Judge Tappaan in a court ruling yesterday wherein he refused to award Jack Welsch, 17 years of age, a judgment of $10,000 in his suit brought against two principals after they whipped him with a piece of garden hose.

Young Welsch, who prosecuted his action as a minor in the name of his mother, Mrs. Florence Welsch, sought to collect $10,000 from A. L. Cavanaugh, principal, and C. P. Lyon, vice-principal, for personal injuries he asserted he received as a result of a whipping administered by the two teachers on March 29, 1928, while he was a pupil at the University High School.

The trial was conducted in December. The outcome was watched with keen interest by teachers and lawyers throughout the State, for there are few actions of this nature that can be used as precedents by the courts.

"It would seem that from time immemorial," says Judge Tappaan in his decision, "that it has been the prerogative, if not the duty, of teachers to correct their pupils with the rod, and the general rules of law seem to place them upon the same basis as the parents. The teacher stands in loco parentis.

"The school systems of our country have undergone a marked change in the last few centuries. An education in the past was a privilege only vouchsafed to those who had the ability to pay their way. Under the modern system that which was a privilege in the past has become a duty and with this change a great mass of law has grown up affecting the rights of teachers and school boards to expel a student.

"A careful search of the authorities, however, in western States has failed to disclose a single case involving corporal punishment, though a number of cases in reference to suspension and expelling have been found.

"No legislation has been brought to the attention of the court, either

OFFICERS HURT IN RED RIOT

Four Attacked as They Arrest Hecklers During Lecture; Fifteen Men and Women Taken

Four police officers were treated at the hospital for bites and scratches and approximately fifteen men and women were under arrest last night following a series of fights at an anti-Communist meeting at 2111 Brooklyn avenue.

The disturbances occurred during an address of Victor Chernov, president of the All-Russian Constitutional Assembly during the rule of Kerensky, who was delivering the last of three anti-Communist lectures in the Miller-Abrahamson Hall.

During the course of the lecture, which was delivered in the Russian language, it developed that a number of active Communists had made their way into the meeting.

Cat calls and arguments were hurled from different sections of the hall, until the special detail of police, under the direction of Detective Lieutenant Hynes started to quell the disturbance.

The officers attempted to escort the hecklers from the meeting, and several fights, in which men and women joined against the police, were started. The disturbances continued down the three flights of stairs leading to the street from the hall, and two windshields of automobiles parked at the curb were smashed in the melee which took place on the sidewalk.

Three patrol wagons, stationed near the hall, were filled with combatants and sent to Central Station before the lecturer was able to complete his talk.

Detective Lieutenant Hays, Officers Wright, Reed and Dreimyer were bitten badly on the hands and arms by women and were treated at the Pasadena-avenue Emergency Hospital.

Late last night the following persons had been booked at the Hollenbeck Heights Police Station; Mrs. Rose Spector, 2719 Olson street, charged with blocking sidewalk; Lewis Siminow, 2892 Wabash street, charged with blocking sidewalk; Miss Anne Reynor, 2815 Malabar street, blocking sidewalk; Miss Evelyn Martin and Mrs. Lillian Silverman, both giving 229 North Boylston

Seven Men Who Lost Lives in Film Planes Disaster Leave Widows and Childre

SAD VIGIL KEPT BY SURVIVORS

Premonition of Death Told by Mrs. Cooke

Victims All Ranked High in Chosen Work

Former Athletic Champion Was Local Boy

While crews of grim boatmen swept back and forth yesterday over the sea off Point Vicente trying to bring to the surface the bodies of seven of the ten men who fell to their death in Thursday's airplane crash, widows and children and relatives here continued their sad vigils and told of the lives of their dead loved ones.

Seven of the men who gave their lives in an effort to produce for theatergoers another thrill on the screen were married, leaving six children fatherless, none of whom is more than 6 years of age, it was revealed by surviving relatives and friends.

How one flyer had a premonition of disaster before he left home on the fateful Thursday; how a young university graduate came here from New York City to make his way alone in films; how one of the victims had led the life of an athlete in Los Angeles and gained national fame on the handball court, and how the accident snuffed out the lives of other men who had become masters in the technique of motion-picture directing and photographing was recounted.

DEATH PREMONITION

The shadow of disaster was over the home of Capt. Ross Cooke the day previous to the flight which ended in a collision with another plane over the ocean near Redondo Beach, according to his widow, who said that he declared the flight on Thursday would be his last in the plane. The pilot gave no reason for his premonition other than that he might have an accident with the plane he had been using. Mrs. Cooke said she shared the same feeling and declared she had been nervous and upset all of the day before the disaster.

Capt. Cooke received his flying training in the aviation camps in Texas during the World War and was known as a skillful flyer. He had been flying for motion-picture scenes in Los Angeles for ten years and was a member of the "Upside Down Club," a group of California flyers who have crashed planes in upside down positions without injury. Capt Cooke worked as a flyer in the picture "Hell's Angels" and in "Wings."

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Cornelia Cooke, a brother, Clinton Cooke, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph J. Tohan, all of Los Angeles.

COLLEGE GRADUATE

Ben Frankel, 26, assistant cameraman who lost his life in the crash, was one of the youngest members of the film group in the two planes and had been in Los Angeles for less than a year. He came from New York City in April, 1928, where he was graduated from the New York University four years ago.

Frankel's first studio work was in the office of the Columbia Pictures Corporation, which he left to join the Fox camera department. He lived alone at 6015 Sunset Boulevard and leaves his father, Samuel Frankel, and sister Beatrice, both of New York City.

Thomas Harris came to Los Angeles from Oklahoma five years ago because of ill-health and obtained employment with the Fox studios. He was property man for A. W. Murnau, director, and handled the accessories for several big productions, including "Behind That Curtain" and "Big Time." He was 30, and leaves his widow, Mrs. Hazel Harris, and three children, Margery Lou, 6; Shirley Ann, 4, and Thomas, Jr., who live at the family home, 1122 Poinsettia Place.

DIRECTOR MARRIED

Kenneth Hawks, director of the picture which resulted in the disaster, leaves his widow, known on the screen as Mary Astor and to whom he was married eighteen months ago, his mother, Mrs. Helen Hawks, 810 Bedford Drive; two brothers, William Hawks, a broker, who several days ago was married to Beasie Love, and Howard Hawks, prominent in film circles, who is the husband of the former Mrs. Athole Ward, sister of Norma Shearer.

Otto Jordan, one of the assistant cameramen, had been with the Fox studios for five years. He received his photographic training in the Army as an aerial observer in the military training camps in Texas and was rated as one of the best photographers of air scenes in the Hollywood studios. In addition to an uncle, C. L. Jordan, 4551 Fountain avenue, Los Angeles, and his mother, Mrs. G. Jordan Scott of Wilton, Me., he leaves his widow and a 4-year-old daughter.

Hallock Rouse, pilot, 33, had done a great deal of work with planes in motion-picture scenes. His latest picture work was in Death Valley in "Behind That Curtain." He formerly was an instructor at Hancock College of Aeronautics, Santa Monica.

FORMER CHAMPION

Max Gold, assistant director, was an enthusiastic sportsman and from the time he was graduated from the Los Angeles high school where he was handball champion, a basketball player and miler, he had taken repeated honors on the track and in the gymnasium. In 1920 and 1921, playing under the colors of the L.A.A.C., he was national handball champion and as captain of the Larry Semon basketball team achieved national distinction. He had been with the Fox studios for nine years first as a script boy and later advancing to his position of assistant director.

The widow, Mrs. Rosalee Gold and a daughter, Maxine, 3½ years of age, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gold, three brothers, four sisters survive, all of Los Angeles.

George Eastman, cameraman, while only 29, was rated as an Akley camera expert and one of the best cameramen in the Hollywood studios. He had been with the Fox studios for ten years. He leaves his widow and child who live at the family home, 2040 Purnell avenue, Westwood.

VARIED EXPERIENCE

Conrad Wells, cameraman, had a varied motion-picture experience before joining the staff of the Fox studios here. Several years before the war he toured Porto Rico on horseback, photographing tropical settings with an experimental camera. He then held positions as a news reel cameraman in New York for four years, coming to Hollywood six years ago as staff cameraman for Fox. COURT HITS PROBATION PRECEDENT

Supreme Tribunal Orders Judge Aggeler to Hear Convicted Autoist's Plea

Upsetting an eleven-year-old precedent, the Supreme Court of California yesterday issued a writ of mandate ordering Superior Judge Aggeler to entertain an application for probation for Charles E. Lloyd. The latter is under sentence of from six months to ten years on a conviction of manslaughter, returned in Superior Court eight months ago. The conviction was in connection with a traffic death.

Following the conviction, Lloyd's attorney appealed to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed the lower court's decree. When counsel for Lloyd then tried to file an application for probation with Judge Aggeler, the letter refused to entertain it, on the ground that he was without jurisdiction, inasmuch as a higher court had passed on the case, which had affirmed the sentence.

The attorney then applied to the Supreme Court, which issued the writ of mandate. This does not order Judge Aggeler to grant probation, but merely to entertain an application for probation and to pass upon its merits. In taking this action, the Supreme Court upset the precedent established in 1918 in the case of the People vs. Beggs, in which the high tribunal ruled that an application could not be received by a lower court after a higher court had passed upon the case.

Speed Officer Pays Fine for Careless Driving

A plea of reckless driving was made by William L. Burney, Beverly Hills motorcycle officer, yesterday before Municipal Judge Valentine, who imposed a fine of $50, which was paid. The charge grew out of a traffic crash at Western and Melrose avenues at 12:30 a.m. on the 1st inst.

According to Deputy City Prosecutor Hamilton, who issued the complaint after Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson had refused to issue a complaint charging hit-and-run driving because the victims did not desire to prosecute the officer on felony charges, Burney's machine, traveling at high speed, sideswiped one driven by Clinton C. Lyle of 6334 Yucca street. Burney drove on without stopping, according to Mr. and Mrs. Lyle, both of whom were slightly injured. They told Richardson they believe the crash was accidental on Burney's part but that he was driving without due caution.

QUIZ DISCLOSES NOTHING SHADY IN FINN'S DEATH

With the questioning yesterday afternoon of two persons, Chief Trial Deputy Beecher of the District Attorney's office announced that in his investigation thus far he has been unable to disclose any evidence that George Lafayette Finn, former State Senator of Iowa, had come to his death by other than natural causes.

The two questioned, according to Beecher, were Jane Corwin Finn, grandniece of Finn, and David Burr Lackey, grandnephew, who came to his office accompanied by their attorneys.

While the investigation as to the nature of the former Iowan's death is practically closed, Beecher said he will continue another phase of the inquiry regarding the possibility of forgery and perjury in connection with one of the dead man's wills and a purported revocation of a will. If the facts justify, Beecher said, complaints will be issued.

According to Beecher he has interviewed all persons known to have come in contact with Finn during his fatal illness, including John Dickey and Frank Remington, nurses, and Dr. Frank Murphy, the dead man's physician. Dr. Holden Jones, now in a sanatorium, was interviewed by an investigator, he said, regarding an autopsy on Finn's body. The autopsy was consented to by Finn before his death and nothing of impropriety was discovered by investigators in this connection, according to reports made.

The investigation into the death and affairs of Finn, who died last January at the Darby Hotel, according to Beecher, was begun with the appearance in Beecher's office of Mrs. Gladys McAfee, grandniece of Finn's, who with the State of California was named as beneficiary in a former will of Finn's and was virtually excluded in a subsequent will.

THREE INQUIRIES NOW ON

County and Federal Authorities Act in Air Crash; Inquest Deferred Until Next Week

Inquest in the film air crash deaths will not be conducted until next week, Coroner Nance announced yesterday.

"We intend to go into the matter very thoroughly and we want time to gather all available information," said the Coroner. "For that reason the inquest will be deferred for several days."

Nance personally took over the investigation by his office. He hurried to the scene of the crash soon after it was reported Thursday night and remained on duty until 4 a.m. yesterday.

FEDERAL INQUIRY

Another official investigation of the accident is under way by the aeronautical department of the United States Department of Commerce. J. C. Noel, government airplane and engine inspector here, declared yesterday that the Federal investigation was launched Thursday, soon after the crash was reported.

"My findings now are on their way by air mail and telegram to our headquarters in Washington," said Noel.

He declined to reveal the details of the report, declaring that such a release must be made by Washington authorities.

SHERIFF ACTS

A third investigation also is being conducted by Capt. Bright, head of the homicide division of the Sheriff's office. Capt. Bright, at the head of a detail of officers, spent all day yesterday working on the accident. A report of the Sheriff's men will be made to Coroner Nance.

On order of the Coroner the bodies of Max Gold, assistant director; Ben Frankel, assistant cameraman, and Conrad Wells, cameraman, were taken to the County Morgue last night from the Sharp & Nolan undertaking parlors in Venice, where they had been kept since they were recovered from the ocean shortly after the crash. It is understood that all other bodies recovered will be taken to the County Morgue also and kept there until after the inquest.

MORE LIGHT ON 'MURDER' REQUESTED

Confession of Minnesota Prisoner Lacks Details to Convince Police

Detectives of the homicide squad yesterday telegraphed for more details of the Hollywood murder reported to have been confessed by J. H. Steele, a prisoner serving a twenty-year term in the State prison at Stillwater, Minn. Steele's letter to Dist.-Atty. McAllister of Sacramento announced that he murdered a woman while driving from Bakersfield to Los Angeles on December 3, 1927, and that he secreted the body in the hills, "seven blocks from Hollywood."

Detective Captain Cato said yesterday it is impossible to search all the spots which are seven blocks from Hollywood, and he asked the prison authorities for more definite details. A check-up of police records fails to reveal any woman's body found in that region shortly after the date mentioned.

Warden Sullivan of Stillwater prison telegraphed in answer to an inquiry that he knew Steele wrote a letter to Dist.-Atty. McAllister, but refused to comment on it. According to police, Steele was convicted of second-degree robbery and had a prior conviction.

He wrote to the Sacramento District Attorney that he was wanted there for automobile theft. He added that he left Fresno in an automobile for which he gave a worthless check, and that the woman was murdered between Bakersfield and Los Angeles. Steele wrote that he would rather hang for it than have his conscience tortured.

According to his letter, the body was wrapped in fashionable clothing. In the right pocket of a silk coat was a small coin purse of brocaded satin, on the inside of which was a monogrammed silver "D" and the photograph of a woman 60 to 65 years of age.

VESSELS FIND PLANES IN SEA

Victims of Crash Expected to be Lifted Today

Seven of Bodies Believed in Cabins of Craft

Searchers Locate Wreckage After Long Quest

hands and faces of the bodies of the three recovered victims were confined to the planes' cabins.

Some terrific force had wrenched the landing assembly from the body of the plane, indicated by the splintered and twisted ends of the connecting points.

After the location the navy sweepers dropped marking buoys, 300 yards apart, and returned to Los Angeles Harbor for the night. They will put to sea early this morning.

The salvage tug Peacock, companion boat of the Brant and Tern, will handle the heavy operations today, as navy officials pointed out that this ship is especially equipped for just such work. The boat carries four huge grappling hooks. They have no hesitancy in saying that the two wrecked planes easily will be raised from the bottom by this boat and crew.

TOO DEEP FOR DIVERS

No attempts will be made to send divers down after the wreckage, according to navy officers. The water is too deep for this work, and there is no need for this particular line of salvaging operations.

The wreckage, according to the officers, is lying on a sandy bottom inshore far enough to escape any action of tides that would move it to the rocky shelf, which is located in that area. They held that there is no danger of the planes and their cargo sliding off into the deep water.

Weather and sea were favorable yesterday as the hunt progressed. The waters were calm and quiet, and hardly a ripple broke the surface. Visibility was exceptionally good, and observers on the navy planes said that they were able to see a good distance into the water.

INQUIRIES BEGUN

Investigations by Department of Commerce representatives, Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's office and Coroner Nance, were launched yesterday in an effort to determine the cause of the crash. The officials were reticent to advance any supposition, and they pointed out that the inquiry will be difficult as there are no survivors to describe the few seconds that passed during the death crash and plunge.

J. C. Noel, inspector of aviation division of the Department of Commerce, took written statements from Lieut.-Col. Roscoe Turner, who piloted a third plane that was to take part in the film shooting. Turner and three passengers were not in the accident. Noel refused to make the reports of Turner and other eyewitnesses public. It was brought out, however, that Fred Osborne, motion-picture actor in the Turner plane, was an eyewitness to the collision and explosion.

CRASH LAID TO SUN

Blinding sun was held by pilots at Clover Field to be the only solution to the accident. Lieut. Duff Wilson, manager of the field, from which the two aviators started their last flight was steadfast in his declaration that the two men had flown too much to crash without a serious cause. Other friends held the same view, and all explained the accident as the result of blindness to one of the pilots as he swung into the sun.

The Fox Film Company is completely covered by insurance for the accident, and carries full amounts on all employees, all public liability and contingent liability, it was announced by Louis Cass of Cass & Johansing, insurance brokers.

It is estimated that airplane and motion-picture equipment worth $30,000 will be salvaged when the wrecked fuselages are raised. The two airplane motors are valued at $6000 each, instruments in the planes were worth $2000 and the motion-picture cameras lost are appraised at $3000 each.

While grief-stricken relatives and friends were at the seashore yesterday awaiting word of the search, hundreds of others lined the rim of Rocky Point to watch the operations.

OFFICER DENIES BRIBE CHARGES

Accused City Detective Testifies for Self

Tells How He Prevented Gangster Ring

Views in Traffic Case Springs Surprise

Edward D. (Rough House) Brown, suspended detective lieutenant, yesterday took the witness stand in his own defense in Superior Judge Fricke's court, where he is on trial on one count each of bribery and extortion in connection with his asserted acceptance of $400 "protection" money from Harry D. McDonald, reputed bootlegger and gambler.

Brown followed a number of character witnesses who were called to the stand shortly after the prosecution rested at noon.

The State's case culminated with a surprise when Tracey Tisdell, from whom Brown also is asserted to have extorted $13 to refrain from arresting Tisdell on a Wright Act charge, testified on the witness stand that Brown was not the officer to whom he had paid the money.

COUNT DISMISSED

Tisdell's failure to identify Brown resulted in Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and McKay moving for a dismissal of one count each of bribery and extortion contained in the indictment against the police officer. Judge Fricke granted the motion, reducing the case to the two charges referring to Brown's alleged transaction against McDonald.

Surprised by Tisdell's failure as a State witness, it was reported Dennison and McKay may ask Dist.-Atty. Fitts to conduct an investigation to determine the facts behind the incident.

Brown, called to the stand by Julian O. Freedman, his attorney, denied ever having demanded or received any bribe from McDonald. He declared he had been supplied with information to the effect that McDonald was contemplating the formation of a "gang" and that he called on McDonald to tell the latter he was being watched by the police.

END OF TRIAL NEAR

"I told him I had heard what he was up to, and that if he tried any funny stuff the town wouldn't be big enough for him," said Brown. The witness added that he had kept McDonald under surveillance for a considerable time in an effort to get whatever information he could about McDonald's activities.

McDonald, principal witness for the State and on whose testimony the grand jury relied principally in indicting Brown, declared he had paid $400 to Brown after the latter had told him, "I've got the goods on you." McDonald said the detective lieutenant first demanded $500, but later they compromised on the $400 payment.

The indictment accuses Brown of accepting the money from McDonald to refrain from arresting the latter on charges of receiving stolen property and vagrancy.

Brown still was on the witness stand when adjournment was taken to Monday. Owing to the rapid progress made with witnesses, it is reported the case may go to the jury late Monday or some time Tuesday.

TEACHERS' USE OF ROD UPHELD

State or local, limiting the right of a teacher to correct a student by corporal punishment. It does not fall within the province of a court to change the existing law, no matter what the court's opinion may be in the premise. If the citizens of a community desire to change the law in regard to corporal punishment of students by teachers, that change must come by the enactment of proper legislation by the State or school authorities."

Judge Tappaan then goes on to point out that the evidence in the Dutch case revealed that no injury was done the boy by the whipping; that the punishment was not inflicted in a cruel or excessive manner, nor were there any elements of anger or passion developed.

"The judgment will be for the defendants," the decision concludes.

According to the principals, young Dutch, who was guilty of disturbing others by wisecracking, and had repeatedly been reprimanded verbally. Later, they said, he signed a document to mend his ways. This failed to bring about any reform on the part of the pupil, and he was called to the office of the vice-principal, where he agreed, according to testimony, corporal punishment might do some good. Then, according to the testimony, the boy stooped over a chair and Prof. Lyon administered ten blows with a piece of rubber garden hose. The teachers said the boy took the punishment like a man, arose and shook hands with them.

In the suit that followed the pupil contended that he had suffered injuries to his kidneys as a result of the whipping.

Young Welsch was represented by Attorneys Charles S. McKelvey and R. M. Bernard. Attorneys L. E. Thomas and William M. Smith represented the school-teachers.

MARY AND DOUG HOME AGAIN

Film Notables Cause Riot in Japan

Find No Place Like Hollywood

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, who returned yesterday from 40,000-mile world tour.

SWARMED by hordes of natives who were on hand to greet them at Kioto while they were en route to Tokio, Japan, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks narrowly escaped trampling and serious injury. They recounted their adventure yesterday on their return to Hollywood from a tour of the world, on which they left last August.

Their welcome at Kioto proved to be one of the most exciting events of the entire trip, Fairbanks said. It was necessary for them to fight through the crowd to the refuge of a vacant building, which they used as a barricade.

"It was one of the largest crowds to greet us on the entire tour and it certainly was a surprise to us that we should be so well known in the Far East," Fairbanks declared.

Miss Pickford and her husband were greeted by a large crowd on the arrival of the Lark at the Glendale station of the Southern Pacific. They were greeted to Hollywood before sound cameras by Police Captain McCaleb.

"We traveled more than 40,000 miles to land in the best place of all—home," confided Miss Pickford. "The more I travel the more I love home, and I expect to stay right here for a long time. I am going to work as soon as I get my story in shape."

"You bet, I'm glad to be back home, too," said Fairbanks. "When we sighted the California shore I don't mind telling you I swallowed a couple of lumps in my throat."

Fairbanks's production plans are rather indefinite, while Miss Pickford is dickering for rights to a successful New York stage production, a love story with a dramatic theme. She hopes to get the cameras grinding right away. The noted film couple sailed from New York in September, visiting London, Paris, Lausanne, thence to Egypt and the Far East, returning on the Asama Maru to San Francisco.

Winter Sports Carnival May Be Postponed

Unless snow falls in the mountains shortly the winter sports carnival to be held at Camp Seeley on the 18th and 19th inst. will have to be postponed, according to Supt. Hjelte's report to the Playground and Recreation Commission, which has authorized an extensive sport program in co-operation with ten communities in the vicinity of Camp Seeley.

The commission has appropriated $2000 for improvements at Camp Seeley, including the construction of a toboggan slide, skating rink, ski jump and completion of thirty-one cabins for winter use.

It was decided to defer postponement of the carnival until the last moment in the hope that snow will fall before the 18th inst.

SUICIDE ASCRIBED TO MONEY LOSSES

Funeral services for Edward Schmidt, Jr., 22 years of age, who took his life at the family residence at Jarvis avenue and Earlmont street, New Year's Eve, will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, at 1 p.m. today. It was reported that ill health was the cause of the young man's taking his life. This is denied by members of the family, who declare the only reason they can ascribe is his recent loss of money due to the failure of a brokerage house.

LADIES "ROUGH IT" SMOOTHLY

Even Judge Can't Influence Eternal Feminine as Nine Women on Jury Spurn His Advice to Don Hiking Clothes for Tour of San Gabriel River Channel

If the nine women jurors in the suit brought by the Los Angeles County Flood-Control District to condemn a right of way through Artesia for the channel of the San Gabriel River returned home last night with their silk stockings in tatters, it wasn't Superior Judge Fleming's fault.

Because Judge Fleming on the day before the jury was to inspect the route of the channel through willow-choked and brush-tangled river bottoms, warned his jurors, as follows:

"I want you ladies to wear your hiking clothes, and I want the men on the jury to put on overalls or heavy shoes. I'm going to wear overalls myself, and I suppose, of course, the attorneys will."

But yesterday morning came, and the only article of feminine outing apparel in evidence was one riding hat.

"I've a notion to hold you ladies in contempt of court," said Judge Fleming, as he surveyed the fashionable array of clothing before him. "But I'll let you off if you promise not to blame the judge when your husbands see what the briars and sticker-weeds have done to your stockings."

The juresses promised, and while Judge Fleming went to put on his overalls, they were conducted to the inspection cars by Bailiff Dave Larimer, who was costumed as for a desert trip, provided himself with all the accouterments of a prospector except a pickax and a burro.

Work on the flood-control channel has been nearly completed under the direction of Engineer Eaton. It consists of ten to fourteen foot levees protected with "gunite" applied cement. The suit to condemn the channel was filed August 27, 1928, against more than 100 defendants, many of whom have settled out of court for what they and County Counsel Mattoon's deputies considered a fair price. The flood-control district was able to go ahead and complete the channel, which is two and one-half miles long, because a bond covering possible damages was posted with the court.

TWO MEN DIE IN LOVE CLASH

Former Wife of Slayer and Suicide Wounded

Downtown Dance Hall Scene of Tragedy

Gun Wielder Cuts Throat to Avoid Capture

Two men are dead and a woman wounded seriously as the result of a shooting and subsequent throat-slashing last night in a public dance hall at 938 West Seventh street.

T. J. O'Brien, 50 years of age, 415 West Twelfth street, a commission merchant, was shot through the head and died instantly, while John McKee, 53, of 840 South Hope street, who did the shooting, cut his own throat as he ran from pursuers and toppled over dead at the corner of Seventh and Figueroa streets. Mrs. Anne Ticknor, 40, of 524 West Forty-fifth street, divorced wife of McKee, was shot through the head and right arm, but is expected to recover by the surgeons at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where she and the two bodies were taken.

According to the reports of police investigators and Mrs. Olive Waller, 809 Washington Boulevard, Venice, who witnessed the shooting and was a friend of the injured woman and O'Brien, the two deaths and attempt to kill were the result of a long period of jealousy, following a divorce two years ago.

Mrs. Ticknor, O'Brien and Mrs. Waller had been dancing for some time and went out on a balcony for a brief rest. They had started back onto the crowded floor, she told police, when she heard a shot fired. She turned and saw O'Brien fall dead, and McKee chasing his former wife down the stairs firing as he ran. As she fell, McKee dashed back up the stairs, through the crowd and to the street. He was chased by Frank Clary and H. Michaelson. They hit the fleeing man with a milk bottle, and then saw him pull a knife from his pocket and slash his throat.

Cruelty Charge Obtains Divorce for Mrs. Burns

Following testimony in which she accused her husband of intemperance and acts of cruelty, Mrs. Sarah Fitzhugh Burns yesterday was granted a decree of divorce from Pete E. F. Burns, clothier, by Superior Judge Gould.

The couple, according to the complaint, were married at Madison, Wis., on February 5, 1927 and separated on October 1, 1929.

Mrs. Burns was given a decree of divorce and the custody of a minor child, Pete E. F. Burns, Jr. A property settlement wherein the wife is given $1000 in cash, $140 a month for her support and $60 a month for the support of the child, was approved by the court.

Burns denied being cruel to his wife. He was represented by Attorney Richard Cantillon. Mrs. Burns was represented by the law firm of Hill, Morgan & Bledsoe.

VERNON'S AIDES FACE CHARGES

Two Men Named by Wrecker to be Tried Next

Pair Now Confined in State Institution, Officers Say

List Prepared of Claimants to Railroad's Reward

Two complaints were issued yesterday by the District Attorney's office against two men in connection with the wrecking and robbery of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited on November 10. While the names were withheld by officials, it was learned that the two men were named by Tom Vernon, who has been sentenced to life imprisonment on his plea of guilty to the train wrecking and robbing charges.

It is learned that both men named in the complaints are confined in institutions in California at present and that officers will have no difficulty in taking them in charge. They will be taken to the District Attorney's office for questioning.

Frank Dewar, chief criminal deputy of the Sheriff's force, said that both men named are ex-convicts and that one of the men has spent the greater part of his life in prisons.

Vernon, who is in the County Jail, having obtained a thirty-day extension of time before he begins serving his prison sentence, named several men as associated with him. A sifting of his assertions was followed by the issuing of complaints for the two yesterday.

A list is being prepared of all persons who contributed to the trailing and arrest of Vernon. This list will be submitted to Sheriff Traeger for approval and for transmittal to the Southern Pacific in connection with the distribution of the $5000 reward offered by the railroad following the derailment and hold-up.

Film Academy Makes Gain in Membership

Indicating, he says, the production industry's reaction to the forward policy adopted by its board of directors, the membership in the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences increased by forty-nine for the past twelve months, according to the annual report for 1929 revealed yesterday by Frank Woods, secretary.

According to Woods's report, the academy is making noteworthy progress in carrying forward the functions for which it was started. He pointed out, however, that nothing more has been accomplished than a creditable beginning and that it remains for the academy to attain its promised destiny in the future.

In the report for 1929 various phases of the academy activities are discussed, one of the most notable being the establishment of a school in sound fundamentals. The school was established following the advent of the talkies and was attended by 565 students from the production industry.

The biggest gain in membership was noted, he said, in the technical branch and the producers' branch.

Following are the academy members who died during 1929: Theodore Roberts, Marc MacDermott, John Griffith Wray, Alvin Knetchel, Paul Leni and Frank E. Berjer.

MAYOR WELCOMES JAZZ KING

Porter and Fair Admirers Greet Lyman

Chief Executive and Abe Lyman

BACK from a two-year European tour with his orchestra, Abe Lyman was met at the Southern Pacific Apache yesterday noon by Mayor Porter and a group of fair admirers, business representatives and friends.

Lyman said the tour was successful, his organization having played in a number of the European centers, including Paris and London. American jazz music was not new to his audiences, he found, but it was probably more popular in England than at other places.

While in London his orchestra played at one of the leading cafes and upon an occasion when the Prince of Wales came the orchestra followed the tradition and did not cease playing as long as a member of the royal family was present. On this occasion the men played for two hours and forty minutes, he said.

EARLE AIRS HIS LOVE IN DEPOSITION

But Artist Denies That He Ever Proposed to Girl Now Suing for $180,000

Shedding new light on the asserted romance between Ferdinand P. Earle, artist, and Dolores Salazar, dancer, a number of new depositions have been filed in the County Clerk's office here in connection with Miss Salazar's suit against Earle for $180,000 damages for asserted breach of promise.

Earle declared in his deposition, made public Thursday, that Miss Salazar "fell into my lap like a ripe peach," and he denied her charge that he drove her away and left her stranded in Paris.

Miss Salazar charges Earle proposed to her in Hollywood in 1926, induced her to go with him to Mexico and then to Paris, and deserted her in the French capital.

The depisitions filed yesterday were taken in France and were in support of Earle's contention that Miss Salazar voluntarily left him in Paris.

One of the statements was that of Ayvind Alverson Earle, 14 years of age and son of Earle. Young Earle declares in the deposition that in 1927 he traveled with his father and Miss Salazar through Mexico and Cuba and on to France. He referred to Miss Salazar as the "person my father wanted to marry," and corroborated Earle's statement that Miss Salazar left their hotel in Paris and that there had been no quarrel.

Other depositions contained the testimony of several persons purporting to have known Miss Salazar and Earle during their sojourn in France.

Earle declares Miss Salazar practically forced her attentions on him, although he admitted in his deposition that he was in love with her. He denies that he actually proposed marriage to her.

New Chevrolet Introduced to Public Today

Today marks the opening of the display of the 1930 model Chevrolet six at the salesrooms of the nation-wide dealer organization. With the introduction of the 1930 models came the announcement of decisive reductions in prices, despite the addition of outstanding features of equipment, as well as chassis and body improvements.

Outstanding new features on the new Chevrolet six include larger tires, smaller wheels, Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers on all four wheels, internal-expanding four-wheel brakes of an improved design and Fisher slanting non-glare windshields.

A volume of business for 1930 that will equal, if not surpass, the record production of 1,350,000 cars in 1929, is forecast by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, basing his prediction on the new improvements incorporated in the car and new lower prices.

New cars have been going out to the dealers during the past ten days, with deliveries to purchasers scheduled to start today.

MAYOR GIVEN NEW HELPER

Council Also Provides City Attorney Deputy; Porter Rapped for "Too Many People"

The ordinance creating a new secretary for Mayor Porter was adopted yesterday by the City Council, which, at the same time, followed the request of City Attorney Werner that he be not deprived of the services of a trial deputy. Some acrimonious discussion took place.

When Mayor Porter took office last July Ellis Eagan, formerly a deputy District Attorney, who became acquainted with the Mayor while the latter was a member of the grand jury, was appointed at a deputy City Attorney and was assigned to the Mayor's office at Porter's request.

Last week Werner dismissed Eagan for "political activity." Porter promptly went to the Council asking for a new secretaryship, a "research man" or "analyzer of ordinances," a position planned for Eagan.

Yesterday the ordinances went through, creating Eagan's new job and eliminating a deputy City Attorney. But Werner asked that his staff be not restricted. Then the argument began.

Councilmen Williams and Ingram suspected that the Mayor was creating a publicity department. It was explained that Mayor Porter intends to keep Eagan at his former work.

"This whole business is irregular," exploded Councilman Lewis. "If the City Attorney was short handed he should have recalled Eagan. I'm in favor of the Mayor having a lawyer to help him, but I think he has too many people in his office. The Mayor can dispense with two or three that are hanging around his office now. It would be a good thing for the city if he did."

Councilman Davis took the attitude that it is not in the province of the Council to inquire what the Mayor plans to do with his several secretaries, but insisted that Werner is handicapped by the lack of a trial deputy for opening and widening proceedings. He was supported in this attitude by Councilman Webster.

The deputy attorneyship pays $375 per month. The new secretary receives $350. Both ordinances were adopted unanimously.

THE AIR MAIL

They had to use a lot of extra planes to handle the holiday mail, but it was all plane sailing after the program was under way.

SILENT KNIGHTS

Canada puts the pedal on the peerage. There are to be no more barons or knights. A country barren of knights should have some wonderful days.

MONEY LOST

Appraisers of the estate of Arnold Rothstein, murdered New York gambler, found over $700,000 in L. O. U.'s that are absolutely uncollectible. Thus proving that gamblers really do take chances.

MAKE LIGHT OF IT

One little girl who hasn't even learned to smoke was given three silver cigarette lighters by as many different friends and by this time is due for a puff. No getting away from it.

THE BIGGEST PLANE

The German inventor of the rocket motor is already figuring on a plane that will carry a thousand passengers and be propelled under the rocket idea. It would be hard just now to find a thousand souls ready to risk a ride on a rocket, but it may be just the thing a few years hence.

BELOW THE BORDER

Gov. Tapia indicates a determination to keep the Mexican border line as clean as possible. The new executive of Lower California purposes to lay a heavy hand on smugglers and the like. Americans may come in to play and visit, but they are expected to be decent and orderly about it. The country is to be no hangout for rapscallions or wantons.

BIG SPENDERS

The Santa Fe system figures on spending $280,000,000 during the new year. There are about 380 miles of new construction involved in a part of the program, but some $65,000,000 will be needed for taxes, interest and dividends. The pitiful thing is that the budget fails to show any appropriation for the Santa Fe share in the cost of the proposed union terminal in this city.

KEEPING THE PEACE

The Nationalists of India who are seeking full freedom from British domination are said to represent less than 10 per cent of the total population of the country, which exceeds 300,000,000. Against this 10 per cent might be placed the more than 70,000,000 Mahometans, who are thoroughly loyal to British rule. So it may be seen that the complete independence of India is very remote and would be highly hazardous. The country would fall into a score of quarrelsome pieces, but for the mild adhesion provided by Britannia.

A DEPLORABLE TRAGEDY

There is little to say about the terrible tragedy which took ten lives in the air off Redondo Beach Thursday, except that the deaths resulted from a necessarily hazardous exploit. That such accidents are possible in no way condemns aircraft; a collision of equal violence on the ground probably would have had a very similar outcome. Who was to blame will probably never be known, since all who took part are dead.

Whether it is worth while for men to assume such risks merely for the entertainment of the public is quite another question, which will have as many answers as there are shades of opinion. The commercial success of thrill pictures is undeniable, but it is purchased occasionally at a very high price. A safer and saner sort of film would serve all reasonable requirements, in the belief of the majority.

Commercial transport planes, which are not engaged in stunts or dangerous maneuvers, will continue to fly the air with no higher percentage of accidents than is involved in any sort of transportation. This accident teaches nothing that was not well known before, or could not have been predicted even before any airplanes ever flew. It is a deplorable tragedy, but there is nothing that will be or can be done about it.

A MYSTERIOUS OUSTER

There may have been adequate reasons for the sudden dismissal of Maj. John C. Shaw as City Engineer and the equally sudden appointment of John J. Jessup in his place, but the explanations given by Commissioner Hyde and other members of the Board of Public Works do not, on examination, dispel the mystery, which is rather heightened by the uncertain status of Commissioner Hyde himself. The latter was the prime mover in the change, yet he was supposed to have resigned, and he himself denies that his resignation has been withdrawn and that he will remain in office only until his place can be filled.

The members of the board united in declaring that Maj. Shaw has given the city excellent service and that there was no fault to be found with his work or with his administration of the department. Commissioner Hyde added that Maj. Shaw is a structural engineer, while the new appointee is more expert in sewage matters and that such matters will be of chief concern to the department in the future.

The public has, heretofore, supposed that the structural problems of the city are by no means so nearly solved as the Board of Public Works seems to think, while it has been accustomed to consider the sewage problem taken care of at least in the main. Several new viaducts and bridges, such as that at First street, Glendale Boulevard and Beverly Boulevard, have been projected. All that the public has heard of any sewer project is the application of the Standard Oil Company for permission to experiment in the reclamation of water for industrial purposes, for which that company presumably would furnish its own experts. If the city is contemplating reclamation on its own hook there has been no public announcement of the fact, though Mayor Porter may have meant to intimate it in something he said recently.

Commissioner Hyde also said that the curtailment is in prospect for engineering work. This, also, is a surprising statement in view of Mayor Porter's telegraphic declaration to President Hoover that the city will expand its public works program and has in contemplation the expenditure of some $200,000,000 thereon. Certain it is that the city has a tremendous and necessary amount of public works just ahead of it.

Commissioner Hyde declares that the pressure of his private business is so great that he cannot devote the time to his public post that its importance requires and expects to leave as soon as a successor can be found. Yet seemingly he has found time to bring about a sweeping change in the organization of the public works department, even though he will not remain to see how it works. Had one of the other commissioners taken the initiative this apparent and unexpected inconsistency would not have been so noticeable.

Public officers owe the public frank and full explanations of acts which so closely concern the public welfare as this. There should be no mysteries about the conduct of public business and when public servants with good records are ousted the reasons should be made particularly plain. It is denied emphatically that Maj. Shaw's post was needed to pay a political debt, but all other explanations of the change that have been given so far seem to lack coherence. They do not hang together.

SCIENCE MAY SAVE US

Those who despair of the ability of the nations to keep out of war or who believe with old Malthus that mankind ultimately will perish from starvation should read the heartening words of Dr. Robert A. Millikan spoken recently at Des Moines. Dr. Millikan said that war is in the process of being abolished chiefly by the relentless advance of science, which he terms its most powerful enemy. "It will disappear," he said, "like the dinosaur when the conditions which have given it survival value have disappeared, and those conditions are rapidly disappearing now, primarily because of changes in the world situation being brought about by the growth of modern science."

Dr. Millikan does not particularize as to just how science will effect the correction of the war habit of the world. It has been thought that the production of still more deadly gases than have yet been employed together with the general use of mightier engines of destruction might make war so terrible that even the most militant nation would hesitate to resort to it, but this may not be the Millikan concept of war's disappearance, which seems to be the growing lack of faith in its value as a means of adjusting international problems.

The Pasadena scientist answers the Malthusian school by saying that the one hope that the world has of maintaining a suitable balance between population and food supply is found in science. Just now there is a period of overproduction, so that the balance is all in favor of mankind. But the day may come when there will not be land enough, if tilled by modern methods, to supply the world with food. That science will come to the rescue in that day, which may be far distant, is not to be doubted. The failure of that supply would bring about a condition even worse than war.

THE WAR OF THE ADOBE

Whatever may be the legal status of the Avila adobe reconstruction efforts, now attacked on injunction proceedings, the general public will hope that this desirable civic enterprise may not be halted. Certainly the status quo of Olvera street was not such as to give it any great probability of increasing commercial importance, and why any property owner should object to a movement designed to improve the neighborhood is not very plain.

If the plans to restore a pueblo atmosphere are successful, there is little doubt that large numbers of people will be attracted to the locality and that commercial values will be considerably enhanced. Yet it is a commercial argument that is brought forward against the plans. No explanation is furnished of how publicizing a neighborhood can hurt it from a business point of view; all experience points the other way.

The closing of Olvera street to vehicles, paving it with tile and planting it with palm trees unquestionably changes the character of the vicinity, but most people would be of the opinion that it is a change for the better. The City Council took that view, after a full discussion.

A SAD STORY

By James J. Montague

Even the generals in the Honduran army have been put to work on public improvements

Time was, when Honduras was mingling
In a Central American fray,
No youngsters at all would respond to her call
To drive the invader away.
For a Central American private
Has always a dangerous lot,
And the youth of the land, though in urgent demand
Disliked overmuch to be shot.

But armies perforce must be gathered
To put punch in the national fist,
So a way was thought out which beyond any doubt
Must make the young buckos enlist.
Every man, who would muster five others
To swell the belligerent host
In the nation's defense, received fifty cents
And was given a general's post.

The prospect of uniformed splendor
And a rank so exalted, worked fine.
At a war's wild alarms men rushed in from the farms
And up from the sea and the mine.
And though, in such warfare as followed
Few soldiers were listed as killed,
The statesmen were proud of the star-flaunting crowd
Which the ranks of its fighters had filled.
But now that the hated invader
No more comes around to invade;
It fearfully cloys all these general boys
To be plying the pickax and spade.
No use is their glittering tinsel,
They stagger at night into bed,
And in spite of their rank and the swords that they clank,
Say that war is just what Sherman said.

LEE SIDE O' LA

By Lee Shippey

THE Woman's City Club of Los Angeles has presented us with twins! We had been permitted to attend a meeting of that club, the first woman's city club in the world, though now many others have followed the lead of this Los Angeles organization. And, being called on without warning for a few words—we hadn't imagined that a mere man would be allowed to open his mouth there—we had to fall back on our five children as a subject and wound up with the remark that we thought we had enough children now and hoped to bring out a book every year instead of a baby, from now on.

As our remarks were unpremeditated—no one, not even ourself, had the slightest idea what we were to say—somebody there did some quick and clever thinking. Hardly had we sat when we were called to our feet again and presented with the twins—lovely little twin boys carved out of soap.

Three Principal Veins

In serious vein some clubs convene,
In lighter vein are other seen,
And some of them, now and again,
Appear to merely be in vein.

ADAM SINNICK.

Lest We Get Licked

We're quite sure Mr. Sinnick could not have been thinking of the Woman's City Club in any but the first lines of the foregoing, for that organization was started in 1911 as a sort of offshoot of the Friday Morning Club, to work for woman suffrage. And, sure enough, pretty soon we got it.

That is, the women got the suffrage and we men got a jolt. And we keep getting them. The biggest one we've got recently was when we heard the husband of a prominent woman's clubber asking his wife how he ought to vote on a bond issue. He hadn't had time to learn anything about it, but his wife had heard it thoroughly explained at her club.

Hollywood Styles

The claim is made, with growing justice, that Hollywood is the style center of the world. It's certainly getting to be one of the centers. So a good many people must be attracted by the sign near Western avenue and Hollywood Boulevard:

Who Says Commas Don't Count?

An excited reader clips the following news item and wants to know if the lady has three parents:

"Aiken (S. D.)—Miss Josefa Hofmann, daughter of the famous pianist and an artist and equestrienne, is to marry Howard C. Fair of Kingston, Ont."

Hollywood Comedy

Not all the comic situations in Hollywood are in the pictures.

During what, in other parts of the country, are known as the wee sma' hours, but in certain Hollywood sections are called starting time, a rather prominent doctor was aroused by a ring at his doorbell and descended to find a would-be patient in a sad state of disrepair, evidently as result of some of the stuff which now is sold illegally.

"Doc," said the stranger, "I've fallen hard and failed to bounce. I can't go home this way because I can't remember where home is. I don't like to disturb you at this hour, but if I should get home this way you'd be disturbed, anyway, to answer an ambulance call, for I'm in no condition to dodge well-aimed crockery. For the sake of an American home threatened with disruption, I beg you to fix me up."

The sympathetic doctor took the stranger in and administered to his case so effectively that soon the patient felt well enough to go home and his gratitude was great. After paying the doctor's fee, he looked around the office.

"Doc," he said, "that clock takes my eye. It's just the kind I promised to bring my wife for a present, but I forgot it. If you'll part with it, I'll be glad to pay twice what it cost you."

A few minutes later the patient went out with the clock under his overcoat, to seek his car, which was parked around the corner.

He was just climbing into the car when the clock began to chime. Instantly, genii-like, a cop appeared and arrested the patient for stealing a clock!

The ensuing explanations and arguments must have taken some time, for the doctor again was fast asleep when his doorbell rang a second time. That time he descended to meet his recent patient and a very skeptical policeman.

When the doctor understood the situation he assured the policeman that the patient had just left his home and had bought the merchandise he was carrying from him.

"That's all right for the clock," said the copper, "but how about the seven bottles of hooch he's got in the car? Did he get them from you, too?"

So the doctor's whole night was spoiled and his New Year's resolution is that he won't be sympathetic to strangers again after midnight.

It will be useless to phone us for the name of this doctor, for we shall refuse to divulge it. We don't want the poor fellow to be worked to death.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

CONCILIATION COURTS

(Washington Post)

In New York City an experiment is being tried of importance in connection with the growing congestion of court dockets and the steadily mounting cost of litigation. Justice Edgar Lauer of the municipal court has been assigned to sit for thirty days in a conciliation court, the function of which is to adjust commercial disputes before they have been brought to trial. The first day of the new court found twenty-five cases on the docket. When called, four answered that settlement had been reached out of court, four were settled quickly by the justice, and the balance were marked down for trial at a later date. The amount of payment made in the four cases that were settled was little more than the amount it would have cost to settle one if carried through the regular legal procedure. In addition, the calling of four juries was avoided and the time of two justices for two days was saved.

Conciliation represents the civilized method of adjusting disputes. There are times, of course, when resort to processes of law cannot be avoided, but it is generally realized that far too many cases are carried into court, where they drag along for months and years, and where settlement invariably is followed by animosity. The conciliation court idea represents an official attempt to bring disputants together for the amicable adjustment of their difficulties. No compulsion is brought to bear and no harm is done in case a mutually satisfactory settlement is not reached.

The functioning of the conciliation court will bear watching. If it is successful in New York, it should be successful elsewhere, not only in connection with matters involving commercial misunderstandings but also in connection with all civil disputes.

POLITICAL DIAGNOSIS

(Chicago Tribune)

The Senate has been occupied of late in trying to fasten the responsibility for the recent collapse in the stock market upon this Republican and that Democrat. The debate is interesting as disclosing the politician's mind. The office-holder, like the actor, is much in the limelight, with the result that he acquires an exaggerated notion of his own importance. The politician has, in addition, an exaggerated notion of the importance of politics. He has a political explanation for anything short of an earthquake or a solar eclipse. Therefore, his desire to brew political medicine for the next campaign is not checked by any restraining notions about the limitations of politics. He will blame the opposition for any misfortunes and he will credit the party in power with any change for the better in the lot of mankind. If he cannot view an event with alarm he must point to it with pride. In so doing he is sincere, if ridiculous. He really thinks he and his kind direct the destinies of the human race.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S SEMICENTENNIAL

Nothing could better illustrate the phenomenal development of Southern California during the past half-century than the expansion of the university that bears its name, located in the heart of Los Angeles. This institution opened its doors to students in 1889; it is now proposed to celebrate its Semicentennial, in June, 1930, in a series of notable exercises and with impressive academic ceremony. The celebration is to be the culmination of the work of fifty years and will include the dedication of new buildings with appropriate educational conferences, the laying of cornerstones of projected buildings, the publication of a series of monographs by members of the faculty, the festival rendition of the Oratorio "Elijah," and of an elaborate Pageant-Apollied, and the presence on the local campus of hundreds of official delegates representing American and foreign universities and learned societies. The grand climax will be reached in the commencement exercises on Saturday afternoon, June 7, 1930.

So rapid has been the university's growth during recent years, so multifold its varied expressions, and so intimately related to the actual life of the community, that relatively few of our own citizens are fully aware either of its actual magnitude, its score of special schools and colleges, or its present academic objectives as it prepares to launch forth upon its second fifty years.

Through co-operation with Dean Rockwell D. Hunt, chairman of the committee for the Semicentennial, The Times will present, usually at intervals of one week, a series of statements dealing with the history, development, and objectives of the several major divisions of the university prepared by their respective deans and directors. These sketches, necessarily brief, will assist the reader in Los Angeles and elsewhere in arriving at a just appraisal of the many-sided service rendered the wider community by this pioneer institution of higher learning in Southern California.

I.

INCEPTION AND EARLY HISTORY

The University of Southern California, like the University of the Pacific—her older sister founded at Santa Clara in 1851—is the missionary child of a zealous Methodism, which has always emphasized the necessity of higher education along with the culture of the heart.

Among those of an earlier day who foresaw a great future for the Southland was Rev. John R. Tansey, who confided his vision of a college campus to Rev. Will A. Knighten. Dr. Tansey died before the university was founded; but his name will not be forgotten, nor will that of Sarah Tansey, his widow, who gave 100 acres of land to the university in 1885. Robert Maclay Widney, a resident of Los Angeles since 1868, was intimately associated with the inception and actual beginnings of the University of Southern California. As early as 1871 he had interested Abel Stearns, staunch pioneer and large property holder, in the project of a great university, but death overtook the Yankee Don before the consummation of their plans.

The great financial crisis of 1873 was severely felt in California; not until 1879 was there much sign of recovery in the depressed Southland. Alert to the better day that was dawning, Judge Widney revived his plans for the university—and this time they were brought to fruition. It was in May that he presented his project to Rev. A. M. Hough. The following evening a conference between Messrs. R. M. Widney, J. P. Widney, A. M. Hough and E. F. Spence resulted in the determination "to join in the enterprise of establishing a university in this city."

Various offers of land for a campus were received and duly considered and finally the decision was reached to accept the West Los Angeles offer, secured through the activity of Mr. Hough. The list of donors, as revealed by the original deed of trust, dated July 29, 1879, includes the names of Osro W. Childs, John G. Downey and Isaiah W. Hellman. A. M. Hough, J. F. Widney, E. F. Spence, M. M. Bovard, G. D. Compton and R. M. Widney were named as trustees. It was duly specified that the university corporation should be "under the control and management of the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church." Lands comprising 308 lots and thirty-seven and one-half acres of adjoining property were donated. Actual incorporation became effective August 5, 1880.

It is of interest to note here that in spite of all allurements—and they have been many—to give up its location in the city of Los Angeles in favor of a more spacious campus in a more remote district, the university has affirmed and reaffirmed its decision to retain its municipal environment; and never has its location seemed more firmly fixed than now, as University avenue is being so rapidly transformed by a galaxy of attractive and permanent academic buildings stretching from Jefferson street to Exposition Boulevard.

The first board of directors of the new institution included: A. M. Hough, Charles Shelling, E. F. Spence, P. Y. Cool, S. C. Hubbell, E. S. Chase, P. M. Green, J. G. Downey, R. M. Widney, J. A. Van Anda and J. S. Woodcock. The initial meeting of the board was held September 3, 1880, and Rev. Marion M. Bovard, A.M., was elected president of the university. President Bovard and his brother, Freeman D. Bovard, were given entire charge for a five-year period, they assuming full responsibility for the educational department and depending for their own remuneration upon any balance that might be found from tuitions, collections and other receipts. At its annual session the Methodist Conference officially adopted the university as the institution embodying the educational interests of the church in Southern California.

The original campus was bounded by streets named after donors—Hough avenue on the west, Downey street on the north, Hellman street on the south and Wesley (now University) avenue on the east. The corner-stone of the first building was laid September 4, 1880, with impressive exercises conducted by Bishops Isaac W. Wiley and Matthew Simpson. The unfinished building was described as indeed a lonely object to those who saw only the present, "standing in the midst of a vast stretch of unoccupied, uncultivated plain covered with a rank growth of wild mustard."

Dr. Bovard was officially inducted into office October 5, and on the following day the university opened its doors to students, about fifty in all. Few students of collegiate rank appearing, the pioneer classes were composed predominantly of special and preparatory students. However, the college department offered the regular classical, philosophical and scientific courses, leading to the respective degrees customary at that time.

In the spring of 1881 Hodge Hall (named for the donors, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hodge) was constructed and furnished as a boarding hall and dormitory. During this year University Methodist Episcopal Church was organized, chiefly for the benefit of the students and faculty of the university. It has long been recognized as one of the leading churches of the denomination.

The first year is characterized as a period "of great labor and sacrifice on the part of those at the head of the institution;" nevertheless, a start had been made and there was brighter hope for the future. The beginnings of a library and museum consisted of some 700 volumes and half as many periodicals chiefly the gift of Alfred Higbie, a superannuated preacher. A literary society comprising all interested students was organized under the name of the Union, its avowed object being "improvement in original composition and oratory."

It was a noteworthy event when at the conclusion of the university's fourth year, in 1884, the first graduating class received degrees at the hand of their Alma Mater. The members of the pioneer class were Miss Minnie C. Miltimore, F. E. Lacy and George Finley Bovard, who was destined to become the university's fourth president and who today as president-emeritus enjoys the profound respect of the entire community.

During the turbulent "boom days" of the '80's the university seemed imbued with the ebullient spirit of the times, for it entered upon one of the most amazing programs of expansion in the annals of education. The college at "University," Los Angeles, was to be the cultural center about which "a myriad of units at strategic points" should be planted, the whole to constitute an impressive university system. First, there was Chaffey College of Agriculture at Ontario, founded through the munificence of George Chaffey, whose son, A. F. Chaffey, president of California Bank, is now treasurer of the university. A seminary was planned for Escondido; there was the Maclay College of Theology in San Fernando Valley, to which Senator Charles Maclay gave stock and land of great reputed value; land as far north as Tulare was donated for the Tulare Seminary; a College of Fine Arts was established at San Diego, and still other units were projected for Monrovia, Inglewood and elsewhere. At the time of the collapse of the great "boom" the University of Southern California extended from the heart of the San Joaquin Valley to the southern boundary of the State!

The infant educational industries could not stand the crisis of 1887-88. The period of deflation, of unprecedented depression, following the breaking of the boom, was heartbreaking to the university. To add to the distress, President M. M. Bovard died in 1891. Finances were in a precarious condition, the expansive administration badly shattered—the university entered its most critical period, reaching its darkest days in 1893. The policy of extension and expansion had been perforce replaced by one of concentration and centralization.

From its small precarious beginnings, emerging victorious from perilous times, the University of Southern California has swiftly risen to a well-deserved place among the great universities of the land. Only in recent years has it taken to itself the full meaning of its ambitious name, by establishing a graduate school and rounding out a full quota of professional schools. Its student enrollment is now second only to that of the University of California in the entire West. It has attracted to its faculty great teachers and eminent specialists—men whose names would do honor to any institution of learning. Loyal alumni number into thousands and are to be found in every walk of life, scattered in many lands. The trustees, giving cordial support to one of America's most dynamic and resourceful presidents, are fixed in their determination that the university shall yield its full measure of support to the great community.

There is a rare picture of the Bard of Avon depicting him wearing earrings hanging below his neck ruff, for these jewels were voguish for dressy men during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. W. B. J.

Take two cupfuls of tomatoes that have been cooked, seasoned with salt and pepper, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, two stalks of finely chopped celery, and one teaspoonful of chili powder that has been dissolved in a little cold water, pour this around the meat cakes, place in the oven and bake for half an hour. Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, anaemia, colds for the new baby sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, pustules of eczema, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils, cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

"NICE MANNERS" TAUGHT MOST SUCCESSFULLY BY EXAMPLE IN HOME

Write something about teaching children to have nice manners," one of my mother-readers pleads. In the face of that, I feel rather helpless, for there is no particular manner or method by which manners can be attached to the child like a nice frill of embroidery sewed to a dress. They constitute just a way of living, day by day, which gradually accustoms the child to the use of expressions which indicate his gracious and kindly spirit toward everyone.

"COMPANY MANNERS" DOOMED TO FAILURE

Mothers are always elated when a child says and does the right thing without prompting. She needn't be, if he is accustomed to hearing the right thing said and done. She is unduly disturbed when her young hopeful stares belligerently at the visitor who has just said, "What a nice boy!" and refuses to open his mouth. This dislike of strangers is evidently the result of unpleasant duties connected with strangers, demands made upon the child by the parent to "Say how-to-you-do to Mrs. Friendly when she speaks to you." Such methods are almost always doomed to failure, for making set speeches weighs heavily upon the child, and the thoughts of his impending trial are enough to send him running to hide behind the door or keep his timid tongue locked tightly. Manners donned just for company wobble noticeably. Manners have to be used every day with brothers and sisters and parents so they become the very warp and woof of every situation.

NATURAL COURTESY RESULTS OF HOME SURROUNDINGS

The child who is greeted pleasantly when he rises, who says "good night" to each member of the household, who hears "thank you," "please," and "I'm sorry," as corresponding situations demand, becomes so familiar with the phrases that they rise to his tongue naturally. When the child is learning to eat at the table with his elders, his models are all about him. He is quick to imitate what he sees done by them, and he can't change the habits he acquires just because one of the fastidious neighbors happens in to dine with them.

It isn't possible for a child to meet unusual situations with the proper manners unless he has had constant practice in their use. When we teach a child manners, we don't do it by constantly harping on what should and should not be done, we do the right thing, say the right thing at the appropriate times and know that our little parrots and "copy cats" will imitate us to the life.

We have a leaflet on "Etiquette for Boys and Girls" which outlines some of the gracious phrases in common use today. Our 1930 children no longer show their deference for elders by the use of the servile "yes, ma'am" and "no, sir," but they still show graciousness and courtesy by the use of the person's name. These and other small rules helpful to mothers are outlined in the leaflet. as well as proper table etiquette. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for this leaflet to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of the Times.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY BECOMES SUSPICIOUS

Where doth suspicion feed,
And nurse them with untiring speed.

—Old Mother Nature.

It was a week or two after Chatter the Red Squirrel had found a way of getting into the corn crib on Farmer Brown's Boy began to suspect that some one who shouldn't was paying that corn crib a visit. Every day Farmer Brown's Boy was there for corn for the cows, and one morning he noticed that there was a corncob lying in the corner. All the corn was off the ear. He hadn't shelled any corn in the corn crib and he wondered how that bare corncob happened to be there.

But he was busy and he soon forgot it. Probably he wouldn't have thought of it again had he not discovered another bare corncob a day or two later. Then he started to look about and presently he found the hole through which half the corn had been taken.

"I must be that mice are in the crib," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I don't see how under the sun they have found a way in, but they have been in here. I'll have a look around tomorrow."

Farmer Brown's Boy went outside and looked the corn crib all over. He even crept underneath it to see if there were any holes in the floor. He made a very thorough job of it, but of course he found no way in which a mouse could possibly get. He could discover no way by which a mouse could possibly get inside. He sat down on the steps and scratched his head thoughtfully. This was a puzzle.

"There is only one way I can account for it," said he. "It must have been when we brought the corn in from the cornfield a mouse was hidden in the corn and so we brought it up. No mouse could possibly get into this corn crib from outside. That means that the mice must be living here. I guess I'll have to get a trap."

So Farmer Brown's Boy went over to the barn and got a mouse trap. It was a spring trap—the kind that kills a victim instantly. He placed it in a corner where he had found the corncob. I suppose it will be pure luck if I catch him," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "With all this corn there is no particular reason why he should try to take that bait, unless he wants a change of bill-of-fare. He may like a change of food."

So far Farmer Brown's Boy went outside and looked the corn crib all over

Every morning Farmer Brown's Boy looked at the trap and every morning he found that the cheese had not been touched. But also every morning he found that more corn had been taken. He began to think that there must be a whole family of mice there. Of course, the amount of corn wasn't much compared with all the corn there was in that corn crib and Farmer Brown's Boy didn't worry at all over the loss. Still, he wanted to catch that mouse, for he knew a lot about mice and he knew that a mouse family is likely to grow very rapidly. What one mouse might take wouldn't be very much; but what a lot of mice might take would be serious. So it was wise to catch that mouse.

He tried different kinds of bait. Still none of it was touched. He began to suspect that that was a very wise mouse indeed, or else that it liked corn so well that other food was no temptation. Finally, he got two or three more traps and set them around in different places. He hoped that that mouse might accidentally step in one. But no mouse did.

Christmas Seal Drive Continues

Support for the Christmas health seal clean-up campaign now being conducted by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association was urged yesterday by Dr. George P. Clements, secretary of the association.

"It is imperative that the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association raise the sum of $100,000 to consummate their 1930 program," Dr. Clements stated. "This sum is necessary to maintain the numerous health projects sponsored by the association for the prevention of tuberculosis and for the carrying out of its 1930 program, which calls for the inauguration of numerous other activities which are essential, in the light of present-day prevention, to serve the best health interests of the city."

TRIO CLIMB ZION PARK'S FAMED PEAK

Bridge Mountain Scaled by Party on Survey for Tourist Trails

Bridge Mountain in Zion National Park has been conquered again.

This is the information received by R. B. Robertson, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific system, from E. T. Scoyen, superintendent of the park and one of those who made the trip.

It is the first time in twenty-five years that man has climbed to the natural bridge high up on the side of Bridge Mountain. Others who were with Scoyen are D. J. Jolley, chief ranger, and A. G. Shiefer, his assistant. The men had made three previous attempts, each ending in failure.

In 1904 this picturesque bridge was reached by John and Lewis Crawford of Springdale.

The men that accomplished the feat made the trip to survey the feasibility of building a trail to this spot. Although considered possible it was pointed out that such a climb even over a trail would be left to the most hardy climbers because of the topography of the country.

Club Guests at Birthday Fete of Ohio Woman

Celebrating her ninety-fourth birthday, Mrs. Sarah A. Prine entertained the Brown County (Ohio) Club of Los Angeles, at her home, 3922 Arlington avenue, at luncheon yesterday. She was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Clara E. Veail, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Prine. It was the monthly meeting of the club, which is composed of about fifty former residents of Brown county, situated in the southwestern part of Ohio.

Mother Prine, as she is better known, was born in Brown county, and lived there for nearly forty years with the exception of a short period after her marriage when she and her husband, Francis Prine, trekked to the prairies of Illinois in a covered wagon with a party of emigrants, but found that country not to their liking. They came to Los Angeles from Columbus, O., in 1913. Her mate passed on two years ago, a few months before the seventy-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Hikers Recover After Ordeal

Celia Caplan, Lawrence Kotkin and Jack Schwartz, the young hikers who were lost three days and nights in the mountains above Altadena, were reported yesterday to be fully recovered from their experiences. Celia said she has a light cold, which probably resulted from exposure.

Headquarters of the Fortieth Division, Aviation, of the California National Guard, announced that 5000 messages telling of the finding of the three hikers were dropped over the area back of Mt. Wilson soon after the trio were found, advising searchers to return to their homes.

THE ALMANAC

When I look back along the track that I have trod, and can't retrace, I well recall the almanac that always had its honored place. It came along on New Year's Day, or thereabouts, to cheer our souls, with jokes and wise cracks blithe and gay, and scientific rigmaroles. It had a yellow cover then, a sort of delirious hue, and there were pictures there of men whose works were all exposed to view. I told for weeks and months ahead the sort of weather we would draw, and we believed the things it said, it was the gospel and the law. Our fathers read the almanac to find out if it would be wise to try to get to town and back—perhaps some grievous storms would rise. And if the yellow book decreed that weather would be calm and fair, the town we'd joyfully proceed, behind old Kit, the swayback mare. And if a blizzard spoiled our game, and stalled us, far from homes and byres, the almanac was not to blame, but Providence had crossed its wires. The faith we had in almanacs is something hard to understand, now that we older, wiser wax with helpful books on every hand. My uncle took his seat the night as sound and hale as any gent, fit for a frolic or a fight, without a blemish or a dent. He read the almanac a while, and then he groaned and sighed some tears; "I find," he cried, "I'm full of bile, I feel it ringing to my ears. And I have symptoms of the gout, and also spavins on my knees. I find that I am down and out, I've captured every known disease." From that night forth he was a wreck, he'd talk of nothing but ills, and sought, regardless of the cost, for something new in pelleless pills.

Louisiana produced 18,000,000 bushels of rice last fall and 2,000,000 bushels of sweet potatoes.

SCHOOLS GROUP HOLDS SESSION

Commission for Education Survey Organizes

State's Needs Outlined by Supt. Kersey

Gov. Young Talks on Value of Cultural Welfare

With Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, former Los Angeles Superintendent of Schools, at its head, and with Gov. Young present to outline his reasons for creating it, the State Commission for the Study of Educational Problems in California met in the Governor's offices here yesterday for the purposes of organization. Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Schools, attended to describe the State's educational machinery as it exists today, and to acquaint the newly appointed commissioners with California's educational needs.

The commission, created by the 1929 Legislature, and appointed by Gov. Young on December 24, last, is composed of nine of the best-known educators of the State. They are, in addition to Mrs. Dorsey, who was named chairman, Arthur J. Brown, San Bernardino; Marshall De Motte, Corning; Samuel Leask, Santa Cruz; James W. Mullen, San Francisco; Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, Pasadena; Mrs. J. C. Whitman, San Mateo; Mrs. Frederick C. Turner, Berkeley, and Julius Wangenheim, San Diego. The last two named were unable to attend the first meeting yesterday.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS

The sum of $50,000 was authorized by the Legislature to be expended by the commission in the furtherance of its survey of the State's educational needs.

"This commission is one of the two most important State bodies in California," Gov. Young told the educators in addressing them yesterday. "To my mind, the two most important problems confronting us are those of adequate water supplies throughout the State and the furtherance of the cultural welfare of our people. The California Water Commission and this new educational commission are, therefore, the most important I have ever named. As members of this commission you are to deal with the humanistic side of the life of California."

TASK EXPLAINED

The task confronting the commission, as explained by Supt. Kersey, is the making of a complete survey of the State's educational facilities, a compilation of its needs for the future and the drawing up of a report, to be made to the Governor in December of this year.

On this report will be based recommendations for legislative changes and additions designed to make California the leading State of the Union in an educational way. Four main points will be studied: The financial structure of the educational system, the physical side, including school buildings, teachers' colleges, etc., personnel, including teachers' tenure, retirement for teachers, teaching standards and other features affecting the welfare and strength of school faculties, and finally, the reorganization of the State Department of Education.

BAN PUT ON PETS IN MARKETS

Council Passes Ordinance to Require Better Sanitary Conditions at Shops

The City Council yesterday adopted the ordinance governing the sanitary conditions of fruit and vegetable markets. After the ordinance becomes effective, cats and dogs shall not be allowed to roam the markets, while connections with sanitary sewers must be made.

PESTHOUSE PUT TO POLICE USE

Smallpox Hospital Loaned by Health Board

Meningitis Death in Jail Alarms Authorities

Prisoners May be Shifted if Malady Persists

Approval was given by the Health Commission yesterday to the request of the Police Commission for the use of the smallpox hospital in Chavez Ravine for use as a temporary place to house prisoners in order to relieve congestion at the condemned Central Jail.

The approval was on motion of Commissioner Kleinberger, seconded by Commissioner Larson, with the proviso that the Health Department shall be put to no expense in any way, and that the Police Department will pay its own expenses in the use of the hospital, which has five cottages with twenty beds each.

ONE COTTAGE HELD

The Health Department reserved for its own use one of the cottages to care for one patient now there and to provide space for others in case of an epidemic.

The Police Commission sought the use of the hospital to detain prisoners accused of minor offenses, in order to segregate them because of the death in the Central Jail New Year's Day of Benjamin H. Smith of 3648 1-2 Midvale avenue, from spinal meningitis. A general epidemic was feared because of the crowded conditions at the jail, but thus far no more cases have been reported.

It is understood that if there is any further indication of the disease in the jail, about 100 of the minor offense prisoners will be rushed out to the hospital as a safety precaution.

NEW JAIL PLANS

In the meantime, Construction Superintendent Brittain has been requested by the Police Commission to present plans and specifications for the first unit of a permanent jail at Lincoln Heights, pending efforts to find means with which to build it, so that the Central Jail may be abandoned, as required by the Health Department.

Health Commissioner Larson yesterday stated that the Central Jail is a fire trap and that should there be a fire important and voluminous jail records and fingerprints, which could never be replaced, would be destroyed, wiping out the criminal records of many thousands of former prisoners. He said the records represent years of effort and millions of dollars.

Romany's Royalty Will March in Gay and Colorful Cortege in City Today

Romany's royalty today will march in the cortege of the king of the gypsies, Elia Uwanawich, who is to be buried from St. Vibiana's Cathedral, Second and Main streets, to Calvary Cemetery. King Elia, who was 78 years of age and a native of Serbia, died Wednesday at the home of a brother, Lazo Uwanawich, 3122 Maple avenue.

News of his passing brought gypsies here from points as far distant as Sacramento, San Francisco and Tucson. Although many wore the brilliant hues which characterize Romany garb, they did not arrive in the wagon-houses of the old-time gypsy but in expensive motor cars. Several hundred have arrived here for the funeral.

The City Council yesterday granted permission for a parade and band to move along Ninth and San Pedro streets in the funeral procession. According to Bresee Brothers, in charge of the funeral, the cortege will leave the undertaking establishment at 855 South Figueroa street, at 8:30 a.m. today, and will proceed to the cathedral. Many of the gypsies who will be in line today are men of consequence in their home communities, ranchers and the like.

HUSBAND WINS DIVORCE ON ANCIENT LEGAL POINT

Superior Judge Crawford yesterday decided that when a woman insists on living with her parents her husband has cause for a divorce.

"The law presupposes that when a man marries a woman he doesn't marry her whole family," Judge Crawford explained. "It is a woman's duty under the marriage contract to go with her husband wherever he makes a home. If she doesn't want to go, that is tantamount to breaking the contract."

Roscoe H. Seymour appeared to prosecute his divorce suit on grounds of abandonment. He said he had lived with his wife, Edna, at the home of her parents for five years.

"They gave us a place to live on condition that I would help them fix the houses up so they could be rented," said Seymour. "Finally I got tired of working nights, after working all day in a garage. I suggested we get a house of our own, but my wife wouldn't go with me."

Judge Crawford said he would try to satisfy both by giving Seymour a divorce but would allow Mrs. Seymour to live with her parents if she wished and leave the husband free to go where he chooses.

To Whom Shall We Go?

The living question of the hour. Not—to what shall we turn; but—to Whom shall we go? It isn't philosophy the world needs; it is personality, a Living Personality.

Christianity is not a system of philosophy; it is the life of God in the human soul. Not What—but Whom? is the vital question. Do you know Him?

You will be welcomed at the "Old First." A worthwhile New Year's beginning. The first of four important evening messages to growing folks: "Three- or Six-Arrow Man." The music at the "First" is ever the best. The hours are: 11 A.M. and 7:30 P.M.

ASSERTED BANK THIEF ARRESTED

Trusted Employee of Texas Institution in Custody

Herbert De Blanc Captured in San Diego Resort

Larger Part of $5000 Said Taken by Him Recovered

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—Said by local police to have admitted stealing $5000 from a bank in Austin, Tex., where he was a trusted employee, Herbert De Blanc, 21 years of age, was arrested today and $3625 in cash, part of the asserted loot, recovered by police. De Blanc was arrested at a roadhouse at Forty-first and Market streets, by Patrolmen Perry Watt and George L. Pierce, where he gained notice by spending money recklessly.

Under questioning by Captain of Detectives Paul Hayes, De Blanc is said to have admitted the theft, December 31, last, of the $5000 from the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Austin, where he had been employed, Hayes said.

According to the confession, he took $5000 from the bank on the day of his disappearance to change into other denominations. After converting all the money into $5 bills, he fled, the confession stated. All of the money recovered, excepting $625 cashier's check, was in bills of $5 denomination.

De Blanc arrived in San Diego yesterday and registered at a downtown hotel. Later in the evening he went to the roadhouse and began to spend money recklessly, according to witnesses. Finally, two men borrowed his new car to drive to the city. While downtown the two men almost collided with a police car in which Patrolmen Watt and Pierce were riding. The officers stopped the pair and began tracing ownership of the car when they noticed the license plates were missing.

The two officers, accompanied by Sergt. Earl Myrick, returned to the roadhouse, where they arrested De Blanc. A search of his room revealed a revolver and a satchel containing the pile of bills "almost a foot high," according to the officers.

De Blanc said he fled from Austin on December 31, the day he obtained the money, in an automobile which he purchased for $300. He dropped this car in San Antonio and made his way to Yuma, Ariz., where he purchased a new car for $565. He obtained the proper ownership papers of the car and continued on his way to San Diego.

SURVEYOR MAY CHANGE VENUE

New Line Will Decide Whether Recent Shooting in Desert Charged Against Picturesque Character Was in Riverside or San Bernardino County

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 3. The outcome of a shooting incident far out on the desert in Marengo Valley today rested in the hands of County Surveyor Howard L. Way. His findings will determine whether Bill Keyes, picturesque desert character, will be prosecuted in San Bernardino or Riverside county for the asserted shooting of Homer Urton, Banning water-company employee.

The scene is at Desert Queen Mine, near the county line and the question of court jurisdiction may rest upon a matter of feet or possibly inches. Keyes is in jail accused of shooting Urton, when the latter attempted to cross a mining claim held by Keyes. Urton's left arm was shattered.

This case recalls to older residents here a similar instance in 1908, when Keyes is said to have been a member of an "Indian" ambush party, which staged a fake hold-up for the benefit of a group, including some eastern capitalists, as they were passing through Wingate Pass on the Mojave Desert on their way to inspect a nonexistent mining claim. Death Valley Scotty, his brothers, Will and Horace, and other famous desert characters, were said to be mixed up in this fracas, which ended in the accidental shooting of Horace.

Death Valley Scotty, now building a $2,000,000 mansion in the heart of the desert, is said to have engineered the ambush because the mining claims for which he had hoped to obtain eastern capital were of a minus quantity. The excursion party of which Scotty was a member was "put to rout" by the "Indians" but not before some one had accidentally pressed too hard on a rifle trigger and shot Horace Scott through the arm. The act brought down the law on the whole party.

Death Valley Scotty, his brothers and Keyes, were arrested by Sheriff John C. Ralphs, Sr., and Dist.-Atty. L. M. Sprecher made plans to prosecute the group on charges of assault with intent to murder. After investigating the matter, however, it was discovered the affair had taken place just across the boundary in Inyo county and the District-Attorney lacked jurisdiction to prosecute the asserted offenders, with the result that they were finally released.

TWO DIE IN TRAFFIC TOLL

Aged Man Killed at Ontario by Preacher's Car; High School Girl of Anaheim Succumbs in Alhambra

ONTARIO, Jan. 3.—Frank Williams, 67 years of age, of Fourth street and Benson avenue, was killed at 11:30 a.m. today on Euclid avenue, when the heavy orange delivery wagon on which he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Rev. N. E. Hershey, 171 Reudy street, Upland.

Williams was driving slowly south on the west drive of Euclid avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Hershey's automobile struck the wagon with such force the driver was killed, the wagon demolished and one of the two mules drawing it was injured. Hershey was not severely injured.

Mrs. Ida Chastain and Ray Purrier of Upland were near by at the time of the crash and dragged Williams from the debris of the wreck. He died in an automobile on the way to San Antonio Community Hospital, where he was taken by Paul Luther, a passing motorist.

Holman also is held blameless. According to Miller's story to police, he was so weak from hunger he was on the point of exhaustion and was staggering toward this city, hoping to get work in the citrus groves of the community.

He staggered into the path of Holman's automobile. Holman took Miller to the hospital and paid his hospital fees, despite the fact that he was not responsible for the accident.

TEN GUN CLUBS INSPECTED

Orange County Grand Jury Committee Investigates Assertions That Organizations Waste Water

ANAHEIM, Jan. 3.—Under the leadership of Otto Hahn, chairman, and Lotus H. Loudon, secretary, a special committee of the Orange county grand jury yesterday paid a surprise visit to ten beach gun clubs in the vicinity of Huntington Beach to determine whether water is being wasted illegally. Approximately half of the land used by the clubs was inspected. It is asserted that 1100 acres are flooded each year to attract ducks for the huntsmen.

Clubs visited co-operated to the fullest in aiding the committee. Representatives of the clubs contended that water poured upon the land aids in leaching the alkali from the soil, thereby making it suitable for agricultural purposes. They maintain, also, that after the shooting season has closed the land provides excellent pasturage for stock. Clubs visited argued that they use less water per acre than does the golf club.

Yesterday's visit was at the instigation of a number of Orange county farmers, who have declared that the gun clubs are draining the county's underground reservoirs of water needed for agriculture and for domestic uses.

HUNGRY QUAIL DEVOUR CROPS

Monserrat Ranch Manager Appeals in Vain for Aid

Protected by State Laws, Birds Gobble Sprouts

Agricultural Commissioner Passes Buck to Warden

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—Hordes of quail driven by hunger have invaded Monserrat ranch and are devouring fresh shoots of peas, the manager of the ranch complained to County Agricultural Commissioner Robert E. R. McLean today. More than 400 acres of peas have fallen before the advance of the quail army, McLean heard. The law protects quail and the ranch management appealed to McLean. The latter said he would be perfectly willing to help, but that his field of authority embraces only the pea crop and not the birds. The crop grower was referred to Game Warden E. H. Glidden.

"I think it is up to the warden in such circumstances to provide relief," McLean commented.

"While I stand here pleading for help, hordes of quail are marching over my fields eating the shoots faster than I could plant to replace them," the grower said. "Literally hordes. I never saw so many quail. When you look across the ground all you can see is a mass of contented birds, growing fat on my peas. But the peas will soon be gone and I'll have to plant anew."

Brush fires left the country side bare of grass, causing the invasion, McLean believes.

Cleveland, which is a gain of 8 1-2 per cent for the year. This gain has been shown in spite of the face that the city of South Gate was a branch of the local office until May 1, when it became an independent office, since which time the receipts from that territory have not been included in the Huntington Park district postal receipts.

POMONA, Jan. 3.—Invoking an ordinance passed in 1921, police today had Robert E. McCain of 751 West Eighth street in the City Jail charged with "giving information to one Jack Maloney how and where intoxicating liquor could be obtained."

The complaint was signed by Mrs. J. L. Maloney, irate wife of the man named in the complaint as having received the information from McCain.

This is the second time that this ordinance has been dusted off and used, the first occasion being in 1928, when Claude (Stuttering) Smith, once reputed to be the bootlegging king of Pomona, was arrested in a raid on a carnival.

McCain pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Police Judge E. H. Bowen today and was held in jail in lieu of $100 bail.

MASONS LAY CORNER-STONE

Grand Lodge Leaders Officiate at Ceremonies at New Foster School in Ventura - Avenue District

VENTURA, Jan. 3.—Honor to E. P. Foster, for whom the new Avenue District school is named, as well as the honor to Masons, formed the keynote of D. J. Reese's speech as grand orator at the laying of the corner-stone conducted at the school site this morning by the Masonic Grand Lodge of California. The public spirit of Foster, who was a guest of honor and present n the speaker's stand, was extolled by the orator, who went on to say that Masons foster free public education because of the citizenship that has resulted from a union of rich and poor groups.

Charles M. Wollenberg, Grand Master, briefly outlined the origin of laying corner-stones, and congratulated Foster on having the school named in his honor. He was then presented with a trowel and requested to lay the corner-stone.

A box with seventeen articles was placed within the corner-stone by the Grand Master with Masonic rites.

A colorful procession of Masons, escorted by the Ventura Commandery, Knights Templar, marched from Santa Clara and California streets to Ventura avenue and Main street, accompanied by a band. Asserted Pair of Burglars to Be Tried Today

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 3.—Both Francis Praetis, aged 20 years, and his room-mate, Lee Skagg, 27, are under heavy bail for their appearance tomorrow in Judge Edward H. Miller's court, to answer to charges of robbery. Two counts have been placed against Praetis, one asserting that he held up the J. G. Sedgwick gasoline station here, and the other charging him with robbery at the Halladay grocery store on the night of October 29. His bail was set at $5000 and $2500. Skagg is charged with being Praetis's accomplice in the gasoline station hold-up and his bail is placed at $5000.

The gasoline station was held up here New Year's Eve and between $18 and $20 taken from the cash register. Praetis a few hours later was under arrest, police working upon clews finally arrived at the apartment at which he had rooms. When he arrived there late at night, he was taken in charge. He made two asserted confessions, one implicating a fellow by the name of "Leo." He did not remember the surname of his companion, he stated.

Several hours later the second asserted confession was made in which he implicated his room-mate Skagg. He asserted in one of the confessions that he used a revolver in the asserted hold-up at the gasoline station, while Skagg used a silver cigarette case in the shape of a revolver.

Praetis is also said to have confessed to police that he had been in other robberies in Walnut Park, South Gate and also one at Bell.

Bandit Rides on Motorcycle; Robs Service Station

GLENDALE, Jan. 3.—Within five minutes after he had stopped at the B. & L. service station at Canada and Verdugo roads to have the tail light of his motorcycle repaired, a bandit walked back into the station on pretense of buying a package of cigarettes and held up the attendant, N. Cochran was forced to stand aside and watch the bandit rifle the cash register of $22, before the latter fled to his waiting motorcycle that sat by the curb with its engine running. One suspect was brought to police headquarters later by the officers but Cochran said that he was not the bandit.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS SOUGHT

San Diego Awaits Decision of State Supreme Court on Use of River Water, Expected Soon

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—A State Supreme Court decision on San Diego's riparian rights to waters of the San Diego River is expected by city officials some time this month. Copy of a brief received by City Attorney M. W. Conkling today shows that the Southern Sierras Power Company has entered the case "as a friend of the court" with an apparent view of having determined certain matters pertaining to condemnation of property for power sites and power rights.

Judge Conkling stated that it is his belief that this action by the Southern Sierras Power Company need not delay the city's case any longer than originally would result.

The brief, he said, would be gone over by the court and the final decision is expected within the next thirty days.

The brief indicates that the Southern Sierras Company is interested in wanting to know if it would have the power to condemn properties of other companies in order to obtain power sites.

Mayor Clark said he judged that while the Supreme Court is reaching a decision in the city's case to condemn the El Capitan site, the Southern Sierras Company wanted other matters pertaining to condemnation, in which it is directly interested, to be clarified at the same time.

Stoefen Upsets Doeg in Tennis Play

THUMPS DAVIS CUP STAR

In the big upset of the day in the Midwick invitation tennis tourney at Midwick yesterday the tall gent shown below, Lester Stoefen, crowned our shining Davis Cup star, Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica. Doeg was one of the seeded players and Stoefen was just one of the boys, but the former municipal champion disposed of Doeg in a three-set match, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2. Today Stoefen meets Tamio Abe, the Japanese Davis Cup player.

SPEAKER MAY BOSS ROBINS

Tris Likely to be Named as Manager Soon

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (Exclusive) The long managerial wrangle in the Brooklyn baseball club is near adjustment. From reliable sources it was learned today that Tris Speaker, one of the greatest stars of all time and last season manager of the Newark club, may shortly be appointed manager of the Dodgers. Under this arrangement Speaker would direct operations from the bench, while Wilbert Robinson will serve in the capacity of president.

Tris Speaker

The reported decision to name Speaker as pilot represents a truce between the warring Ebbets and McKeever factions that have held up 1930 plans for the Dodgers. It is understood that Mrs. Charles Ebbets, widow of the former club president, tiring of the long dissension between the club owners, urged the appointment of Speaker as manager and the retention of Robinson as president for one year. Stephen McKeever is believed to be agreeable.

TROJANS TRIM ARIZONA FIVE

S.C. Cagers Win First Game of Series, 35 to 21

Gardner High-Point Player for Victorious Team

SAM BARRY

Proving entirely too good for their lighter and not so rangy opponents Coach Sam Barry's Southern California Trojan basketballers added the pelts of the Arizona Wildcats to their collection last night at the Shrine Auditorium. The Trojans, after being held to a 15-11 score at half-time, spurted in the final period and won out, 35 to 21, without being extended.

The Wildcats, coached by Fred Enke, battled hard throughout but found the Trojan defense too tough to penetrate and fell by the wayside when the local cagers' attack began functioning in the second half.

Despite their victory the Trojans still did not look any too good, especially in the first half when they experienced plenty of difficulty sinking shots which should have been made easily.

High-point honors of the struggle were carried off by Gardner, who, despite the handicap of a bandage over one eye, managed to register 11 of the Trojan counters. Smith, with 9 points, and Pierce, with 8, helped Gardner pile up the winning total.

Arizona's leading scorer was Goodman, the Wildcats' peewee forward, who chalked up 6 points. Goodman, who is only about five feet five inches tall, looked like a midget among the elongated Trojan players, but he managed to take care of himself, his southpaw passing giving the locals quite a bit of trouble.

Caldwell played a fine game at guard for the Trojans, while Nelson performed brilliantly at guard for the wildcats.

The Trojans and Wildcats meet again tonight at the Shrine Auditorium in the second and final game of their series.

JOHNNY DOEG

The first and crowning upset of the tennis season was registered at Midwick yesterday afternoon when Lester Stoefen of the Los Angeles Athletic Club defeated Johnny Doeg of the American Davis Cup team in a stirring three-set match. The scores were 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

The match was the feature one of the second round in the three-day invitation tourney being staged on the Midwick courts at Alhambra. Stoefen is a former municipal champion, but had been given less chance to beat Doeg than Pittsburgh of defeating Southern California on New Year's Day.

Doeg was a national hero on the courts last year, Stoefen just a local player.

DOEG LETS DOWN

After winning the first set at 6-2, largely through the medium of his terrific service, fast net volleys and back and forehand strokes Doeg let down.

Stoefen got his second wind and some confidence, and went after the Davis Cup star with both barrels. Doeg won only one of his services in the second set, which Stoefen copped by a score of 6-1, and again in the third set managed to win but two of his deliveries.

John Van Ryn, Davis Cup hero against the French, and Mexican champion, was forced to default and withdraw in the singles because of a pulled muscle in his abdomen. He is scheduled to appear in the doubles competition only with John Doeg, the pair meeting Phil Hanna and Henry Culley at 3 o'clock today.

Tamio Abe, the Japanese Davis Cup pilot, joined Stoefen in the semis with a victory over Henry Culley of Santa Barbara in the second bracket. Culley gained a default from Cliff Robbins and Abe downed Tubby Ogden, former Stanford star, 6-1, 6-4. Abe and Stoefen clash today at 1:30 p.m.

The other semifinalists in the men's singles are Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena and Sidney Wood, Jr., another Pasadenan. Wood was extended by Jack Tidball of Hollywood, Southwest junior champion, 5-7, 6-0, 6-4, but Vines swept through Ed Berry at 6-4, 6-0 to gain his bracket. Vines and Wood also clash at 1:30 p.m.

GREAT MATCH

Mrs. Williams, Mexican champion; Mary Greef and Midge Gladman of U.S.C. all gained the semifinals of the women's singles. Mrs. Williams meets an arch rival in Midge Gladman this afternoon.

Punctuating their cards with a dazzling array of eagles, pars and birdies, two of Southern California's favorite golfing sons, Olin Dutra of the Brentwood Country Club, and Charley Guest of Hollywood, smashed out 67's yesterday to lead the field at the eighteen-hole mark of the fifth annual Long Beach $3500 open, played over the municipal course.

That mark will likely be surpassed by dusk today, however, as more than half the field of 300, including the bulk of the nation's leading pros wintering in the Southland, qualify this morning and afternoon.

When the chaff has been separated from the wheat tonight, the field will be cut to low sixty-four and ties, and the doughty band of survivors battle tomorrow in the thirty-six-hole finals.

Leo Lomski Loses Decision in Ten-Rounder at Garden

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN (N. Y.) Jan. 3. There were no knockdowns as Slapsey Maxey, the new exponent of the late Harry Greb's windmill style of fighting, cuffed and battered the Aberdeen assassin all over the ring. The decision was unanimous with Rosenbloom winning every round.

OXY TO PLAY MEXICO

Home and Home Agreement Made by Tigers and Southern Republic; First Game Here

Occidental College will entertain the University of Mexico here next season in the first invasion of United States soil by the football team of the neighboring republic.

Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager of the Eagle Rock institution, yesterday announced that the two universities had practically completed arrangements for a home and home agreement that would take the Tigers to Mexico City for a post-season game in 1931.

SHANNON CRANDALL.

The original announcement came in a telegram from Mexico City in which it was stated that the University of Mexico would play Occidental here next season. Ellsworth declared that the contest would open the local season Friday night, September 26. An effort will be made to play the game in the Coliseum if the local bowl is equipped for night games at that time, but if not, the contest will take place in the Rose Bowl, where the Tigers played three night games last season.

Permission to play the two contests will be requested from the Southern Conference at the annual meeting the 11th inst., Ellsworth said yesterday. Under conference rulings, no member team is permitted to play any squad which does not have eligibility rules similar to those

OLYMPIC PLANS WELL UNDER WAY

Entire State Vigorously Preparing for Tenth Renewal of International Games; Report Will Be Ready for Next Congress Declares Local President

BY WILLIAM MAY GARLAND
President, Los Angeles Olympic Committee

Los Angeles starts the new year in stride toward its preparations for the games of the tenth Olympiad to be celebrated in this city in 1932. California as a State, more than a year ago put herself solidly behind this great project with a substantial contribution to its finances. Gov. C. C. Young some months ago appointed the California Olympiad Commission that is now actively at work. The city of Los Angeles has for several years been making preparations and providing facilities and equipment. The government of the city in December so approved the ordinance providing for its part of the cost of improving the Los Angeles Coliseum, where the games will be centered. The county government has already indicated its readiness to provide its half of the improvement.

The Coliseum at present has a capacity of 76,000 reserved seats and the plans provide for an ultimate enlargement to 105,000 seats.

The Olympic Auditorium is ready with 12,000 seats for the boxing, wrestling and weight-lifting events. Plans are being completed for the Olympic swimming stadium; for the rowing course, the fencing arena, the yachting, equestrian, pentathlon and other departments of the games.

The Los Angeles county government has recently completed a very large addition to the county museum adjacent to the Coliseum in which the Olympic fine arts exhibits will be shown under direction of Gen. Charles H. Sherill of New York City, chairman of the Olympic fine arts committee.

The organizing committee is stren-

CINCINNATI, Jan. 3. The association, however, made no attempt to quiet the verbal tactics of the White Sox boxer.

Stanley Isaacs, president of the association, announced the suspension. Isaacs's ruling came after a long-distance telephone call from James Brown, chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Commission. The latter told Isaacs that Shires was charged with "fixing" a bout

CHAMPIONS TO DEFEND TITLES

Gorchakoff Faces Classy Field in Singles

Strong Array of Talent in Woman's Events

Jack De Lara Ranked Second in Men's Play

The fourth annual Los Angeles open tennis championships sponsored by the city playground and recreation department through its agency, the City Municipal Net Association, will begin play tomorrow on the courts of the Griffith Park playground at Los Feliz Boulevard and Riverside Drive.

GLADYS PATZ.

The largest and most brilliant field of entries ever entered in this titular meet greeted the chairman, Paul McClish, and his assistants yesterday when drawings were made in the men's and women's singles events only. Fully 100 racket wielders are seeking the men's crown now worn by Ben Gorchakoff, while fifty of the fair sex have entered the women's play after the laurels of Gladys Patz, 1929 champion.

Ben Gorchakoff, Los Angeles Athletic Club star, and champion of the past three years, is defending his title and is again placed first in the seeding. He is followed by Jack De Lara of the University of Southern California, who was runner-up in last year's tournament. Ellsworth Vines, the sensational Pasadena junior ace, and Sidney B. Wood, also of Pasadena, recently named for the 1930 Davis trials, are third and fourth seeded players.

Four other prominent Southland netters have been seeded. They are Lester Stoefen of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, fifth; Arthur Kissman of U.S.C., sixth; Clifton Robbins, varsity star at U.C.L.A., seventh, and Leonard Dworkin, the Bruin varsity captain, eighth. Other entries include Gerald Bartosh, Frank Westsmith, Dick Skeen, Percy Guilford, Ned Wheldon, Clayton Paige, Dick Lasch and Elbert Lewis.

Gladys Patz, winner of the women's singles in the past two years, heads the seeding in this event, followed by her greatest rival, Mrs. Esther Bartosh. Violet Doeg of Santa Monica is third, and Elizabeth Deike of Pasadena, fourth. Dorothy Workman of El Monte, Gertie Hauswald of the Lincoln Park club, Mary Barbara Taylor of Occidental College and Alice Park of the Los Angeles Tennis Club follow in the order named.

Play opens tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. First-round matches in the men's and women's singles will be completed. Fifty of these matches are men's division contests, and some sixteen are in the women's events. Play will be held only on Sundays with the finals approximately due in a period of one month, on or about February 2 or 9.

The drawings as released yesterday by the committee follow:

How to Shoot From Rough

BY SOL METZGER

Firm wrists are fine for all iron shots until you find your ball imbedded in heavy rough. Then the orthodox method of playing the shot isn't likely to get it out. If it does you will be lucky to gain any distance.

Fred Brandt, the big, strong pro at the Allegheny C.C. near Pittsburgh, where rough is rough, teaches his pupils a sure-fire scheme for playing out of the rough. You grip as shown in the illustration and loosen the wrists.

Then you take the club back with both hands, instead of the left alone. That gives you a more upright swing. Then you hit down and through with your loose wrists to pick the ball out of its nest of long grass and thick weeds.

Why waste the years trying to lower your score by disregarding instructions? Sol Metzger has prepared a free leaflet on The Pivot which he will send to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

We are confident that this report will be satisfactory, especially in respect to the items of reduced transportation rates, housing and other expenses that the Olympic countries will be spurred in their arrangements to send large representative teams to make an outstanding success of the games of the tenth Olympiad, two years hence.

EVANS AGAINST COURSE CHANGE

Veteran Starter Opposes Lengthening Track

Members of Dr. Fred Loring's staff of officials at the American Legion Speedway who have been harboring plans for enlarging the length of the Alhambra Boulevard oval from five-eighths of a mile to a mile, will be opposed in this idea by "Pop" Evans, veteran carstaker of the oval.

Evans stated yesterday that he had heard much talk of such an idea but he did not believe it advisable. "The Legion course is the sportiest in the country right now," said Evans. "It is known nationally for its tricky curves and drivers like to test their ability on it. To lengthen it would mean more speed on the straightaways but less thrills on the bends."

George Stephenson of the A.A.A. announced yesterday that close to forty drivers, including such knights of the throttle as Mal Kenealy, Ernie Triplett, Johnny Krieger, "Shorty" Cantlon, Francis Quinn, and Babe Stapp, will face the red flag of Fred Wagner in the 100-lap race the 12th inst. The event will open the 1930 season of speed competition at the course near Lincoln Park.

Trojan Puck Team Starts Work Today

With the signing of Dr. Charles Hartley, former Canadian player, as coach, the Trojan ice hockey team will hold its first practice of the year this morning at the Winter Garden. The workout will start at 11:30.

Arnold Eddy, last year's coach, who was said to be unable to skate ten yards in an erect position, has retired from the mentoring duties, and officiates only as adviser and leading rooter.

One serious casualty has hit the Trojan sextet with the announcement that Hi Klakoff, veteran goalie, would be unable to play because of an injured eye. Francis Tappaan, who played the position two years ago, may be induced to report for the team if he can spare the time from his law studies.

Veterans returning include Capt. Sid Rosen, Guy Funai, Mahlon Chambers, Bud Fesler and Hardy Nesbit. Marger Apsit, John Baker and Jess Shaw are recruits from the grid squad. The opening game of the season is scheduled for February 1 with California at Big Pines. The Trojans will perfrom in the Yosemite Winter Sports Carnival February 13, 14 and 15, and California will play here April 11 and 12. Eddy hopes to arrange three game series with U.C.L.A. and Occidental.

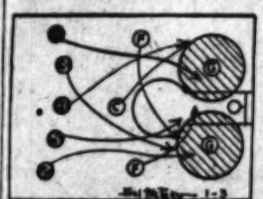
Bruins Try New Defense



BY SOL METZGER

California at Los Angeles experimented with a defense last season that will need a little more ironing out before it holds water. It's a combination man-to-man and zone defense that is well worth passing on to the basketball world.

Like most other set defenses the men break into two lines, guards to the rear. This latter pair plays a zone defense, usually taking the first two men through the front line.

The two forwards and center then play their particular opponents, each taking the nearest of the three remaining opponents to pass them, each playing his man man-to-man. That is, they stick right to their man to prevent him shooting or receiving passes.

Other California teams have a slightly different defense.

ROSENBLOOM IN FISTIC VICTORY

New York State Athletic Commission's tournament to determine a successor to the retired Tommy Loughran, because of recent defeat by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo, Maxey outclassed one of the best of the present 175-pound crop, hitting Lomski at will and splitting both of Leo's eyelids in the second half of the skirmish. It was the fourth meeting of the pair, Rosenbloom now boasting two decisions while Lomski has won one bout. A fourth encounter was a draw.

Lomski never quit his game, charging efforts to reach the bouncing Rosenbloom, but he could do nothing at close quarters and rarely reached Max's head with either hand. He made his best showing in the eighth round, digging several hard rights into the New Yorker's body.

The blond westerner was helpless at times as Rosenbloom heaved punches to the head like a catcher throwing to second base. Occasionally, as Lomski charged, Rosenbloom stepped back, swung an overhand right to Leo's head and invariably the Aberdeen Pole stumbled all the way across the ring before recovering his balance.

The rest of the time Maxey slapped, jabbed and hooked Lomski's head with lefts until Leo was very dizzy, indeed. Lomski almost went down in the fourth under a hard right to the head and was in real difficulty again in the ninth. He suffered a cut over his left eye in the fifth and another above the right in the ninth.

George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy, won an unpopular decision over Joe Banovic of Binghamton, N. Y., in a savage ten-round semi-final. The crowd lustily booed Courtney for low blows that Banovic refused to take advantage of, though Bingo Joe took a nine count under a low right-hand smash in the eighth. Banovic weighed 174; Courtney, 168.

CAVANAUGH TO AGAIN COACH FORDHAM TEAM

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh has been reengaged as head football coach at Fordham University, thereby setting at rest rumors that he would be found elsewhere next fall.

Cavanaugh turned out an unbeaten team at Fordham during the season just closed.

HOLTZER WINS BOUT AT LEGION

Frenchman Too Strong for Frankie Klick in Main Go at Hollywood

Maurice Holtzer, French boxer from Paris, won a justly deserved ten-round decision over Frankie Klick of San Francisco in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion fights last night. Holtzer was too strong and threw too many punches for Klick, and Abe Roth, referee, had no trouble in deciding whose hand to raise at the end of the affair.

It was Holtzer's third straight victory at the Legion.

Infighting won the nod for the Frenchman, Klick failing to connect with his long-range blows for any great advantage.

Holtzer won five of the ten rounds, three were even, while Klick had an edge in two.

Sandy Garrison, a good-looking local prospect, won an easy victory over Lefty Cooper, veteran from San Francisco, in the six-round semi-wind-up. Cooper took one round, but all the rest went to Garrison. Lefty landed one good wallop in the sixth session, which almost upset Garrison, but the youngster weathered the storm and came back to win the round.

Referee Frankie Dolan booted one in the special event, calling it a draw, while Fred Tomkins was easily over Frankie Diaz. Diaz was on the floor twice in the first round. Tomkins won four of the six rounds.

Dolan's choice in the second preliminary failed to satisfy, as well. He called it a draw, although Art Yarnell had the edge over Leonard Allen. John Navarro won on a technical knockout decision in the first round of the curtain-raiser over Rudy Santos.

Santa Monica Junior Tennis Stars Triumph

BERKELEY, Jan. 3. (Exclusive) Santa Monica's 15-year-old tennis stars scored a shut-out victory over the Berkeley junior today scoring four singles and two doubles wins. All the matches were won in straight sets.

Jay Cohn of Santa Monica dealt a 6-4, 6-3 defeat to Sammy Lee, the Berkeley hope. Lee had beaten the young national boy champion in the State tournament this fall, but today Cohn thought better of his national honors and kept them from trailing in the dust. Cohn dominated the match at all times.

Dale Kasl showed the killer spirit in his match against Modeste Alloo of Berkeley, whining, 6-0, 6-0. Kasl played a forcing game at all times and failed to give his foe the slightest look in.

This is the second victory the Santa Monica juveniles have handed out to local teams in defense of their Pacific Coast boy's team championship, which they won last year. Burlingame was the first victim, losing six matches to one yesterday. The scores:

Jay Cohn defeated Sammy Lee, 6-4, 6-3; Leo Patterson defeated Art Skaife, 6-1, 6-3; Jimmy Ware defeated Corrie Buller, 6-4, 6-4; Bill Levy defeated Bernie Lee, 6-4, 6-4; Dale Kasl defeated Modeste Alloo, 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles—Cohn and Patterson defeated Lee and Skaife, 6-3, 6-2; Kasl and Levy defeated Buller and May, 6-3, 6-3.

SHIRES UNDER SUSPENSION

with Battling Crisa at Detroit last night.

Shires will be given a hearing before the Michigan commission on January 9, Isaacs said. The head of the national association declared that any ruling handed down by the Wolverine body would be approved by the parent organization.

"The Great One" had several fights scheduled between now and January 9, but he has been forced into temporary retirement by National Boxing Association.

Brown informed Isaacs that Shires, through a representative was alleged to have attempted to persuade Crisa to take a "dive" in their bout. Shires denied the charge. Isaacs also announced that the application of the Colorado Boxing Commission for membership in the National Boxing Association had been approved.

SHIRES BOUT IN ST. PAUL TO GO ON

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Jan. 3. (AP)—Arthur Shires's fight with Tony Faeth, baseball pitcher, scheduled here next Tuesday night, will be held as booked, Ray W. Meehan, member of the Minnesota Boxing Commission, said tonight.

Shires was suspended by the National Boxing Association following charges of a fixed bout at Detroit, Mich. Meehan said he did not expect that the Minnesota commission would receive official word of the suspension until after the Tuesday night fight here.

The University of California 145-pound team will open its annual hoop invasion of the Southland in a game with Coach Ralph Welch's California Christian College quintet tonight in the Christian College gym, 766 North Vermont avenue, at 8 o'clock.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

A WARNER FAUX PAS?

HERE'S one for old Pop Warner himself to answer. Nobody else can help him out of the predicament.

"Dear Paul:

"You will have to admit Pitt had a so-so chance with U.S.C. until Pop Warner began giving them free advice. Why couldn't he leave them alone and not spoil a good game?

"E. C. FRANKLIN, U.S.C. '14."

That seems like an unkind cut in view of the fact Pop admitted to an assemblage at the University Club the other day that all he knew about the Trojans' plays hadn't helped him a bit in beating them the past two years.

However, Pop's been up so many years that a dig now and then probably doesn't even scratch the surface of his tough old hide.

But I really would like to know what kind of smoke-colored glasses Pop was wearing at the New Year's Day game.

Under his own name Pop (I assume he has no ghost) wrote that the kicking of both teams was "only fair."

What do you mean "fair," Pop?

For Southern California Shaver and Duffield punted four times during the game for a grand total of 200 yards—an average of 50 yards per punt from the line of scrimmage.

Not "fair," Pop. Just unusual. Extraordinary. That's all.

Shaver's punts were for 69, 42 and 35 yards respectively. Duffield's lone effort netted 53 yards. All of Troy's boots were in the first and second periods.

Pitt punters tried seven kicks for an average of 32½ yards. Maybe that was what Pop meant by "fair." But why "both teams?"

"EAST BEATS WEST"

EAST beats the West at San Francisco we read:

Isn't that interesting after what Troy did to Pitt on behalf of the West at Pasadena.

Read the starting line-up of the eastern eleven—nine players from the Midwest and two from the East.

Glance over the line-up of the so-called western team which was minus the service of any Southern California or Stanford players—undoubtedly the two strongest teams on the Coast, and thus lacked the services of such players as Saunders, Tappaan, Galloway, Muller, Smalling, Anthony, Heinecke and the like.

And then read, if you haven't already done so, what Walter Eckersall, a great player in his day and now a leading official of the Midwest, had to say about the superiority of the West over the East at football.

The East has had its two biggest alibis blown to pieces.

Until Oregon State and Stanford traveled East last year to annihilate New York U. and Army, respectively, it was the long train trip.

Then it was the climate—until Southern California smashed over two touchdowns on Pitt before the weather had a chance to get in its generally accepted deadly work.

What next?

AN OCCIDENTAL RECORD

THE Occidental Tigers are boasting of an unusual and unique record.

Not since the fall of 1927 have the Tigers been beaten at any sport within their own conference.

The season of 1928-29 saw them win every championship on the calendar—football, basketball, tennis, track and baseball.

They started this streak in January, 1928, when they tied with Whittier for the basketball title.

Then they won in a row tennis, track and baseball titles.

Followed the fall season of '28, which brought the football crown, and the spring season of '29 with hoop, tennis, track and baseball championships.

The Tigers haven't had such an unparalleled spurt before in the history of the institution. They won football track, tennis and baseball back in the season of 1905-'06 but failed to add the hoop title.

They won the conference gridiron title again last fall, but the outlook in spring sports this year indicates the Tigers will have to rest on their laurels in at least one or two of the branches.

However, you can't blame the boys for gloating over the past.

NAMESAKE INTERVIEWS LANDIS

Enterprising Reporter Makes Sure of Story from Czar of Baseball Ranks by Writing It Before He Arrives Here on Plane This Afternoon

BY BUD LANDIS

Us Landises have got to stick together.

That's why I'm going out to the airport this afternoon to meet Judge Landis, and his son Reed, who are arriving from Chicago via T.A.T.-Maddux to welfare themselves in the warm California sunshine.

Just four years ago this month in Chicago I was called upon to interview Judge Landis in connection with some big league ball players accused of framing their favorite games for the parlor wall. Accordingly I prepared a nifty page of dialog with the baseball Czar, entitled "Go, and win no more" and dedicated to the White Sox. Imagine my wasted energy then, when, after finding the judge to tell him what he had said, he sent out word that he was gone.

Now, again, it falls my lot to have words with the King of Diamonds, but this time I'm taking no chances. I am writing the story and printing it even before he gets to town.

"Judge," I expect to exclaim when, and if, I see him "something should be done to revive interest in the national pastime."

"The bleachers are bursting," the Chief of the Happy Bunting Grounds will reply, "but go ahead, anyway."

"I suggest the batter, instead of sprinting to first, detour to third if the going is any better."

"That would only do away with left-hand turns on crowded base lines."

"More than that, judge. It would add uncertainty to any games that may have been rehearsed in advance, and, also, might confuse an umpire into a fair decision."

Can you just hear the judge reply? "The plan is unsound. Every time a player ran the bases in reverse it would unravel any legitimate score his side had already made. This would not only offset all tallies piled up but might actually leave a team in the hole at the end of the game."

That'll stick me, of course, but I'll take another tack. "How about this: Leave us have all bases in a straight line with two home plates, one four bases from the other. This will eliminate dangerous curves for runners and, besides, give the 50-cent bleachers a run for their money."

"I've a better plan," Landis is bound to say. "Have the batsman hit and run in the usual manner, but with this exception—Let him keep on going around and around, each lap counting a score, until the ball is found or the player falls of exhaustion."

Well, naturally, I won't be able to combat any such argument as that. Consequently, the interview will be over—that is, if it ever starts.

PEREGRINA TO FIGHT KERN IN MAIN SCRAP

Joe Peregrina, Mexican middleweight ace, is set for his battle at the Main-street Athletic Club tonight with Johnny Kern, St. Paul puncher, the final hurdle between him and a bout with Bert Colima for the Mexican 160-pound title.

Peregrina's 1929 victims include Everett Strong, Herman Auerbach, Joe Bitto, Bang Dunham, Joe Cardoza and others. Kern, who has done most of his fighting in the Middle West, has beaten Tate Litman, Leurie Pepin and others. He is 24 and has had sixty-five fights.

Five other bouts complete the card. Joe Borola and Dutch Easter, 130-pounders, clash in the semi-wind-up, with Johnny Navarro and Willie O'Connor, 115-pounders, in the special event.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD WINS FIRST TILT

The North Hollywood basketball team opened the San Fernando Valley League casaba season with an 18-to-17 victory over the Owensmouth High School five yesterday.

The game was every bit as close and hard fought as the score indicates. At half-time the two teams were deadlocked with points a piece. McGuire, of the winners, carried off the high-point honors, with a total of 14 digits to his credit.

Saunders led the scoring column with fifteen touchdowns, good for a total of ninety points. Marshall Duffield was in front of the point-after-touchdown parade with twelve extra points, several of them drop-kicks.

MAT CARD COMPLETED FOR SHOW

Mullikan Faces Baffert in Opening Struggle on Program Wednesday

The opening mat card of the new year, scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night, was completed by Promoter Lou Daro yesterday when he signed Dr. P. A. Mullikan to meet Al Baffert the first match. The bout is rated as a "little natural," as Dr. Mullikan has never been beaten in the local ring, while Baffert has been defeated but once. Both are colorful grapplers.

JOE MALCEWICZ

The match that is attracting a great deal of attention both here and in the East is the finish feature event of the card, which will bring together "Panther Joe" Malcewics and Everett Marshall, leading grapplers of the two so-called groups of matmen who have opposed each other ever since Champion Gus Sonnenberg won the world's title from Ed "Strangler" Lewis in Boston a year ago today.

Marshall's workouts here have been closely watched by the wrestling experts in this section. Close followers of the sport who saw him go through his paces at the Main-street gym yesterday declare the young 215-pounder uses exactly the same style of grappling employed with such success by Richard Shikat, who, until recently, was believed to have the best grappler in the group in which he seems to be the recognized leader.

In his two workouts here Marshall, mat critics declare, has shown more speed and cleverness than has ever been exhibited by Shikat, and also more real wrestling ability. Marshall is also recognized by the Shikat group as being the best grappler among them, demonstrated by the fact that the youngster was the only one to come forward, willing to meet the best i nthe opposing group for a possible match with the mat king in the near future.

Dick Daviscourt, the Kansan head-crusher, will tackle Dr. Karl Sarpolis, 215-pound Ohio mat star, in the special event.

MEXICAN TEAM TO PLAY TIGERS

in the league. However, both Occidental and Pomona received permission to play the University of Hawaii when the latter team was using freshmen, and it is hoped that no difficulties will arise in the meeting.

Reginald Root, former Yale hero, took over the job of acquainting the Mexican players with the American game. He played two American teams, losing both games, but in the final game of the season, against another Mexico City team, the squad set a world's record by completing something like forty-one out of forty-three passes. Root will return to the university next year, and plans to take another Yale man as an assistant. He recently announced that he would have all of the players on this year's team back next year.

The local game will be something in the nature of an international celebration, according to plans announced yesterday. The game was arranged largely through the efforts of Shannon Crandall, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who made preliminary negotiations while on the Mexican excursion in November.

It is proposed to make the visit of the University of Mexico team the occasion for a fiesta and all-around demonstration of good will between Southern California and her Latin neighbor on the south.

FOUR SOCCER GAMES ON TAP FOR TODAY

Four soccer football contests are slated for tomorrow afternoon for teams in the City League, which are now back in loop play after a holiday series of California cup and all-star contests.

At Loyola Field two fast games will be played. The first game, billed for 1 o'clock, will bring the Vikings against their old rivals, the Magyars.

Two old-time City League rivals, the Sons of St. George and the Scots, play in the Loyola Field feature at 3 o'clock.

The Pasadena games will be played at the Rose Bowl tomorrow and will find the L.A.A.C. Mercuries meeting Richfield at 1 o'clock and the Spanish Americans and Pasadena A.C.C. clashing in the second game.

HOLLYWOOD POLO FIELD TO REOPEN

The grand opening of the Hollywood polo grounds set for tomorrow afternoon promises to be a gala affair with Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford scheduled to be on hand to award the cup to the winner of the afternoon's feature polo game.

Capt. McCalip of the Hollywood police force will act as master of ceremonies for the huge program arranged by Russell Carlton, president of the Hollywood club.

off 33-34-67 to tie for the lead. Dutra, while scoring only three birdies, tallied two magnificent eagle 3's, one falling on the 470-yard ninth hole, and a second on the 463-yard eleventh hole, for a similar card of 33-34—67.

Clarence E. Clark, the buxom professional from Tulsa, Okla., who drew blood in the San Gabriel amateur - professional tournament some weeks ago to cop first-place money, dropped a neat putt on the eighteenth green for a birdie 3, to tie for second place with 34-35—69. He divided honors with George F. Shaw, a four handicap amateur from the California Country Club, who played fine golf to score 32-37—69.

Shaw, who was once runner-up in the Canadian amateur championship, had three birdies and six pars for his 32 going out. That was the closest anyone approached to the 30 hung up by George "Jix" Von Elm a year ago when the former national amateur champion established the course record at 65. Larry Gleason, the home pro, also shot a 32 going out, but he would rather not discuss his 39 coming in.

Twelve others, making a total of sixteen, shattered par figures, which are established at 72. The 70's include Johnny Amlin of the Lakeside Country Club, Charley Goward of Long Beach, Clarence Hubby of Waco, Tex., Ralph G. Stonehouse of Indianapolis, Ted Barnes of Los Angeles, Johnny Rodgers of Denver, Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles, and Frank Rodia of Seattle.

Rodgers, incidentally, is the long-hitting young Rocky Mountain golfer who won second place in the Long Beach tournament last year. He is one of the longest drivers in the game.

Those who scored 71's follow: Dewey Longworth, Oakland, Cal.; Lewis Scott of Hillcrest, Gleason of Long Beach, and Mortie Dutra of Seattle. Dutra got his 71 after driving two balls out of bounds on the first hole.

The cards:

GOLDEN CRACKS

Johnny Golden, the big New Jersey professional who earned a place on America's Ryder Cup team last spring, almost putted himself out of the tournament, when he took three putts on the eighteenth green, finishing up with a 35-38—73.

With the Long Beach course in superb condition, and the greens in particularly good shape, it won't be surprising if Von Elm's record of 65 is equalled, and it may be even bettered.

Horton Smith, the young Joplin professional, is the center of all discussions among golfers these days, and he will steal some of the limelight from his illustrious partner, Walter Hagen.

COOPER DARK HORSE

Right now the boys are beginning to murmur, as they always do, that "The Haig" is slipping. It is just about that time that Walter gets down to business, and he should give a good accounting of himself over the municipal course.

A few of the golfing greats who play today are Johnny Farrell, Tommy Armour, Harry Cooper, Bill Mehlhorn, Denny Shute, Fred Morrison, Al Espinosa, Craig Wood, Leo Diegel, and George Von Elm.

Cooper, by the way, is playing the best golf he has shown since he won the first Los Angeles $10,000 open in 1926 at the Los Angeles Country Club, and is listed as the most formidable of the dark horse contingent entered at Long Beach.

MERCURY FIVE BATTLES BRUINS

Clubmen Tangle With U.C.L.A. Tonight at Gymnasium of Downtown Organization; Two Other Tilts Scheduled for L.A.A.C.

Coach Caddy Works's Westwood Bruin basketball squad, bound for the opening of the conference season next Saturday night with Stanford, will attempt to eliminate the strong Los Angeles Athletic Club quintet from its path tonight at the downtown club gymnasium. The Bruin mentor has his usually strong outfit of cagers, and the Mercury squad is reported as unusually strong, so tonight's clash promises to be one of the best of the practice season.

"CADDY" WORKS

After the game with the L.A.A.C., the U.C.L.A. team will meet Whittier College of Whittier on Tuesday night in the final game prior to the opening of the schedule of the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference. The club team has two other hard games on tap for the first part of next week, meeting the Henry's Clothiers of Wichita, Kan., on Monday evening, and the Tulsa Eagles on Wednesday in the club gymnasium. Henry's Clothiers hold a victory over the Cook Painter team, national A.A.U. champions.

Due to the strong character of the L.A.A.C. quintet, tonight's game is rated as a toss-up. The Bruins defeated the Mercuries last year by the score of 41 to 23, but this year is another thing. They have a good record to date, with victories registered over La Verne College, Pomona College, the Hollywood Athletic Club, Brigham Young University and the University of Utah. Caddy Works's boys split a two-game series with the Brigham Young Cougars, losing the first tilt, 47 to 40, and winning the second, 47 to 43, to hold the distinction of being the only team in Southern California to beat the Provo five.

The Mercuries dropped a close decision to the B.Y.U. cagers by the score of 45 to 39, after leading the Cougars most of the way. They also have lost to the University of Southern California, the Trojans staging a late rally to nose out the clubmen, 35 to 31.

The probable L.A.A.C. line-up is as follows, although Coach Forrest Twogood is rather undecided: "Nip" McHose and Lorn Rariden at forwards; "Rags" Wilcox at center, and Jimmy De Mers and Herb Gage at the guard positions. Coach Works of U.C.L.A. will probably start Capt. Larry Wilds and Jimmy Soest at forwards; Carl Knowles at center, and Carl Shy and Frank Lubin at guards.

With both teams specializing in strong offensive maneuvers, the game tonight is expected to be packed with thrills. "Rags" Wilcox and Lorn Rariden usually lead the scoring for the clubmen and may be counted upon for some spectacular playing, while Carl Knowles and Larry Wilds will provide the thrills for the Bruins.

The U.C.L.A. freshmen five will meet the Glendale High School cagers tonight in a preliminary game starting at 7:30 o'clock.

MIDGET BAGS HUGE SHARK AT HERMOSA

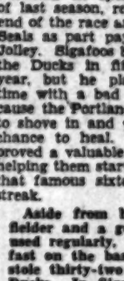
HERMOSA BEACH, Jan. 3.—Proving to be a mighty man of muscle, Carl Gustaff, 60-pound midget from the Al G. Barnes Circus, pulled in a huge 150-pound shark from the big Olympic fishing barge, anchored two miles off shore here. Gustaff, who is only three feet in height, took thirty minutes to bring the five-foot sea monster to gaff.

Mackerel and sandabs continue to lead the daily catches brought ashore from the big pleasure fishing craft.

HESS TRAINS OUTSIDE FOR PAYNE SCRAP

Outdoor Workouts Prove Popular Fad With Local Fistic Luminaries

Outdoor training has become a fad among local boxers. Goldie Hess is doing his work at Soper's ranch for the Cecil Payne fight next Tuesday at the Olympic.



FIDEL LA BARBA.

Fidel La Barba has just returned from Wrightwood in the San Bernardino Mountains. The ex-flyweight king goes to the post the week following Payne and Hess.

Santiago Zorilla trained at Soper's for the Joey Sangor bout. Since then Sangor has spent some time at the Ojai Canyon camp. Benny Miller claims to have developed a punch from his sojourn at Pa Soper's.

Hess is in fine shape and hopes to start off the new year with a knockout. Word from the camp yesterday stated that Goldie had floored a couple of his sparring partners.

Payne went through his paces at the Manhattan yesterday. He is better acclimated now than he was for the first fight. The Olympic expects to send the Payne-Hess winner in with Eddie Mack the last week in January, possibly.

There is also a strong chance that Benny Bass will be brought here from Philadelphia to enter the junior lightweight eliminations. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams sounded out Tod Morgan yesterday. The ex-junior champion said he would be ready in about three weeks.

Wadhams held a conference with Tom Maloney, Frankie Campbell's manager, during the day over the proposed Lew Kennedy bout. No action was taken. It is said Maloney wants most of the money for Campbell.

Al Fay, star young heavyweight being developed by Jack Kearns, will be on the Coast shortly. Wadhams would like to use Fay with the Kennedy-Campbell winner.

Tony Portillo and Joe Ewer box the six-round semi under Hess and Payne. Lew Snyder and Alfred Imperial, flyweights, box the special.

BASEBALL CZAR ARRIVES TODAY

ers. He batted .335 for Portland that year and in 1928 hit for a .299 average. Detroit drafted him at the end of the 1928 season, but early last spring the Tigers sold him to the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox sent Sigafoos back to Portland on option in the middle of last season, recalled him at the end of the race and sent him to the Seals as part payment for Smead Jolley. Sigafoos batted only .270 for the Ducks in fifty-six games last year, but he played part of the time with a bad charley horse because the Portland club had nobody to shove in and give the injury a chance to heal. At that, Siggy proved a valuable aid to the Ducks, helping them startle the league with that famous sixteen-game winning streak.

Aside from being a capable fielder and a good hitter when used regularly, Sigafoos is very fast on the bases. In 1928 he stole thirty-two bases for the Ducks. In Sigafoos, Dittmar, Statz and Haney the Angels will next year present a quartet of base-stealers that ought to make life miserable for Coast League catchers.

Sigafoos, for some unknown reason, was never popular with Portland fans and naturally didn't care much about playing there. He has always looked good at Wrigley Field and he has enough power to crack his share of home runs over the left-field fence in the local park.

Sigafoos was the victim of a funny incident while playing with Detroit at St. Louis last spring. Siggy rammed one of the Brownie hurler's offerings into the left-field stands for a home run but after he had completed the circuit was rather surprised to hear that it didn't count because the umpire ruled the pitcher had balked before going through with his delivery.

Manager Lelivelt, although pleased with the way his infield and outfield shapes up, says he isn't yet through buying players to assure the Angels of a pennant contender this year. The Seraph skipper says he now is angling for two southpaw pitchers, another right-handed hurler and a catcher. If he gets the athletes he's after, Lelivelt says he'll feel pretty certain of bringing Los Angeles a pennant.

VENICE FIVE TRIPS LOYOLA TEAM, 35-25

PUCK PROTESTS READY

Hollywood Will Present Arguments Disputing Goal Which Gave Oilers 2-to-1 Victory

All prepared with their official protest of the Los Angeles Richfield 2-to-1 victory of Thursday, Arthur Guy Empey's Hollywood Millionaires nevertheless were preparing today for their tough game with the San Francisco Tigers at the Winter Garden Ice Palace Monday night.

The Millionaires feel that they have a justifiable protest and will back it up with evidence to show that the goal which Richfield scored Thursday to win one of the wildest and wickedest games really was scored after the teams had played the regular twenty minutes of a period.

It all happened in the second period when the official watches showed that Jack Wilson's goal was scored fully five seconds after the legal twenty minutes of the period had elapsed, but the referee allowed the goal and with his ruling gave Richfield the game.

The contention of the Millionaires is that the rules specify that a period is twenty minutes and that as a result Los Angeles actually did not score and should not be allowed the goal that won the game. If the protest is allowed it will necessitate the playing over of the game.

Second place in the local amateur ice hockey circuit is at stake tonight at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, when the rough and ready Sunfreze Bears face their foremost rivals, the Union Oil Pirates, in the thirteenth game of the local season. Both squads showed plenty of power last week when they trounced the league-leading Gilmore Lions.

Until then Gilmore had lost but one game in the last ten played and was coasting into the championship. The reversal of form shown by the Bears and Pirates stamp them as dangerous contenders for the title and tonight when they mix local fans should get a glimpse of fast hockey.

but the very nature of things compels us at times to be in possession of some cars. These we convert into cash or put them out on contract as soon as we find the owner is not able to redeem. In order to do this quickly, we usually accept far less than the car's market value; we have found this plan more satisfactory than waiting for a profit.

Before you buy a car consult us; we can, no doubt, make you a considerable saving, and we may accept your old car as down payment.
